IT WAS decided to put a "Sports Bay," a beautiful window of colored glass, in the $25,000,000 Protestant Episcopal Cathedral of St. John the Divine, in New York.

As originally planned, the "sports window" for the cathedral included a picture of live birds released from a trap and shot dead for the amusement of "sport."

That has been eliminated at the request of the Audubon society, which seems reasonable, as trap shooting in the state of New York is a crime.

If, however, a modern Christian cathedral really needs a sports window, why not have a nice stained glass picture of Jack Dempsey knocking out Mr. Wills, the colored man? That, at least, is legal in the state.

British Tanker, Shirvan, Rescues Beleaguered Crew as Freighter Lelaham Fills With Water.

NEW YORK, April 1.—Fleetest of all greyhounds of the sea, the Cunarder Mauretania, was beaten early today in a race to save the 28 members of the foundering British freighter, Lelaham.

A wireless to the Cunard line officers here stated that the Mauretania, after racing at top speed to the aid of the Lelaham, had resumed her course on being informed that the British tanker, Shirvan, had taken the beleaguered crew aboard. The Shirvan proceeded on its way to Falmouth, England.

In command of the Mauretania was Captain Arthur Henry Rostron, who was captain of the Carpathia, when she picked up 705 passengers after the sinking of the Titanic in 1912.

Earlier radio advices had stated that the Lelaham was rapidly filling with water, her life boats gone, and the vessel itself on "beam end" with fires in momentary danger of being extinguished by a sea which had crushed her bulkhead and swamped her bilges.

While Cleveland, Columbus, Canton, Mansfield, Dayton, Lima, Zanesville, Newark and other cities reported damage, hills, protecting this district, broke the force of the gale.

Below freezing temperatures prevailed here this morning.

Many Traffic Accidents.

CLEVELAND, April 1.—Leaden skies, a fine snow whipped by a high wind, and freezing temperatures prevailed over most of Ohio today as the big southwestern storm gripped the state.

Reports from over the state this morning indicated that in some parts the storm was a genuine March blizzard during the night and that many highways were badly drifted over with snow. At some points the high wind did damage to trees, wires and roofs.

In Cleveland thousands of office workers slipped and skidded around in trying to board ice-incrusted street cars in the face of a 45-miles-an-hour gale. Scores of automobiles that had slid into curbstones or posts with disastrous effects, dotted the streets. Traffic accidents were numerous.

The snow began to drift in Cleveland early in the night and the Cleveland Street Railway company put a fleet of snow plows in action.

The scrape of snow shovels was heard throughout the city this morning as hundreds cleared their walks of snow.

Silos Destroyed.

COLUMBUS, April 1. — Unroofed barns, wrecked autos, uprooted trees and destroyed silos constitute mute reminders today of the fact that the old March lion roared its exit from this vicinity on the crest of a 35-mile-an-hour gale.

The rain which preceded the windstorm was followed by sleet and then snow. Pedestrians had to fight their way along the streets against the strong wind.

Two autos were damaged when hit by a falling tree here.

There were no reports of serious injury. Property damage was deemed relatively minor.

The mercury fell to about 30 degrees.

Local United States weather bureau officials expected cold and fair weather with slightly rising temperature until Easter Sunday.

Muskingum Valley Swept.

ZANESVILLE, April 1.—The worst blizzard of the winter and one of the worst in recent years, swept the full length of the Muskingum Valley throughout the night and is still raging today, accompanied by a sharp drop in temperature. Snow on the country roads has drifted deep and many rural mail carriers were not able to cover their routes today.

NEWARK, April 1.—Newark was visited by a high wind and rain and snow yesterday and last night. This morning a coating of snow covered the city, although the thermometer did not register very low. At 7:30 it showed 30 degrees.

Old Man Winter Stages April Fool Joke on Canton

CANTON, April 1. — Old man winter, whom everyone believed had become a back number, showed that he could stage a comeback when he stepped on the heels of gentle spring this morning and chased the lamb to the fireside to warm its toes. He played a fine April fool joke on the people in this part of the country and is still "roaring" about it.

He sent a fine fall of snow and a strong wind that has wrecked a few chimneys, slatted garage doors off their hinges and blown down a few signs, telephone and telegraph wires, ripped shingles off roofs and doing other minor damage. No serious damage of any kind has occurred around this section, however, and everybody is hoping that winter's come-back will be short lived.

The Review-Tribune and the Ceramic theatre management today completed plans for a Charleston week in East Liverpool, when champion exponents of the terpsichorean art among children as well as adults will be chosen.

Two hundred and thirty dollars in cash prizes will be offered winners in the competitions which will be held afternoon and evening during the first five days of next week, while the respective victors will appear at the matinee and evening performances on the sixth day.

The children's contest, which will follow the 2:30 p. m. show, will be open to youngsters between 3 and 16 years of age. The winner at each matinee will be given a cash prize of $5, and will compete in the finals at the Saturday matinee for three grand prizes, $15, $10 and $5.

Adults, with the minimum age 16, will enter the evening contests which will be held at 7:30 and 9:30 o'clock. The winner at each evening show will be given $10. The dancers selected on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings will compete for grand prizes of $50, $25 and $10 on Friday evening.

The audience will be the judge in the contest each day as well as in the final competitions Saturday afternoon and night. The extent of the applause, it was announced will govern the awarding of the prizes.

The management of the contest directs attention to the fact that each afternoon and at each show in the evening winners will be selected and prizes awarded.

The contests, both for children and adults, will be open to all residents of Columbiana and Jefferson counties, Ohio; Beaver county, Pennsylvania, and Hancock and Brooke counties, West Virginia.

Entrants should fill out coupon, which is printed in another column of The Review-Tribune, and mail it to the Review-Tribune-Ceramic Charleston Contest Manager, Ceramic theatre, East Liverpool.

In connection with the contest, professional Charleston dancers will give demonstrations of the proper steps in this terpsichorean craze. They will appear at matinee and evening shows.

The Ceramic theatre has booked two extraordinary photo plays for Charleston week. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Bebe Daniels will essay the star's role in "Miss Brewster's Millions," while on Thursday, Friday and Saturday Richard Dix's great hit, "Woman-handled" will be shown.

In command of the Mauretania was Captain Arthur Henry Rostron, who was captain of the Carpathia, when she picked up 705 passengers after the sinking of the Titanic in 1912.

Earlier radio advices had stated that the Lelaham was rapidly filling with water, her life boats gone, and the vessel itself on "beam end" with fires in momentary danger of being extinguished by a sea which had crushed her bulkhead and swamped her bilges.

Old Man Winter Stages April Fool Joke on Canton

CANTON, April 1. — Old man winter, whom everyone believed had become a back number, showed that he could stage a comeback when he stepped on the heels of gentle spring this morning and chased the lamb to the fireside to warm its toes. He played a fine April fool joke on the people in this part of the country and is still "roaring" about it.

He sent a fine fall of snow and a strong wind that has wrecked a few chimneys, slatted garage doors off their hinges and blown down a few signs, telephone and telegraph wires, ripped shingles off roofs and doing other minor damage. No serious damage of any kind has occurred around this section, however, and everybody is hoping that winter's come-back will be short lived.

They urged that the United States break with Mexico.

The government of Mexico seems little influenced by United States protests, concerning religious matters, retroactive land laws and Japanese colonization. IT WAS decided to put a "Sports Bay," a beautiful window of colored glass, in the $25,000,000 Protestant Episcopal Cathedral of St. John the Divine, in New York.

As originally planned, the "sports window" for the cathedral included a picture of live birds released from a trap and shot dead for the amusement of "sport."

That has been eliminated at the request of the Audubon society, which seems reasonable, as trap shooting in the state of New York is a crime.

If, however, a modern Christian cathedral really needs a sports window, why not have a nice stained glass picture of Jack Dempsey knocking out Mr. Wills, the colored man? That, at least, is legal in the state.

There is one remedy that seldom fails to stop itching torture and relieve skin irritation, and that makes the skin soft, clear and healthy.

Any druggist can supply you with Zemo, which generally overcomes skin diseases. Eczema, Itch, Pimples, Rashes, Blackheads, in most cases quickly give way to Zemo. Frequently, minor blemishes disappear overnight. Itching usually stops instantly. Zemo is a safe, antiseptic liquid that may be applied at any time, for it does not show. Armour's* STAR HAM

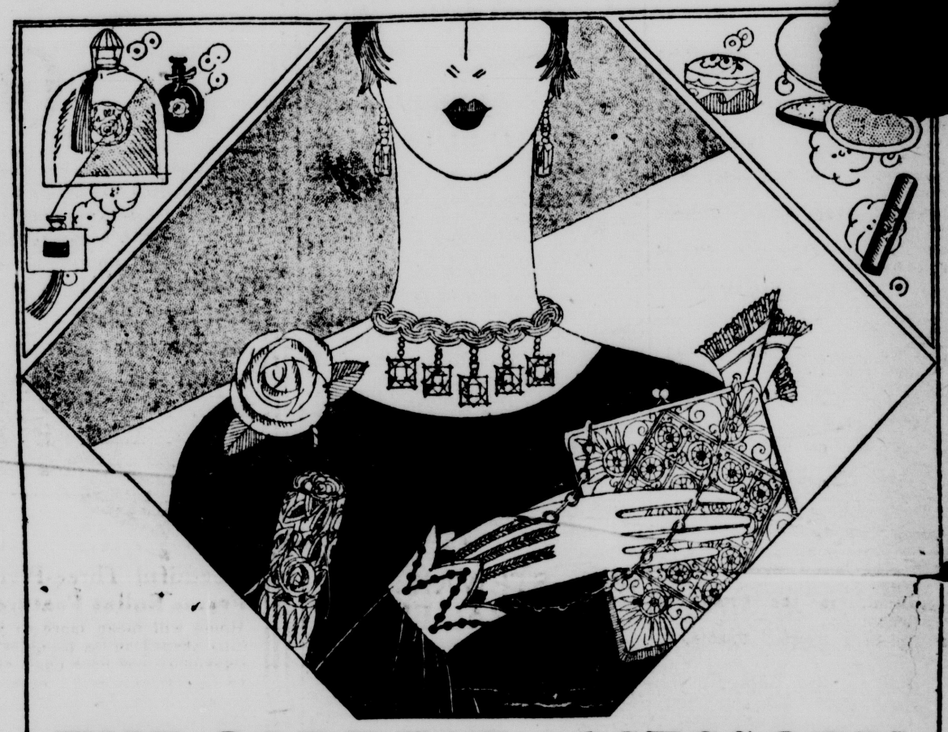
Ogilvie's Store News

EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO, THURSDAY, APRIL 1, 1926.



THE CORRECT ACCESSORY

At last Dame Fashion has made up her mind as to what we shall wear and here you have the result of months of planning and buying. Trifles so breathlessly lovely as they are joyous in color—the little important things that make the mode.

With simplicity the rule, the mode depends more and more upon the smart accessories one chooses to wear. Ours are not only the last word in smartness, but correct and pleasingly priced. The important trifles that distinguish you as being well dressed — here in profusion and priced to permit you to buy them with pleasure.

The popularity of the scarf continues undaunted and it is amazing what a difference a bright scarf, worn about the neck, can make.

Many new styles of scarfs for Spring. Foremost are the small, swagger Charleston scarfs that tie about the neck with a knot at one side. Painted designs on each end. Priced at $2.00. All colors.

Printed georgettes, crepe de chines, chiffons and radiums. Also the new Mallinson prints. Single and double width. Scarfs for every type of costume. Priced from $3.00 to $11.50.

The boyish frock finds its most congenial companion in the plain linen collar and cuff sets in white and colors. Plain or with lace edging or embroidered motifs. A smart addition to the trim school or business costume. Priced from 50c to $1.50.

Vestees are again in vogue for wear with tailored suits. In new versions. Fashioned of satins, white and colored linens and lace. Priced from $1.00 to $3.75.

Lace collar and cuff sets, also in high or low neck models.

The flower accessory works magic on wardrobes. Different flowers worn with the same outfit make several costumes out of one. A flower on your jacket or coat lapel, your coat collar or sleeve adds brightness to your costume. A flower on the shoulder of your evening or afternoon frock will give it a Paris air.

The boutonniere on the coat, frock or suit may contrast or blend with your hat and scarf.

Priced from 50c to $5.00.

To be smart, one must be colorful, says Paris, and this new silken hosiery comes in Paris approved shades to harmonize with every costume. Among the new shades you will find mauve, mauve taupe, English grey, national grey, moonlight, coffee, atmosphere, wild aster, orchid, star-dust, Rochelle, flesh, tortoise shell, rose grey, rose beige, Sudan, Zinc, French nude, almond, grain, peach, gravel, Newport, Sparkle, breeze, Miami, Shadow, Ecstacy, toast, gun metal, fawn, Formosa, blush and others. Also every evening shade. In sheer chiffon and heavy silks.

Fashion extends a gloved hand and if yours is not also smartly gloved, you are not completely costumed, according to the dictates of the mode. Gloves accompany your Spring costume and we have a style for each type of outfit.

Attractive Kid gloves with straight or turn-down cuff. Embroidered, scalloped and appliqued cuffs in color on tan, grey, black and white gloves.

Silk gloves with lovely cuffs in turn-down and straight models. A wonderful selection of shades. Kid and silk gloves, priced from $1.50 to $5.75.

Many other accessories that are necessary are to be found in various sections of the store.

Purses in envelope, pouch and square shapes. Leather, silk and bead. All colors.

The daintiest hankies you ever saw are here for your selection. Exquisite new styles in filmy or serviceable materials.

Beads, bracelets, brooches, hat pins and many other jewelry conceits are on display in the newest versions.

Compacts—toilet accessories and ever so many other things—come in and see for yourself.

THE CORRECT ACCESSORY

At last Dame Fashion has made up her mind as to what we shall wear and here you have the result of months of planning and buying. Trifles so breathlessly lovely as they are joyous in color—the little important things that make the mode.

With simplicity the rule, the mode depends more and more upon the smart accessories one chooses to wear. Ours are not only the last word in smartness, but correct and pleasingly priced. The important trifles that distinguish you as being well dressed here in profusion and priced to permit you to buy them with pleasure.

The popularity of the scarf continues undaunted and it is amazing what a difference a bright scarf, worn about the neck, can make.

Many new styles of scarfs for Spring. Foremost are the small, swagger Charleston scarfs that tie about the neck with a knot at one side. Painted designs on each end. Priced at $2.00. All colors.

Printed georgettes, crepe de chines, chiffons and radiums. Also the new Mallinson prints. Single and double width. Scarfs for every type of costume. Priced from $3.00 to $11.50.

The boyish frock finds its most congenial companion in the plain linen collar and cuff sets in white and colors. Plain or with lace edging or embroidered motifs. A smart addition to the trim school or business costume. Priced from 50c to $1.50.

Vestees are again in vogue for wear with tailored suits. In new versions. Fashioned of satins, white and colored linens and lace. Priced from $1.00 to $3.75.

Lace collar and cuff sets, also in high or low neck models.

The flower accessory works magic on wardrobes. Different flowers worn with the same outfit make several costumes out of one. A flower on your jacket or coat lapel, your coat collar or sleeve adds brightness to your costume. A flower on the shoulder of your evening or afternoon frock will give it a Paris air.

The boutonniere on the coat, frock or suit may contrast or blend with your hat and scarf.

Priced from 50c to $5.00.

To be smart, one must be colorful, says Paris, and this new silken hosiery comes in Paris approved shades to harmonize with every costume. Among the new shades you will find mauve, mauve taupe, English grey, national grey, moonlight, coffee, atmosphere, wild aster, orchid, star-dust, Rochelle, flesh, tortoise shell, rose grey, rose beige, Sudan, Zinc, French nude, almond, grain, peach, gravel, Newport, Sparkle, breeze, Miami, Shadow, Ecstacy, toast, gun metal, fawn, Formosa, blush and others. Also every evening shade. In sheer chiffon and heavy silks.

Fashion extends a gloved hand and if yours is not also smartly gloved, you are not completely costumed, according to the dictates of the mode. Gloves accompany your Spring costume and we have a style for each type of outfit.

Attractive Kid gloves with straight or turn-down cuff. Embroidered, scalloped and appliqued cuffs in color on tan, grey, black and white gloves.

Silk gloves with lovely cuffs in turn-down and straight models. A wonderful selection of shades. Kid and silk gloves, priced from $1.50 to $5.75.

Many other accessories that are necessary are to be found in various sections of the store.

Purses in envelope, pouch and square shapes. Leather, silk and bead. All colors.

The daintiest hankies you ever saw are here for your selection. Exquisite new styles in filmy or serviceable materials.

Beads, bracelets, brooches, hat pins and many other jewelry conceits are on display in the newest versions.

Compacts—toilet accessories and ever so many other things—come in and see for yourself.

POWERS, STAGS CLASH TONIGHT

Muskingum College Players in Action at High Gym.

Basketball fans of the city will have an opportunity tonight to see Clifford Orr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Orr, of Broadway, member of the Muskingum college basketball squad this season, and probably two other players of the New Concord five, in action against the strong Power class team, of East Liverpool, at the high school gymnasum.

Orr and his college teammates, Bain and Clark, are coming with the Muskingum Stag club for the final game on the Power passers' schedule.

The Powers are ending their season with one of the best records in the district. They have won 27 games and lost five, scoring 1,205 points to their opponents' 682, their latest conquest being recorded Tuesday night at the expense of the M. E. Seniors.

The Powers will have two Wellsville boys, Harold Dickey and Scholl, on their roster. Dickey is a forward and Scholl a guard. Other members of the squad include: Cunningham, Mensforth and Ashbaugh; Jester, center, and Paul English, Earl Cochran and E. Rockhold, guards.

M. E. girls and Glenmoor maids will clash in the preliminary, starting at 7:30.

AWAIT REPORT ON ROAD FUND BILL

Good roads boosters throughout the district from East Liverpool to Wheeling are interested in the report on the Dowell bill, authorizing $75,000,000 of federal aid for highways, which is expected to be presented for vote in the house the latter part of the week.

Ohio, according to officials of the Ohio Good Roads federation, would receive something like $2,770,000 from the fund.

Work is now proceeding on the Ohio river road between Toronto and Wellsville and county authorities hope that the major construction can be at least started in 1927. Three miles of the road have been graded 30 feet wide during the winter months at a total cost of $2,500 and a steam shovel is now in the "Narrows."

Brazil And The League

It is agreed that the laurel wreath for breaking up that last league of nations meeting, disappointing most of the nations of the world and disturbing world business and finance and postponing prospects of peace, goes to Brazil.

Probably Brazil feels ashamed of herself by this time. If so, she may proceed sooner or later to undo the worst piece of international work she ever put over. When New World nations participate in Old World affairs, it should be to help, not hinder. Leave it to European schemers to do the international dirty work, or pull each other's chestnuts out of the fire.

Brazil will have another chance next September.

If she continues mussing up European affairs, there is a simple remedy available before long. Brazil is a "temporary" member of the league council now, abusing her brief authority by refusing to let Germany in unless Brazil also is made a permanent member. The league, when Brazil's present term expires, can drop her from the council altogether. That would be a fitting penalty, unless she repents.

Health and Fashion

School children and their parents have become familiar in recent years with health fairies and milk fairies and a whole train of relatives of these, by means of school plays and health crusades. A Philadelphia organization tried something different in the way of health education.

It gave a fashion show. The so-called French designer was actually a member of the dairy council staff and the mannequins were local high school girls. The designer explained the fashion show as follows:

"We are beginning to realize what an important part health plays in this fashion show we call Life. On the crowded avenue you meet someone who particularly catches your eye. 'Ah! that lady is beautifully dressed,' you will say—but is it the dress alone that strikes your fancy? No. On second thought you will find that this lady is clothed in something more than style—she wears a robe of health—a clear skin, bright eyes, grace, poise and a subtle effluence of happiness. And these are the things I want all of you to incorporate into your gowns. Look to Heathland for your inspiration—then, if you wish, turn to Paris for the necessary frills and ruffles.

Then the attractive young girls in the pretty dresses moved across the stage, and in every case the "designer" made it clear that good health habits gave the gowns their appropriate setting and that without health the gowns could not have looked so well.

There is much inspiration in this for the growing girl, and even for her mother who could take a few hints about the place of health in stylishness.

Thanksgiving For Trees

Arbor Days are at hand, public ones to be observed with exercises in schools and private ones to be observed by the planting of trees around homes and by rejoicing over the return of blossoms and foliage to the deciduous trees.

In some states a Bird Day has been added to the calendar of special days. These two might very well be observed simultaneously. We couldn't keep our lovely song birds if we didn't have our trees, and we couldn't keep our trees if we didn't have the birds to devour insect pests and to carry seeds and make themselves generally useful as well as delightful.

Arbor Day, with its emphasis on tree cultivation and conservation, has played a useful part in developing the national interest in forestation. But there is still need of watchfulness and of wiser policies in the manufacture of wood products if the trees now planted are to hold their own in the coming years. Even if there were no such need, Arbor Day would remain an excellent special occasion for being glad that the old Earth is blessed with trees.

Silly Chain Letters

Along with the flu this spring, there seems to be another epidemic of "chain letters." In many communities the mails are clogged with them.

Some of them are particularly unnecessary and silly. One which is widely circulated enjoins every recipient to write to nine other persons, under penalty of "bad luck" if he neglects to do so, passing on this burning message:

"With success to you, let us go sailing through 1926."

In all probability, life would go on just as well without this childish game. Better, in fact; for busy people would not have their attention distracted from what they are doing, and important business communications would not be delayed by chain-letter jams.

There is a law against such foolishness, which ought to be enforced by the authorities and reinforced by public common sense.

The only trouble with Florida is, it's hard to raise fruit and real estate at the same time.

"Congress Hopes to Quit by June." 'Sall right with us.

Now they've found a tomb 2,000 years older than King Tut's, but tut-tut! We're getting fed up on tombs.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 1.—The daring of New York's banditry is seen in the armored cars that transport big payrolls through the streets. Many of the big manufacturing plants are like armed camps on pay day. Plain clothes men trussed with automatics patrol entrances and hallways.

In bank foyers paymasters deposit their withdrawals in heavy satchels and flanked on either side by armed men, scurry out to motor-racing taxis at the curb. They rarely go over the same route or land at the same entrance.

In most big plants, to prevent leakage of any sort, the paymasters are the only persons who know what hour they will leave for the banks. These hours vary weekly. Some weeks even the pay day is changed to aid in the confusion.

Police say the payroll bandits are invariably cowards. They lack the courage of the safeblower or lone footpad. They travel in packs and always outnumber their victims two to one. As a rule they are primed with drugs and kill without mercy.

In the past year three grayhaired and feeble subway ticket sellers have been shot down in cold blood after passing out the contents of their tills with trembling hands without resistance. The thugs would not take a sporting chance of an almost certain getaway.

Payroll bandits do not make their forays in a blind fashion. They lay their groundwork long before the actual hold-up. As a rule a "stool pigeon" manages to find a job in the counting room of a plant to be robbed. It is his job to get "the lay of the land."

All the vulnerable points for an attack are in hands of the enemy. A hand on a window pane may be the tip-off to waiting sentries outside that the paymaster is on the way to the bank. The "stool pigeon" usually vanishes when the job is done.

Time is money in the metropolis more than in most cities. Somebody has estimated that from Columbus Circle to 34th street in midtown there are two public clocks to a block. Yet I have never seen a New Yorker watchless. Aside from this, a New Yorker, by calling Canal 2020, will be immediately told the exact time without asking. The Western Union provides this service.

The Times Square section has almost as many watch repairing shops as hideaway speakeasies. One on Seventh Avenue advertises: "Fifty dollars reward for any watch I cannot repair."

A new handy service has also blossomed for New Yorkers. It is called the Ship Arrival Service, Inc. For $1 an obliging voice will inform you that the liner in which you are expecting friends or relatives has left quarantine and that it is time for you to go to the pier. To those who know the tedium of waiting a ship's arrival the service will probably be welcomed. The Western Union will notify you by wire or telephone for the same price.

There is the breath of old New York—the days of prancing bays, crinoline skirts and stocks—in a weekly event in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf. It is the Monday Morning Musicale, started 35 years ago by Albert Bagby and continued by him today. It shuns all publicity and only the socially unassailable are welcomed. Some of the members, wearing black rustling silks, come in carriages, and it is said that for many it is the only venture out of doors for the week. There are 1700 subscribers.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

What Do Women Want?

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 1. — With congressional and state elections impending and with the quadrennial contest for the Presidency next in order there are no questions so much discussed in Washington by politicians of male persuasion as those pertaining to the political ideas, ideals, and aspirations of women.

It is, of course, well known that there is one organization of women that is primarily interested in the fight to secure equality before or in the law for women. It is equally well known that there is a group of women, or a group of their organizations, seeking many other things and opposing the equality idea. But where and for what do women as a sex stand, or do they stand as a sex?

Are they for protection, or do they favor a tariff for revenue only?

Do they want the United States to join the League of Nations or participate in the World Court?

Are they dry or wet?

And when it comes to the question of prohibition, do or do they not favor a modification of the Volstead law?

What do women think about the immigration problem? Have they been aroused by the late fiasco at the port of New York anent the barring of a woman alien on the grounds of moral turpitude?

How about Blue Laws? How do women want Sunday observed—with or without automobile drives, movies, theatres, golf, baseball, etcetera?

What about taxation? Do women want Uncle Sam to get out of debt at the earliest possible date, with Federal taxes adjusted to that policy, or would they make a wide spread of the national debt and let future generations share the burdens that have grown out of events of the last decade?

What is the feminine viewpoint on national defense and the recogintion that should be accorded aviation?

And, by no means last or least important of the questions that are troubling men politicians, what do women think of the way men have been conducting governmental affairs and are they inclined to the opinion that they could do better—or could not do worse?

It is gradually dawning on citizens of the masculine persuasion that the time is at hand when they will no longer have a monopoly of office-holding. Women are cutting in on the erstwhile prerogative of the sterner sex at a rate that occasions serious consideration. They first went after positions in the party organizations and speedily attained recognition as vice-chairmen of national committees, national committeemen, state committeemen, and the like, and in no time at all they began asking for important elective positions, to say nothing of the good jobs that are passed out by executive favor.

Two women have been elected to the highest office in a State—that of Governor. There are three women now serving in the National House of Representatives, and a woman has been United States Senator from her State long enough to get her name on the official record. Those are the high spots that women have hit, politically while they have attained no end of minor elective jobs ranging from municipal offices to secondary state positions. Women judges are frequently confronted by those who have occasion to greet interpreters and enforcers of the law, and those who get themselves prosecuted often find that it is a woman who is doing the prosecuting.

Most cities, it is also to be noted, have their women members of their police forces, so that it is quite possible for a malefactor to be arrested by a woman, prosecuted by a woman assistant district attorney, tried before a jury composed wholly or in part by women, and sentenced of a woman judge. Men might complain of that were it not for the fact that it has not been many years since women were on the outside looking in when it came to matters of that sort, and for the further fact that however loudly they might complain it would do them no good.

Nor is it to be forgotten that there are numerous political offices that are essentially "soft snaps," and that women can hold them just as efficiently as men, for the very good reason that no efficiency is required—except in subordinates who do all the work. In studying their political primers women have been quick to learn about such sinecures, and it is observed that they are displaying no hesitation in going after them.

Since they are possessed of the ladder of suffrage there is no reason why women should not go after the choice plums that hang highest on the tree of politics. Hence the question as to when they will seek the Presidency and Vice Presidency.

Most men party leaders insist that that is a foolish question, but some of them are not so certain about it. A few of the more cautious say that one thing will be more likely to set women's minds on seeing one of their sex in the White House than for men to keep insisting that it is a foolish idea.

Women leaders as a rule do not care to discuss the question, holding that the time is not yet ripe for its consideration seriously. However, one of the surest ways of starting an argument is to tell a group of women politicians that no woman would be competent to fill the office of chief executive, for most of them are decidedly of the opinion that a woman can do anything in an office-filling line that a man can do.

Numerically women are on practically even terms with men and there is no reason to doubt their being able to get almost anything they make a real fight for. Nor since their responsibilities as citizens are as great as those of men is it reasonable to expect that they will always be content with the minor rewards of politics.

In all probability, according to the political prophets, women will make their bid for presidential honors by first taking a whirl at the office of Vice President. They will advance the argument that if they are willing to concede the Presidency to the men they should be accorded second place, and men will find that argument difficult to combat when women present it determinedly.

It may not happen in one of the big national conventions of 1928, but one of these days in such a gathering a woman's name will be presented and voted for, and when that has happened it will not be many campaigns before the men wake up to find that they have nominated a woman.

And women are in training for important executive positions, it is to be noted. One of them has just been made president of a big insurance company in Brooklyn, while another has been placed at the head of a great industrial corporation with which she has been identified for twenty years.

"We are beginning to realize what an important part health plays in this fashion show we call Life. On the crowded avenue you meet someone who particularly catches your eye. 'Ah! that lady is beautifully dressed,' you will say—but is it the dress alone that strikes your fancy? No. On second thought you will find that this lady is clothed in something more than style—she wears a robe of health—a clear skin, bright eyes, grace, poise and a subtle effluence of happiness. And these are the things I want all of you to incorporate into your gowns. Look to Heathland for your inspiration—then, if you wish, turn to Paris for the necessary frills and ruffles.

Then the attractive young girls in the pretty dresses moved across the stage, and in every case the "designer" made it clear that good health habits gave the gowns their appropriate setting and that without health the gowns could not have looked so well.

There is much inspiration in this for the growing girl, and even for her mother who could take a few hints about the place of health in stylishness.

Thanksgiving For Trees

Arbor Days are at hand, public ones to be observed with exercises in schools and private ones to be observed by the planting of trees around homes and by rejoicing over the return of blossoms and foliage to the deciduous trees.

In some states a Bird Day has been added to the calendar of special days. These two might very well be observed simultaneously. We couldn't keep our lovely song birds if we didn't have our trees, and we couldn't keep our trees if we didn't have the birds to devour insect pests and to carry seeds and make themselves generally useful as well as delightful.

Arbor Day, with its emphasis on tree cultivation and conservation, has played a useful part in developing the national interest in forestation. But there is still need of watchfulness and of wiser policies in the manufacture of wood products if the trees now planted are to hold their own in the coming years. Even if there were no such need, Arbor Day would remain an excellent special occasion for being glad that the old Earth is blessed with trees.

Silly Chain Letters

Along with the flu this spring, there seems to be another epidemic of "chain letters." In many communities the mails are clogged with them.

Some of them are particularly unnecessary and silly. One which is widely circulated enjoins every recipient to write to nine other persons, under penalty of "bad luck" if he neglects to do so, passing on this burning message:

"With success to you, let us go sailing through 1926."

In all probability, life would go on just as well without this childish game. Better, in fact; for busy people would not have their attention distracted from what they are doing, and important business communications would not be delayed by chain-letter jams.

There is a law against such foolishness, which ought to be enforced by the authorities and reinforced by public common sense.

The only trouble with Florida is, it's hard to raise fruit and real estate at the same time.

"Congress Hopes to Quit by June." 'Sall right with us.

Now they've found a tomb 2,000 years older than King Tut's, but tut-tut! We're getting fed up on tombs.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 1.—The daring of [illegible] York's banditry is seen in the armored cars [illegible] transport big payrolls through the streets. [illegible] of the big manufacturing plants are like armed camps on pay day. Plain clothes men trussed with automatics patrol entrances and hallways.

In bank foyers paymasters deposit their withdrawals in heavy satchels and flanked on either side by armed men, scurry out to motor-racing taxis at the curb. They rarely go over the same route or land at the same entrance.

In most big plants, to prevent leakage of any sort, the paymasters are the only persons who know what hour they will leave for the banks. These hours vary weekly. Some weeks even the pay day is changed to aid in the confusion.

Police say the payroll bandits are invariably cowards. They lack the courage of the safeblower or lone footpad. They travel in packs and always outnumber their victims two to one. As a rule they are primed with drugs and kill without mercy.

In the past year three grayhaired and feeble subway ticket sellers have been shot down in cold blood after passing out the contents of their tills with trembling hands without resistance. The thugs would not take a sporting chance of an almost certain getaway.

Payroll bandits do not make their forays in a blind fashion. They lay their groundwork long before the actual hold-up. As a rule a "stool pigeon" manages to find a job in the counting room of a plant to be robbed. It is his job to get "the lay of the land."

All the vulnerable points for an attack are in hands of the enemy. A hand on a window pane may be the tip-off to waiting sentries outside that the paymaster is on the way to the bank. The "stool pigeon" usually vanishes when the job is done.

Time is money in the metropolis more than in most cities. Somebody has estimated that from Columbus Circle to 34th street in midtown there are two public clocks to a block. Yet I have never seen a New Yorker watchless. Aside from this, a New Yorker, by calling Canal 2020, will be immediately told the exact time without asking. The Western Union provides this service.

The Times Square section has almost as many watch repairing shops as hideaway speakeasies. One on Seventh Avenue advertises: "Fifty dollars reward for any watch I cannot repair."

A new handy service has also blossomed for New Yorkers. It is called the Ship Arrival Service, Inc. For $1 an obliging voice will inform you that the liner in which you are expecting friends or relatives has left quarantine and that it is time for you to go to the pier. To those who know the tedium of waiting a ship's arrival the service will probably be welcomed. The Western Union will notify you by wire or telephone for the same price.

There is the breath of old New York—the days of prancing bays, crinoline skirts and stocks—in a weekly event in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf. It is the Monday Morning Musicale, started 35 years ago by Albert Bagby and continued by him today. It shuns all publicity and only the socially unassailable are welcomed. Some of the members, wearing black rustling silks, come in carriages, and it is said that for many it is the only venture out of doors for the week. There are 1700 subscribers.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

What Do Women Want?

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 1.—With congressional and state elections impending and with the quadrennial contest for the Presidency next in order there are no questions so much discussed in Washington by politicians of male persuasion as those pertaining [illegible] the political ideas, ideals, and aspirations [illegible] women.

It is, of course, well known that there is one organization of women that is primarily interested in the fight to secure equality before or in the law for women. It is equally well known that there is a group of women, or a group of their organizations, seeking many other things and opposing the equality idea. But where and for what do women as a sex stand, or do they stand as a sex?

Are they for protection, or do they favor a tariff for revenue only?

Do they want the United States to join the League of Nations or participate in the World Court?

Are they dry or wet?

And when it comes to the question of prohibition, do or do they not favor a modification of the Volstead law?

What do women think about the immigration problem? Have they been aroused by the late fiasco at the port of New York anent the barring of a woman alien on the grounds of moral turpitude?

How about Blue Laws? How do women want Sunday observed—with or without automobile drives, movies, theatres, golf, baseball, etcetera?

What about taxation? Do women want Uncle Sam to get out of debt at the earliest possible date, with Federal taxes adjusted to that policy, or would they make a wide spread of the national debt and let future generations share the burdens that have grown out of events of the last decade?

What is the feminine viewpoint on national defense and the recogintion that should be accorded aviation?

And, by no means last or least important of the questions that are troubling men politicians, what do women think of the way men have been conducting governmental affairs and are they inclined to the opinion that they could do better—or could not do worse?

It is gradually dawning on citizens of the masculine persuasion that the time is at hand when they will no longer have a monopoly of office-holding. Women are cutting in on the erstwhile prerogative of the sterner sex at a rate that occasions serious consideration. They first went after positions in the party organizations and speedily attained recognition as vice-chairmen of national committees, national committeemen, state committeemen, and the like, and in no time at all they began asking for important elective positions, to say nothing of the good jobs that are passed out by executive favor.

Two women have been elected to the highest office in a State—that of Governor. There are three women now serving in the National House of Representatives, and a woman has been United States Senator from her State long enough to get her name on the official record. Those are the high spots that women have hit, politically while they have attained no end of minor elective jobs ranging from municipal offices to secondary state positions. Women judges are frequently confronted by those who have occasion to greet interpreters and enforcers of the law, and those who get themselves prosecuted often find that it is a woman who is doing the prosecuting.

Most cities, it is also to be noted, have their women members of their police forces, so that it is quite possible for a malefactor to be arrested by a woman, prosecuted by a woman assistant district attorney, tried before a jury composed wholly or in part by women, and sentenced of a woman judge. Men might complain of that were it not for the fact that it has not been many years since women were on the outside looking in when it came to matters of that sort, and for the further fact that however loudly they might complain it would do them no good.

Nor is it to be forgotten that there are numerous political offices that are essentially "soft snaps," and that women can hold them just as efficiently as men, for the very good reason that no efficiency is required—except in subordinates who do all the work. In studying their political primers women have been quick to learn about such sinecures, and it is observed that they are displaying no hesitation in going after them.

Since they are possessed of the ladder of suffrage there is no reason why women should not go after the choice plums that hang highest on the tree of politics. Hence the question as to when they will seek the Presidency and Vice Presidency.

Most men party leaders insist that that is a foolish question, but some of them are not so certain about it. A few of the more cautious say that one thing will be more likely to set women's minds on seeing one of their sex in the White House than for men to keep insisting that it is a foolish idea.

Women leaders as a rule do not care to discuss the question, holding that the time is not yet ripe for its consideration seriously. However, one of the surest ways of starting an argument is to tell a group of women politicians that no woman would be competent to fill the office of chief executive, for most of them are decidedly of the opinion that a woman can do anything in an office-filling line that a man can do.

Numerically women are on practically even terms with men and there is no reason to doubt their being able to get almost anything they make a real fight for. Nor since their responsibilities as citizens are as great as those of men is it reasonable to expect that they will always be content with the minor rewards of politics.

In all probability, according to the political prophets, women will make their bid for presidential honors by first taking a whirl at the office of Vice President. They will advance the argument that if they are willing to concede the Presidency to the men they should be accorded second place, and men will find that argument difficult to combat when women present it determinedly.

It may not happen in one of the big national conventions of 1928, but one of these days in such a gathering a woman's name will be presented and voted for, and when that has happened it will not be many campaigns before the men wake up to find that they have nominated a woman.

And women are in training for important executive positions, it is to be noted. One of them has just been made president of a big insurance company in Brooklyn, while another has been placed at the head of a great industrial corporation with which she has been identified for twenty years.

Brazil And The League

It is agreed that the laurel wreath for breaking up that last league of nations meeting, disappointing most of the nations of the world and disturbing world business and finance and postponing prospects of peace, goes to Brazil.

Probably Brazil feels ashamed of herself by this time. If so, she may proceed sooner or later to undo the worst piece of international work she ever put over. When New World nations participate in Old World affairs, it should be to help, not hinder. Leave it to European schemers to do the international dirty work, or pull each other's chestnuts out of the fire.

Brazil will have another chance next September.

If she continues mussing up European affairs, there is a simple remedy available before long. Brazil is a "temporary" member of the league council now, abusing her brief authority by refusing to let Germany in unless Brazil also is made a permanent member. The league, when Brazil's present term expires, can drop her from the council altogether. That would be a fitting penalty, unless she repents.

Health and Fashion

School [illegible] and their parents have become familiar in recent years with health [illegible] milk fairies and a whole train of relatives of these, by means of school plays and [illegible] crusades. A Philadelphia organization tried something different in the way of health education.

It gave a fashion show. The so-called French designer was actually a member of the dairy council staff and the mannequins were local high school girls. The designer explained the fashion show as follows:

"We are beginning to realize what an important part health plays in this fashion show we call Life. On the crowded avenue you meet someone who particularly catches your eye. 'Ah! that lady is beautifully dressed,' you will say—but is it the dress alone that strikes your fancy? No. On second thought you will find that this lady is clothed in something more than style—she wears a robe of health—a clear skin, bright eyes, grace, poise and a subtle effluence of happiness. And these are the things I want all of you to incorporate into your gowns. Look to Heathland for your inspiration—then, if you wish, turn to Paris for the necessary frills and ruffles.

Then the attractive young girls in the pretty dresses moved across the stage, and in every case the "designer" made it clear that good health habits gave the gowns their appropriate setting and that without health the gowns could not have looked so well.

There is much inspiration in this for the growing girl, and even for her mother who could take a few hints about the place of health in stylishness.

Thanksgiving For Trees

Arbor Days are at hand, public ones to be observed with exercises in schools and private ones to be observed by the planting of trees around homes and by rejoicing over the return of blossoms and foliage to the deciduous trees.

In some states a Bird Day has been added to the calendar of special days. These two might very well be observed simultaneously. We couldn't keep our lovely song birds if we didn't have our trees, and we couldn't keep our trees if we didn't have the birds to devour insect pests and to carry seeds and make themselves generally useful as well as delightful.

Arbor Day, with its emphasis on tree cultivation and conservation, has played a useful part in developing the national interest in forestation. But there is still need of watchfulness and of wiser policies in the manufacture of wood products if the trees now planted are to hold their own in the coming years. Even if there were no such need, Arbor Day would remain an excellent special occasion for being glad that the old Earth is blessed with trees.

In all probability, life would go on just as well without this childish game. Better, in fact; for busy people would not have their attention distracted from what they are doing, and important business communications would not be delayed by chain-letter jams.

There is a law against such foolishness, which ought to be enforced by the authorities and reinforced by public common sense.

Chilean Government To Place Orders for Two New Cruisers

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE—The Chilean government is about to order in Great Britain two cruisers of about 10,000 tons displacement. There is keen competition from the United States, but British shipbuilders declare themselves confident of receiving the order.

The vessels are most likely to go to the Tyne and Barrow, as these centers have built ships in the past which have been appreciated by the Navy department of Chile.

They will resemble, in displacement, gun-power and defense, the cruisers recently ordered on the Clyde and Tyne for the British navy. This additional work will give a distinct fillip to British shipbuilding.

Chilean Government To Place Orders for Two New Cruisers

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE—The Chilean government is about to order in Great Britain two cruisers of about 10,000 tons displacement. There is keen competition from the United States, but British shipbuilders declare themselves confident of receiving the order.

The vessels are most likely to go to the Tyne and Barrow, as these centers have built ships in the past which have been appreciated by the Navy department of Chile.

They will resemble, in displacement, gun-power and defense, the cruisers recently ordered on the Clyde and Tyne for the British navy. This additional work will give a distinct fillip to British shipbuilding.

CHAPMAN ASKS NEW TRIAL IN DEATH FIGHT

Attorneys Make Last Move to Save Bandit.

HE IS GLOOMY

Slayer is to Hang in Connecticut Next Monday.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 1.—Rebuffed at every turn, attorneys for Gerald Chapman, the notorious bandit, today planned to make at least one more desperate effort to save him from the gallows.

They advised Chapman, who sits moodily in his cell at Whethersfield prison, that they will apply to State Superior Court Judge Marvin for a new trial.

They will submit four affidavits to the court and, if the judge thinks necessary, will offer the four affiants in person for examination. It is on the evidence of these witnesses that Chapman's lawyers think the bandit should be given another trial.

Chapman is to hang next Monday night, shortly after midnight, and the present outlook is that there is little likelihood of official or judicial intervention.

The once widely-heralded "superbandit" realizes that he is nearing the end of his rope.

As the clock ticks off the minutes to the hour of his doom, he grimly paces his cell or sits in silence and has very little to say to any one, save his lawyers. The spark of hope burns in Chapman's heart, albeit faintly.

Scores of newspapermen are arriving [illegible] for the hanging. Officials at the [illegible] attorney's office were confident nothing [illegible] take place that will prevent the execution at the scheduled time.

It had seemed to all except Chapman's lawyers that the bandit's last hope flickered out last night when Governor John H. Trumbull refused to reprieve Chapman. He had signed three reprieves for Chapman and he told the bandit's chief counsel, Frederick J. Groehl, that he would not sign another. Groehl left the governor's office, apparently disheartened, but still determined to leave no stone unturned to save Chapman's life.

The appeal to Judge Marvin probably will be made some time today, as the time for the hanging is rapidly approaching, and there are but two court days left—today and Monday. Friday and Saturday are court holidays.

IN MEMORIAM.

Sacred to the memory of our dear husband and father, John O'Hanlon, who was called home one year ago today, April 1, 1925.

We have lost our soul's companion
A life linked with our own.
One in hope, in love, in feeling,
Death divided, now alone.

Not far away, not broken
Is the golden chain of love;
Is binding us still together
On earth and in heaven above.

Sadly missed by his wife,

cans that would limit the size and power of business units in the United States.

FORTUNATELY this country need not fear Europe's steel trust. We have plenty of steel and coal and, most important, we have the tariff. If it came to a fight we could do some dumping of steel products all over the world that would surprise the European combination.

AVIATION engineers in Berlin plan a 10-hour flying service between Hamburg and New York, a thing that will be a commonplace of transportation within a generation.

The German plan includes a suggestion printed several times in this column, namely, establishment of an air route six or seven miles up in the air where there are no vertical squalls, fogs, blizzards, hurricanes, cyclones or high winds of any kind.

LATER, enormous lighter-than-air machines will travel in those high regions, coming down at long intervals, only for repairs. They will drop passengers, in smaller airships, at London, Paris, Peking, etc., as the big steamers used to drop passengers for Liverpool on little tugs in the Mersey.

AFTER her husband had confessed to various crimes, including murder, his wife told the New York detectives, "my husband always gave me plenty of money, but I didn't know he was a criminal. I thought he made his money running in whisky from Canada.

That shows that bootlegging, encouraged by the "better element," is [illegible] seriously in certain circles.

Plan Safety Drive

Lions' club. He pointed out that school principals had been entertained in an effort to obtain their co-operation in the campaign. City officials were guests at another meeting at which traffic law enforcement was discussed. The last move was to enroll other clubs in a city-wide movement to make the streets and highways safer for the pedestrian and automobile driver.

Superintendent Wills of the traction company outlined a safety campaign plan used at Wheeling a few years ago. As a result of this drive, he declared, accidents had been reduced. He suggested newspaper and billboard advertising, safety buttons for school children, stickers for automobile windshields and a parade in which business men and manufacturers would be asked to provide floats. He said that the street car company would provide a flat car to display wrecked automobile, due to "someone's carelessness."

Chief of Police McDermott declared that the public failed to observe the traffic signs and urged that all violators be reported. He charged that "jay-walking" was responsible for many accidents and recommended that liability insurance should be made a requirement of all automobile owners to protect the pedestrian in case of accident. Plans are being worked out, he declared, for a "stop" at the corner of Jackson and Fifth street.

McLain condemned the practice of "jay-walking." Emmett Mylar, president of the Lion's club, said that the license numbers and names of violators should be reported to the police.

Director Moore declared that many automobile owners violated speed regulations at cross streets. The city ordinance fixes the speed rate at crossings at 15miles an hour, Moore said.

Municipal Judge Hanley pointed out the need for cable fences along Pennsylvania avenue, River road and Lisbon street hill. The county, he declared, maintains strong guard rails along the county roads and the city should do likewise along dangerous thoroughfares within the corporation. All violators who have been brought before him, have been fined, he said.

"Think safety" was the suggestion of Prof. Rist. "If we can get the people to think along this line we will accomplish considerable," he said.

Although he was prevented from attending the meeting because of a conflicting engagement, Secretary Diehl, of the automobile club, forwarded suggestions which the committee probably will use. He urged that slides be used in theatres and that Boy Scouts do traffic duty. He offered the use of a motion picture.

Frank Sawney pointed out that violators should be fined for their first offense.

R. J. McElravy suggested a mass meeting to hear the organization committee's report at a later date.

N. P. Kerr, president of council, declared that the pedestrian was as much to blame for accidents as the automobile driver. He said that an educational campaign is necessary.

T. V. Milligan asserted that the fining of first offenders would have a better effect than if they were discharged with a warning. A. E. Harris opposed the plan of putting "stop" regulations in effect at the foot of the Lisbon street hill. He suggested that West Eighth street should be lined and west bound cars for Wellsville compelled to make a stop in an effort to relieve the hazards existing at the junction of Lisbon and West Eighth streets.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 1.—Stocks of the oil and motor companies forged ahead in early trading today, in continuance of Wednesday's closing rally.

Comparisons of prices of leading stocks today with Tuesday's low levels reveals numerous gains of five to 10 points, while the general market average has risen about four points. The turn in the market has been due largely to the lifting of selling pressure against the speculative stock leaders, which in a comparatively short time forced an enormous amount of liquidation of long stocks by the general public. It is too early to say whether the end of the decline has been reached or not.

Cleveland Produce.

CLEVELAND, April 1.—Butter — Market ½ cent higher prices to retailers. Extra in tubs, 43@43½c; prints 1 cent extra on all grades; extra first, 41@42c; firsts, 38@39c, and packing stock, 27@30c.

Eggs—½ cent higher; extras, 32½c; extra firsts, 30½c; Ohio firsts, 29½c; western, 29c.

FUNNY HOW MAN WAITS UNTIL HE IS 40 TO MAKE FOOL OF SELF," SAYS PRISONER

W. H. Clark, 43, of Merrick, N. Y., Arrested for Theft of Old Automobile and Held Under $5,000 Bond.

DAYTON, O., April 1.—"It's funny how a man waits until he is 40 to make a fool of himself."

Such was the observation of Wilbur H. Clark, 43, alias Fred I. Otten, of Merrick, N. Y., who found himself today in custody of police charged with the theft of a dilapidated automobile and held under $5,000 bond.

Clark was accompanied by a 17-year-old girl, who, he said, is the daughter of the woman he loved and lost.

"I loved her mother when I was young," Clark told police. "I left home when I was 18 and when I returned she had married another man. She had two children, one of them the girl who has lived with me for the past three years. I fell in love with her, too."

Clark says he was treasurer of the school board of Merrick, N. Y., for several years and is wanted in that place for absconding with $1,200 of the boards funds. He had eluded capture for three years until he unfortunately attempted to make his getaway with the ancient auto.

"As treasurer of the Merrick school board I was entrusted with about $145,000" Clark said, "and I have been sufficiently respected by the citizens of the city to be re-elected to the post time and again. Here I am in jail, charged with the theft of an automobile worth less than $50."

Blizzard Lashes State

AKRON, April 1.—The western blizzard reached Akron about 5 o'clock last night and today the air was filled with driving particles of sleet and snow, resembling a January storm. One inch of snow fell during the night, and the wind drifted it in some places to a depth of four to eight inches. No damage has been reported as a result of the near gale which ushered in the snowfall.

KENTON, April 1.—A raging wind and snowstorm that struck Hardin county early last night was continuing today. Slight damage was done to trees and signs and no serious losses have been reported.

Wind's Velocity Hits 50 Miles.

MANSFIELD, April 1—The blizzard which swept the middle west Wednesday night left Mansfield and Richmond county covered with a coating of ice and snow today. Drifts several feet deep were reported, although the snowfall was comparatively light. Damage was slight, although several trees were blown down in the residential sections of the city and the ice-covered streets caused many minor accidents. The temperature this morning was 33 degrees.

DAYTON, April 1.—Nothing indicative of the presence of spring was seen in the weather here during the last 24 hours. Following a heavy downpour of rain yesterday morning the mercury began to drop and this morning stood at 22 degrees, accompanied by high winds and intermittent snow. Many telephone and telegraph poles were blown over and roofs torn from their moorings.

The wind reached a velocity of 50 miles an hour here and at Brandt, north of Dayton, the wind was strong enough to move parked automobiles and did some damage to buildings in and around that village.

Another Storm in the West.

CHICAGO, April 1.—On the heels of clear skies in the mid-west that had promised early relief from the record blizzard of the last few days, Kansas and western Missouri were staggered again today by a second snowstorm of blizzard proportions.

Reports from Topeka and Kansas City said there were no signs of its abating.

The storm hit Kansas at dawn and moving eastward was raging in western Missouri at 9 o'clock. It came out of the northwest.

Drifts again were piling high and traffic, which had begun to recover, was again tied up.

Illinois and Iowa had not yet been touched by the new snow menace.

Weather forecasts over the entire mid-west were for more snow late today and tonight.

LABOR LEADERS SPEAK AT MEET

Unions Justifiable, Workers are Told at Rally.

A plea for organized labor was voiced by Charles J. Case, Cincinnati, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio State Building Trades Council, and Arnold Bill, Cleveland, third vice president of the Ohio Federation of Labor, at a labor rally in the high school auditorium last night under auspices of Trades and Labor council.

Pointing out that labor unions are justifiable organizations, the speakers appealed to unorganized trades and crafts to take advantage of the benefits derived from being unionized. Doctors, lawyers, dentists and manufacturers have organizations for the protection of their business, they said, and the same right is extended the working man.

Charles J. Higgins, president of Trades and Labor council, was chairman of the meeting. Piano solos were rendered by Miss Lucile Orin. Miss Mildred Weaver, soprano, sang two numbers, "As I Pass By Your Window" and "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise." Albert Manton, student director of the Ohio Wesleyan Glee club, who is spending the spring vacation here, rendered "Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride" and "A Rose in the Bud." Miss Orin was the accompanist.

Stork Outdistances Death Angel Here During Past Month

The stork outdistanced the death angel in East Liverpool during March, according to the report of Mrs. Alice M. Davidson, deputy registrar of vital statistics, submitted to the board of health last evening.

The births totalled 53, of which 20 were males and 30 females. There were 35 deaths, of which 19 were males and 16 females.

Health Commissioner John Fraser reported 16 new cases admitted to the clinic, making a total of 894 since the place opened. During the month 109 male and 48 female treatments were given. There were 11 cases of scarlet fever, one of diphtheria, one of smallpox, three of measles and one occupational disease.

The board discussed the need of a sanitary sewer along Daisy alley and ordered a cleanup of the private property adjacent to a run which empties into a sewer near the head of the alley.

MINERS' LEADER CONDEMNS USE OF INJUNCTION

Van A. Bittner Speaks at Mass Meeting in Fairmont.

UNDER SENTENCE

Union Men Observe Anniversary of Eight-hour Work Day.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Apr. 1.—"Some day the courts will learn that the conduct of human beings and their institutions cannot be regulated by injunction, Van A. Bittner, of Pittsburgh, chief organizer of the United Mine Workers in northern West Virginia, declared here today.

Bittner addressed a mass meeting of union miners who assembled here to celebrate the twenty-ninth anniversary of the eight-hour working day. He recently was sentenced to serve six months in jail and pay a $500 fine for contempt of court in connection with his union activities.

The union organizer is to appear before Judge Grant Lazelle, in Morgantown, on April 8, to begin serving his sentence, which was upheld by the state supreme court.

"Injunctions issued in violation of the law are unconstitutional," Bittner continued. "It shall ever be the purpose of the United Mine Workers to fight injunctions of this type.

"The mere fact that a man must serve terms in prison for alleged violation of these injunctions is only a passing event and the great principle of American freedom is bound to prevail.

"The right of miners to organize and bargain collectively is recognized everywhere in the United States. The United Mine Workers of America is a trade union that is recognized in every state as the only institution of its kind that can and has protected miners and their families.

"Miners of northern West Virginia will no more desert the United Mine Workers than will West Virginia leave the United States and form a separate government of her own.

"Coal operators in northern West Virginia will admit that if all coal operators paid the union wage scale it would tend toward real economic stabilization of the coal mining industry.

"The United Mine workers will ultimately be successful in organizing all miners in northern West Virginia. This is inevitable. When our task is accomplished the miner will receive a decent wage and the operator will make a fair profit."

YOU FOLKS WITH ACHES AND PAINS CAN GET QUICK RELIEF

Nationally Known Baseball Trainer Says It Does Not Matter Whether It Is Lumbago, Sciatica, Neuralgia or Neuritis

LINIMENT HE USES ON BIG LEAGUE BALL PLAYERS STOPS PAIN QUICK

Tells How to Stop Pains, Aches, Lame Back Quickly

READ WHAT THIS EXPERT SAYS BELOW

For 25 years I have studied how to keep men in perfect physical condition and my experience makes me certain I can take a person no matter how much they ache and hurt from rheumatism, lame back, neuritis, lumbago, or neuralgia and quickly have them feeling like running a foot race or a home run.

Ball players after getting up a sweat often play an inning or two in the rain and them damp, cold and chilled to the bone, catch trains, with result that next day they show up at the ball park so crippled with rheumatism, lameness and stiff joints that they can hardly walk. An ordinary liniment would never fix them up quickly, but the liniment we use does the trick, declares Mike Martin, general trainer of the Washington baseball club.

FANS KNOW MIKE

So many people with rheumatism, lame backs, neuritis and neuralgia have wanted this liniment which we use at the ball park that bottles are mailed all over the country and now it can be obtained at Carnahan Drug Co., or any good drug store, in small bottles for a few cents. Just ask for Mike Martin's Liniment. It is guaranteed to be the finest, speediest liniment made and will bring complete relief to user or money refunded. Folder enclosed with each bottle tells how to use this liniment. If people out of town cannot get Mike Martin's liniment they should send a dollar for large family size bottle to Mike Martin, Trainer, Washington, D. C. It is a wonderful liniment. No man or woman with aches or pains should do without it.

CHAPMAN ASKS NEW TRIAL IN DEATH FIGHT

Attorneys Make Last Move to Save Bandit.

HE IS GLOOMY

Slayer is to Hang in Connecticut Next Monday.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 1.—Rebuffed at every turn, attorneys for Gerald Chapman, the notorious bandit, today planned to make at least one more desperate effort to save him from the gallows.

They advised Chapman, who sits moodily in his cell at Whethersfield prison, that they will apply to State Superior Court Judge Marvin for a new trial.

They will submit four affidavits to the court and, if the judge thinks necessary, will offer the four affiants in person for examination. It is on the evidence of these witnesses that Chapman's lawyers think the bandit should be given another trial.

Chapman is to hang next Monday night, shortly after midnight, and the present outlook is that there is little likelihood of official or judicial intervention.

The once widely-heralded "superbandit" realizes that he is nearing the end of his rope.

As the clock ticks off the minutes to the hour of his doom, he grimly paces his cell or sits in silence and has very little to say to any one, save his lawyers. The spark of hope burns in Chapman's heart, albeit faintly.

Scores of newspapermen are arriving in [illegible] for the hanging. Officials at the jail and at the attorney's office were confident nothing will take place that will prevent the execution at the scheduled time.

It had seemed to all except Chapman's lawyers that the bandit's last hope flickered out last night when Governor John H. Trumbull refused to reprieve Chapman. He had signed three reprieves for Chapman and he told the bandit's chief counsel, Frederick J. Groehl, that he would not sign another. Groehl left the governor's office, apparently disheartened, but still determined to leave no stone unturned to save Chapman's life.

The appeal to Judge Marvin probably will be made some time today, as the time for the hanging is rapidly approaching, and there are but two court days left—today and Monday. Friday and Saturday are court holidays.

IN MEMORIAM.

Sacred to the memory of our dear husband and father, John O'Hanlon, who was called home one year ago today, April 1, 1925.

We have lost our soul's companion
A life linked with our own.
One in hope, in love, in feeling,
Death divided, now alone.

Not far away, not broken
Is the golden chain of love;
Is binding us still together
On earth and in heaven above.

Sadly missed by his wife,

cans that would limit the size and power of business units in the United States.

FORTUNATELY this country need not fear Europe's steel trust. We have plenty of steel and coal and, most important, we have the tariff. If it came to a fight we could do some dumping of steel products all over the world that would surprise the European combination.

AVIATION engineers in Berlin plan a 10-hour flying service between Hamburg and New York, a thing that will be a commonplace of transportation within a generation.

The German plan includes a suggestion printed several times in this column, namely, establishment of an air route six or seven miles up in the air where there are no vertical squalls, fogs, blizzards, hurricanes, cyclones or high winds of any kind.

LATER, enormous lighter-than-air machines will travel in those high regions, coming down at long intervals, only for repairs. They will drop passengers, in smaller airships, at London, Paris, Peking, etc., as the big steamers used to drop passengers for Liverpool on little tugs in the Mersey.

AFTER her husband had confessed to various crimes, including murder, his wife told the New York detectives, "my husband always gave me plenty of money, but I didn't know he was a criminal. I thought he made his money running in whisky from Canada.

That shows that bootlegging, encouraged by the "better element," is [illegible] seriously in certain circles.

Lions' club. He pointed out that school principals had been entertained in an effort to obtain their co-operation in the campaign. City officials were guests at another meeting at which traffic law enforcement was discussed. The last move was to enroll other clubs in a city-wide movement to make the streets and highways safer for the pedestrian and automobile driver.

Superintendent Wills of the traction company outlined a safety campaign plan used at Wheeling a few years ago. As a result of this drive, he declared, accidents had been reduced. He suggested newspaper and billboard advertising, safety buttons for school children, stickers for automobile windshields and a parade in which business men and manufacturers would be asked to provide floats. He said that the street car company would provide a flat car to display wrecked automobile, due to "someone's carelessness."

Chief of Police McDermott declared that the public failed to observe the traffic signs and urged that all violators be reported. He charged that "jay-walking" was responsible for many accidents and recommended that liability insurance should be made a requirement of all automobile owners to protect the pedestrian in case of accident. Plans are being worked out, he declared, for a "stop" at the corner of Jackson and Fifth street.

McLain condemned the practice of "jay-walking." Emmett Mylar, president of the Lion's club, said that the license numbers and names of violators should be reported to the police.

Director Moore declared that many automobile owners violated speed regulations at cross streets. The city ordinance fixes the speed rate at crossings at 1 5miles an hour, Moore said.

Municipal Judge Hanley pointed out the need for cable fences along Pennsylvania avenue, River road and Lisbon street hill. The county, he declared, maintains strong guard rails along the county roads and the city should do likewise along dangerous thoroughfares within the corporation. All violators who have been brought before him, have been fined, he said.

"Think safety" was the suggestion of Prof. Rist. "If we can get the people to think along this line we will accomplish considerable," he said.

Although he was prevented from attending the meeting because of a conflicting engagement, Secretary Diehl, of the automobile club, forwarded suggestions which the committee probably will use. He urged that slides be used in theatres and that Boy Scouts do traffic duty. He offered the use of a motion picture.

Frank Sawney pointed out that violators should be fined for their first offense.

R. J. McElravy suggested a mass meeting to hear the organization committee's report at a later date.

N. P. Kerr, president of council, declared that the pedestrian was as much to blame for accidents as the automobile driver. He said that an educational campaign is necessary.

T. V. Milligan asserted that the fining of first offenders would have a better effect than if they were discharged with a warning. A. E. Harris opposed the plan of putting "stop" regulations in effect at the foot of the Lisbon street hill. He suggested that West Eighth street should be lined and west bound cars for Wellsville compelled to make a stop in an effort to relieve the hazards existing at the junction of Lisbon and West Eighth streets.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 1.—Stocks of the oil and motor companies forged ahead in early trading today, in continuance of Wednesday's closing rally.

Comparisons of prices of leading stocks today with Tuesday's low levels reveals numerous gains of five to 10 points, while the general market average has risen about four points. The turn in the market has been due largely to the lifting of selling pressure against the speculative stock leaders, which in a comparatively short time forced an enormous amount of liquidation of long stocks by the general public. It is too early to say whether the end of the decline has been reached or not.

FUNNY HOW MAN WAITS UNTIL HE IS 40 TO MAKE FOOL OF SELF," SAYS PRISONER

W. H. Clark, 43, of Merrick, N. Y., Arrested for Theft of Old Automobile and Held Under $5,000 Bond.

DAYTON, O., April 1.—"It's funny how a man waits until he is 40 to make a fool of himself."

Such was the observation of Wilbur H. Clark, 43, alias Fred I. Otten, of Merrick, N. Y., who found himself today in custody of police charged with the theft of a dilapidated automobile and held under $5,000 bond.

Clark was accompanied by a 17-year-old girl, who, he said, is the daughter of the woman he loved and lost.

"I loved her mother when I was young," Clark told police. "I left home when I was 18 and when I returned she had married another man. She had two children, one of them the girl who has lived with me for the past three years. I fell in love with her, too."

Clark says he was treasurer of the school board of Merrick, N. Y., for several years and is wanted in that place for absconding with $1,200 of the boards funds. He had eluded capture for three years until he unfortunately attempted to make his getaway with the ancient auto.

"As treasurer of the Merrick school board I was entrusted with about $145,000" Clark said, "and I have been sufficiently respected by the citizens of the city to be re-elected to the post time and again. Here I am in jail, charged with the theft of an automobile worth less than $50."

Blizzard Lashes State

AKRON, April 1.—The western blizzard reached Akron about 5 o'clock last night and today the air was filled with driving particles of sleet and snow, resembling a January storm. One inch of snow fell during the night, and the wind drifted it in some places to a depth of four to eight inches. No damage has been reported as a result of the near gale which ushered in the snowfall.

KENTON, April 1.—A raging wind and snowstorm that struck Hardin county early last night was continuing today. Slight damage was done to trees and signs and no serious losses have been reported.

Wind's Velocity Hits 50 Miles.

MANSFIELD, April 1—The blizzard which swept the middle west Wednesday night left Mansfield and Richmond county covered with a coating of ice and snow today. Drifts several feet deep were reported, although the snowfall was comparatively light. Damage was slight, although several trees were blown down in the residential sections of the city and the ice-covered streets caused many minor accidents. The temperature this morning was 33 degrees.

DAYTON, April 1.—Nothing indicative of the presence of spring was seen in the weather here during the last 24 hours. Following a heavy downpour of rain yesterday morning the mercury began to drop and this morning stood at 22 degrees, accompanied by high winds and intermittent snow. Many telephone and telegraph poles were blown over and roofs torn from their moorings.

The wind reached a velocity of 50 miles an hour here and at Brandt, north of Dayton, the wind was strong enough to move parked automobiles and did some damage to buildings in and around that village.

Another Storm in the West.

CHICAGO, April 1.—On the heels of clear skies in the mid-west that had promised early relief from the record blizzard of the last few days, Kansas and western Missouri were staggered again today by a second snowstorm of blizzard proportions.

Reports from Topeka and Kansas City said there were no signs of its abating.

The storm hit Kansas at dawn and moving eastward was raging in western Missouri at 9 o'clock. It came out of the northwest.

Drifts again were piling high and traffic, which had begun to recover, was again tied up.

Illinois and Iowa had not yet been touched by the new snow menace.

Weather forecasts over the entire mid-west were for more snow late today and tonight.

LABOR LEADERS SPEAK AT MEET

Unions Justifiable, Workers are Told at Rally.

A plea for organized labor was voiced by Charles J. Case, Cincinnati, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio State Building Trades Council, and Arnold Bill, Cleveland, third vice president of the Ohio Federation of Labor, at a labor rally in the high school auditorium last night under auspices of Trades and Labor council.

Pointing out that labor unions are justifiable organizations, the speakers appealed to unorganized trades and crafts to take advantage of the benefits derived from being unionized. Doctors, lawyers, dentists and manufacturers have organizations for the protection of their business, they said, and the same right is extended the working man.

Charles J. Higgins, president of Trades and Labor council, was chairman of the meeting. Piano solos were rendered by Miss Lucile Orin. Miss Mildred Weaver, soprano, sang two numbers, "As I Pass By Your Window" and "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise." Albert Manton, student director of the Ohio Wesleyan Glee club, who is spending the spring vacation here, rendered "Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride" and "A Rose in the Bud." Miss Orin was the accompanist.

Stork Outdistances Death Angel Here During Past Month

The stork outdistanced the death angel in East Liverpool during March, according to the report of Mrs. Alice M. Davidson, deputy registrar of vital statistics, submitted to the board of health last evening.

The births totalled 53, of which 23 were males and 30 females. There were 35 deaths, of which 19 were males and 16 females.

Health Commissioner John Fraser reported 16 new cases admitted to the clinic, making a total of 894 since the place opened. During the month 109 male and 48 female treatments were given. There were 11 cases of scarlet fever, one of diphtheria, one of smallpox, three of measles and one occupational disease.

The board discussed the need of a sanitary sewer along Daisy alley and ordered a cleanup of the private property adjacent to a run which empties into a sewer near the head of the alley.

MINERS' LEADER CONDEMNS USE OF INJUNCTION

Van A. Bittner Speaks at Mass Meeting in Fairmont.

UNDER SENTENCE

Union Men Observe Anniversary of Eight-hour Work Day.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Apr. 1.—"Some day the courts will learn that the conduct of human beings and their institutions cannot be regulated by injunction, Van A. Bittner, of Pittsburgh, chief organizer of the United Mine Workers in northern West Virginia, declared here today.

Bittner addressed a mass meeting of union miners who assembled here to celebrate the twenty-ninth anniversary of the eight-hour working day. He recently was sentenced to serve six months in jail and pay a $500 fine for contempt of court in connection with his union activities.

The union organizer is to appear before Judge Grant Lazelle, in Morgantown, on April 8, to begin serving his sentence, which was upheld by the state supreme court.

"Injunctions issued in violation of the law are unconstitutional," Bittner continued. "It shall ever be the purpose of the United Mine Workers to fight injunctions of this type.

"The mere fact that a man must serve terms in prison for alleged violation of these injunctions is only a passing event and the great principle of American freedom is bound to prevail.

"The right of miners to organize and bargain collectively is recognized everywhere in the United States. The United Mine Workers of America is a trade union that is recognized in every state as the only institution of its kind that can and has protected miners and their families.

"Miners of northern West Virginia will no more desert the United Mine Workers than will West Virginia leave the United States and form a separate government of her own.

"Coal operators in northern West Virginia will admit that if all coal operators paid the union wage scale it would tend toward real economic stabilization of the coal mining industry.

"The United Mine workers will ultimately be successful in organizing all miners in northern West Virginia. This is inevitable. When our task is accomplished the miner will receive a decent wage and the operator will make a fair profit."

YOU FOLKS WITH ACHES AND PAINS CAN GET QUICK RELIEF

Nationally Known Baseball Trainer Says It Does Not Matter Whether It Is Lumbago, Sciatica, Neuralgia or Neuritis

LINIMENT HE USES ON BIG LEAGUE BALL PLAYERS STOPS PAIN QUICK

READ WHAT THIS EXPERT SAYS BELOW

For 25 years I have studied how to keep men in perfect physical condition and my experience makes me certain I can take a person no matter how much they ache and hurt from rheumatism, lame back, neuritis, lumbago, or neuralgia and quickly have them feeling like running a foot race or a home run.

Ball players after getting up a sweat often play an inning or two in the rain and them damp, cold and chilled to the bone, catch trains, with result that next day they show up at the ball park so crippled with rheumatism, lameness and stiff joints that they can hardly walk. An ordinary liniment would never fix them up quickly, but the liniment we use does the trick, declares Mike Martin, general trainer of the Washington baseball club.

FANS KNOW MIKE

So many people with rheumatism, lame backs, neuritis and neuralgia have wanted this liniment which we use at the ball park that bottles are mailed all over the country and now it can be obtained at Carnahan Drug Co., or any good drug store, in small bottles for a few cents. Just ask for Mike Martin's Liniment. It is guaranteed to be the finest, speediest liniment made and will bring complete relief to user or money refunded. Folder enclosed with each bottle tells how to use this liniment. If people out of town cannot get Mike Martin's liniment they should send a dollar for large family size bottle to Mike Martin, Trainer, Washington, D. C. It is a wonderful liniment. No man or woman with aches or pains should do without it.

CHAPMAN ASKS NEW TRIAL IN DEATH FIGHT

Attorneys Make Last Move to Save Bandit.

HE IS GLOOMY

Slayer is to Hang in Connecticut Next Monday.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 1.—Rebuffed at every turn, attorneys for Gerald Chapman, the notorious bandit, today planned to make at least one more desperate effort to save him from the gallows.

They advised Chapman, who sits moodily in his cell at Whethersfield prison, that they will apply to State Superior Court Judge Marvin for a new trial.

They will submit four affidavits to the court and, if the judge thinks necessary, will offer the four affiants in person for examination. It is on the evidence of these witnesses that Chapman's lawyers think the bandit should be given another trial.

Chapman is to hang next Monday night, shortly after midnight, and the present outlook is that there is little likelihood of official or judicial intervention.

The once widely-heralded "superbandit" realizes that he is nearing the end of his rope.

As the clock ticks off the minutes to the hour of his doom, he grimly paces his cell or sits in silence and has very little to say to any one, save his lawyers. The spark of hope burns in Chapman's heart, albeit faintly.

Scores of newspapermen are arriving [illegible] for the hanging. Officials at the jail and at the attorney's office were confident nothing will take place that will prevent the execution at the scheduled time.

It had seemed to all except Chapman's lawyers that the bandit's last hope flickered out last night when Governor John H. Trumbull refused to reprieve Chapman. He had signed three reprieves for Chapman and he told the bandit's chief counsel, Frederick J. Groehl, that he would not sign another. Groehl left the governor's office, apparently disheartened, but still determined to leave no stone unturned to save Chapman's life.

The appeal to Judge Marvin probably will be made some time today, as the time for the hanging is rapidly approaching, and there are but two court days left—today and Monday. Friday and Saturday are court holidays.

AVIATION engineers in Berlin plan a 10-hour flying service between Hamburg and New York, a thing that will be a commonplace of transportation within a generation.

The German plan includes a suggestion printed several times in this column, namely, establishment of an air route six or seven miles up in the air where there are no vertical squalls, fogs, blizzards, hurricanes, cyclones or high winds of any kind.

LATER, enormous lighter-than-air machines will travel in those high regions, coming down at long intervals, only for repairs. They will drop passengers, in smaller airships, at London, Paris, Peking, etc., as the big steamers used to drop passengers for Liverpool on little tugs in the Mersey.

Plan Safety Drive

Lions' club. He pointed out that school principals had been entertained in an effort to obtain their co-operation in the campaign. City officials were guests at another meeting at which traffic law enforcement was discussed. The last move was to enroll other clubs in a city-wide movement to make the streets and highways safer for the pedestrian and automobile driver.

Superintendent Wills of the traction company outlined a safety campaign plan used at Wheeling a few years ago. As a result of this drive, he declared, accidents had been reduced. He suggested newspaper and billboard advertising, safety buttons for school children, stickers for automobile windshields and a parade in which business men and manufacturers would be asked to provide floats. He said that the street car company would provide a flat car to display wrecked automobile, due to "someone's carelessness."

Chief of Police McDermott declared that the public failed to observe the traffic signs and urged that all violators be reported. He charged that "jay-walking" was responsible for many accidents and recommended that liability insurance should be made a requirement of all automobile owners to protect the pedestrian in case of accident. Plans are being worked out, he declared, for a "stop" at the corner of Jackson and Fifth street.

McLain condemned the practice of "jay-walking." Emmett Mylar, president of the Lion's club, said that the license numbers and names of violators should be reported to the police.

Director Moore declared that many automobile owners violated speed regulations at cross streets. The city ordinance fixes the speed rate at crossings at 1 5miles an hour, Moore said.

Municipal Judge Hanley pointed out the need for cable fences along Pennsylvania avenue, River road and Lisbon street hill. The county, he declared, maintains strong guard rails along the county roads and the city should do likewise along dangerous thoroughfares within the corporation. All violators who have been brought before him, have been fined, he said.

"Think safety" was the suggestion of Prof. Rist. "If we can get the people to think along this line we will accomplish considerable," he said.

Although he was prevented from attending the meeting because of a conflicting engagement, Secretary Diehl, of the automobile club, forwarded suggestions which the committee probably will use. He urged that slides be used in theatres and that Boy Scouts do traffic duty. He offered the use of a motion picture.

Frank Sawney pointed out that violators should be fined for their first offense.

R. J. McElravy suggested a mass meeting to hear the organization committee's report at a later date.

N. P. Kerr, president of council, declared that the pedestrian was as much to blame for accidents as the automobile driver. He said that an educational campaign is necessary.

T. V. Milligan asserted that the fining of first offenders would have a better effect than if they were discharged with a warning. A. E. Harris opposed the plan of putting "stop" regulations in effect at the foot of the Lisbon street hill. He suggested that West Eighth street should be lined and west bound cars for Wellsville compelled to make a stop in an effort to relieve the hazards existing at the junction of Lisbon and West Eighth streets.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 1.—Stocks of the oil and motor companies forged ahead in early trading today, in continuance of Wednesday's closing rally.

Comparisons of prices of leading stocks today with Tuesday's low levels reveals numerous gains of five to 10 points, while the general market average has risen about four points. The turn in the market has been due largely to the lifting of selling pressure against the speculative stock leaders, which in a comparatively short time forced an enormous amount of liquidation of long stocks by the general public. It is too early to say whether the end of the decline has been reached or not.

FUNNY HOW MAN WAITS UNTIL HE IS 40 TO MAKE FOOL OF SELF," SAYS PRISONER

W. H. Clark, 43, of Merrick, N. Y., Arrested for Theft of Old Automobile and Held Under $5,000 Bond.

DAYTON, O., April 1.—"It's funny how a man waits until he is 40 to make a fool of himself."

Such was the observation of Wilbur H. Clark, 43, alias Fred I. Otten, of Merrick, N. Y., who found himself today in custody of police charged with the theft of a dilapidated automobile and held under $5,000 bond.

Clark was accompanied by a 17-year-old girl, who, he said, is the daughter of the woman he loved and lost.

"I loved her mother when I was young," Clark told police. "I left home when I was 18 and when I returned she had married another man. She had two children, one of them the girl who has lived with me for the past three years. I fell in love with her, too."

Clark says he was treasurer of the school board of Merrick, N. Y., for several years and is wanted in that place for absconding with $1,200 of the boards funds. He had eluded capture for three years until he unfortunately attempted to make his getaway with the ancient auto.

"As treasurer of the Merrick school board I was entrusted with about $145,000" Clark said, "and I have been sufficiently respected by the citizens of the city to be re-elected to the post time and again. Here I am in jail, charged with the theft of an automobile worth less than $50."

Blizzard Lashes State

AKRON, April 1.—The western blizzard reached Akron about 5 o'clock last night and today the air was filled with driving particles of sleet and snow, resembling a January storm. One inch of snow fell during the night, and the wind drifted it in some places to a depth of four to eight inches. No damage has been reported as a result of the near gale which ushered in the snowfall.

KENTON, April 1.—A raging wind and snowstorm that struck Hardin county early last night was continuing today. Slight damage was done to trees and signs and no serious losses have been reported.

Wind's Velocity Hits 50 Miles.

MANSFIELD, April 1—The blizzard which swept the middle west Wednesday night left Mansfield and Richmond county covered with a coating of ice and snow today. Drifts several feet deep were reported, although the snowfall was comparatively light. Damage was slight, although several trees were blown down in the residential sections of the city and the ice-covered streets caused many minor accidents. The temperature this morning was 33 degrees.

DAYTON, April 1.—Nothing indicative of the presence of spring was seen in the weather here during the last 24 hours. Following a heavy downpour of rain yesterday morning the mercury began to drop and this morning stood at 22 degrees, accompanied by high winds and intermittent snow. Many telephone and telegraph poles were blown over and roofs torn from their moorings.

The wind reached a velocity of 50 miles an hour here and at Brandt, north of Dayton, the wind was strong enough to move parked automobiles and did some damage to buildings in and around that village.

Another Storm in the West.

CHICAGO, April 1.—On the heels of clear skies in the mid-west that had promised early relief from the record blizzard of the last few days, Kansas and western Missouri were staggered again today by a second snowstorm of blizzard proportions.

Reports from Topeka and Kansas City said there were no signs of its abating.

The storm hit Kansas at dawn and moving eastward was raging in western Missouri at 9 o'clock. It came out of the northwest.

Drifts again were piling high and traffic, which had begun to recover, was again tied up.

Illinois and Iowa had not yet been touched by the new snow menace.

Weather forecasts over the entire mid-west were for more snow late today and tonight.

LABOR LEADERS SPEAK AT MEET

Unions Justifiable, Workers are Told at Rally.

A plea for organized labor was voiced by Charles J. Case, Cincinnati, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio State Building Trades Council, and Arnold Bill, Cleveland, third vice president of the Ohio Federation of Labor, at a labor rally in the high school auditorium last night under auspices of Trades and Labor council.

Pointing out that labor unions are justifiable organizations, the speakers appealed to unorganized trades and crafts to take advantage of the benefits derived from being unionized. Doctors, lawyers, dentists and manufacturers have organizations for the protection of their business, they said, and the same right is extended the working man.

Charles J. Higgins, president of Trades and Labor council, was chairman of the meeting. Piano solos were rendered by Miss Lucile Orin. Miss Mildred Weaver, soprano, sang two numbers, "As I Pass By Your Window" and "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise." Albert Manton, student director of the Ohio Wesleyan Glee club, who is spending the spring vacation here, rendered "Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride" and "A Rose in the Bud." Miss Orin was the accompanist.

Stork Outdistances Death Angel Here During Past Month

The stork outdistanced the death angel in East Liverpool during March, according to the report of Mrs. Alice M. Davidson, deputy registrar of vital statistics, submitted to the board of health last evening.

The births totalled 53, of which 20 were males and 30 females. There were 35 deaths, of which 19 were males and 16 females.

Health Commissioner John Fraser reported 16 new cases admitted to the clinic, making a total of 894 since the place opened. During the month 109 male and 48 female treatments were given. There were 11 cases of scarlet fever, one of diphtheria, one of smallpox, three of measles and one occupational disease.

The board discussed the need of a sanitary sewer along Daisy alley and ordered a cleanup of the private property adjacent to a run which empties into a sewer near the head of the alley.

MINERS' LEADER CONDEMNS USE OF INJUNCTION

Van A. Bittner Speaks at Mass Meeting in Fairmont.

UNDER SENTENCE

Union Men Observe Anniversary of Eight-hour Work Day.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Apr. 1.—"Some day the courts will learn that the conduct of human beings and their institutions cannot be regulated by injunction, Van A. Bittner, of Pittsburgh, chief organizer of the United Mine Workers in northern West Virginia, declared here today.

Bittner addressed a mass meeting of union miners who assembled here to celebrate the twenty-ninth anniversary of the eight-hour working day. He recently was sentenced to serve six months in jail and pay a $500 fine for contempt of court in connection with his union activities.

The union organizer is to appear before Judge Grant Lazelle, in Morgantown, on April 8, to begin serving his sentence, which was upheld by the state supreme court.

"Injunctions issued in violation of the law are unconstitutional," Bittner continued. "It shall ever be the purpose of the United Mine Workers to fight injunctions of this type.

"The mere fact that a man must serve terms in prison for alleged violation of these injunctions is only a passing event and the great principle of American freedom is bound to prevail.

"The right of miners to organize and bargain collectively is recognized everywhere in the United States. The United Mine Workers of America is a trade union that is recognized in every state as the only institution of its kind that can and has protected miners and their families.

"Miners of northern West Virginia will no more desert the United Mine Workers than will West Virginia leave the United States and form a separate government of her own.

"Coal operators in northern West Virginia will admit that if all coal operators paid the union wage scale it would tend toward real economic stabilization of the coal mining industry.

"The United Mine workers will ultimately be successful in organizing all miners in northern West Virginia. This is inevitable. When our task is accomplished the miner will receive a decent wage and the operator will make a fair profit."

YOU FOLKS WITH ACHES AND PAINS CAN GET QUICK RELIEF

Nationally Known Baseball Trainer Says It Does Not Matter Whether It Is Lumbago, Sciatica, Neuralgia or Neuritis

LINIMENT HE USES ON BIG LEAGUE BALL PLAYERS STOPS PAIN QUICK

READ WHAT THIS EXPERT SAYS BELOW

For 25 years I have studied how to keep men in perfect physical condition and my experience makes me certain I can take a person no matter how much they ache and hurt from rheumatism, lame back, neuritis, lumbago, or neuralgia and quickly have them feeling like running a foot race or a home run.

Ball players after getting up a sweat often play an inning or two in the rain and them damp, cold and chilled to the bone, catch trains, with result that next day they show up at the ball park so crippled with rheumatism, lameness and stiff joints that they can hardly walk. An ordinary liniment would never fix them up quickly, but the liniment we use does the trick, declares Mike Martin, general trainer of the Washington baseball club.

FANS KNOW MIKE

So many people with rheumatism, lame backs, neuritis and neuralgia have wanted this liniment which we use at the ball park that bottles are mailed all over the country and now it can be obtained at Carnahan Drug Co., or any good drug store, in small bottles for a few cents. Just ask for Mike Martin's Liniment. It is guaranteed to be the finest, speediest liniment made and will bring complete relief to user or money refunded. Folder enclosed with each bottle tells how to use this liniment. If people out of town cannot get Mike Martin's liniment they should send a dollar for large family size bottle to Mike Martin, Trainer, Washington, D. C. It is a wonderful liniment. No man or woman with aches or pains should do without it.

NEW STRIP MILL WILL BE BUILT

Weirton Steel Company Adds $5,000,000 to Expansion Program.

Another improvement program calling for the expenditure of $5,000,000 [illegible] announced today by officials of the Weirton Steel corporation. This project follows closely upon the $15,000,000 building program launched by the corporation last fall.

The latest plan for the improvement of the corporation holdings at Weirton includes the erection of a new strip mill on the site of the old Weirton baseball park. Construction work will begin between April 15 and 20 and the completed plant will offer employment to 1,500 men. The site selected for the expansion is just north of the present strip mill and measures 400 by 1,500 feet.

The Weirton Steel corporation will manufacture automobile body plating in the new plant, it was announced, this being the first instance where this product has been attempted by the West Virginia company. The general building contract for the project has been let to the United Engineering & Foundry company of Pittsburgh.

With the inauguration of the new improvement program, the Weirton corporation is planning to expend $20,000,000 on new factories along the West Virginia side of the river this year. Officials stated today the entire program should be completed by early winter and would provide employment for more than 10,000 additional employes. More than 1,100 workmen are at present engaged in construction work at Weirton and an additional force will soon be pressed into service on the new strip mill. The program outlined last fall includes the erection of a new sheet mill, a coke plant, a modern river harbor and a number of battleship blast furnaces. The first furnace will be blown in July and the coke plant will be completed by August.

The expensive improvements under way will necessitate many radical changes by the Pennsylvania railroad company in the Weirton yards. Today E. T. Whiter, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad, was in Weirton to confer with officials of the steel corporation relative to their future plans. He announced a satisfactory agreement had been reached whereby the railroad could proceed at once with the changes.

Real soap means real lather

The kind of purity you want in soap is more than freedom from injurious ingredients. You want pure, rich soap that can make a good, creamy lather in any water—it's far better than thin, half-way lather to take dirt out of the pores. Only the finest, select materials can make a soap with such lathering power as Sweetheart has. And it's kindly to the most delicate skin. A fine soap low priced in a plain box.

Christmas Has Become Tragedy, Declares Dr. John B. Koehne

Rich and Poor Should be Taught to Bring Their Gifts to Needy as Wise Men Did to Bethlehem Babe, he Says.

Christmas has become a tragedy, an idolatry and the saddest time of the year, declared Dr. John B. Koehne, Congregational minister of London, N. H., in mid-week discussion of Bible themes at the First Presbyterian church last evening. "The rich, having plenty," he said, "know not what to give their children and the poor, lacking enough, can not obtain that which they want for their descendants. Until all are taught to bring their gifts to the needy as the wise men did to the Bethlehem babe whose birth they are vainly trying to celebrate happiness will not return in the observance of this super-natal day." With beautiful imagery and compelling word pictures that were burwarked by bristling facts which dovetailed in his conclusion of Jesus Christ being superior to all known great men and therefore more than man, Dr. Koehne brilliantly developed to a logical end his evening subject: "Christ Contrasted With Great Men." He was given rapt attention throughout by his tri-church audience.

Announcement was made of tonight's theme, "The Great Miracle Problem,' by Rev. L. C. Davidson, who made the invocation and finally offered the benediction. In this evening's discourse Dr. Koehne will show the reasonableness of miracles as declared in the Scriptures.

A song service, directed by Oliver Johnson, again preceded the service in which he sang one of the late W. L. Thompson's hymns, "Better Home Sweet Home."

"There are two creeds regarding Jesus Christ," the speaker averred, "that enunciated by John the Baptist when he said of Him: 'Behold the Lamb of Bod!' and the ejaculation of Pontius Pilate: 'Behold the Man!' The skeptics and modernists, which mean the same thing, subscribe to the latter.

"You can not contract different personalities or things, but you may compare the same as mountain with mountain, city with city and man with man. But I am contrasting Christ with the world's great men.

"You have heard it said that Daniel Webster had the 'eyes of a volcano;' Milton the 'wings of an eagle' and that Clemenceau was the 'Tiger of France.' That is simply rhetoric. Yet, to none of these or any other man, was ever a hymn written, all hymns are to Christ.

"Of no great man can it be or was it ever said, 'He was the Bread of Life,' 'water that will end thirst' and the 'light of the world.' No great man ever prophesied. No great man was great as a babe as was Christ. No man yet was greater than his own race. Christ belongs now to all races. He died when a great man is at but the outset of his career."

That great men were always educated was the affirmation of Dr. Koehne. "Where did Christ get his education? he queried. Not from his mother; he had no books; nor did he have contact with great minds. Neither did he brood, as some contend, upon the great problems of the soul. At that his knowledge was so outstanding that he left no problems to be solved. He solved all that other religions left unsolved.

"It is the mark of a scholar to say 'I don't know.' Thus he said about the day of judgment. He ever replied instantly to questions of family, society the world and the future and these stand until now. The scholars of twenty centuries have not been able to impeach this sayings.

"His influence has steadly became wider and wider. He has become the fulfillment of the dream when men and women shall be clothed with righteousness.

"Who else could say: 'If I be lifted up I will draw all men to me.' Even President Coolidge does not say 'I' but the 'administration.' Whe could assert: 'Heaven and earth shall pass away but my words will endure forever. Roosevelt wanted Taft to carry on 'my policies;" Wilson had 'my 14 points;' but where are they now?

A traveling man, angered, burnt one of the Gideon Bibles in his room. The next morning, in raking up the embers he picked up a piece of paper that had not been destroyed. On it were the words "Heaven and earth will pass away, but mine will endure for ever." He accepted Christianity as a result."

Dr. Koehne went into detail as to Christ coming in the "fullness of time." He explained how the world hed exhaused by then every knowledge of God. It was at a crisis, hitherto unprecedented, the Jews encompassed in robes of beautiful prophesy; Athens in the wiles of skepticism; Egypt in sphinxlike darkness; China asleep and Rome, slipping in its armored security. "No great man came in the fullness of time." He said "Christ came in the saddest hour of the world. He arrived amidst universal moral lethargy and international skepticism. He has timed it, gradually but no less surely, by means of rough fishermen to whom He intrusted His teachings. Through these and their followers righteousness will enthrall the world."

NEW STRIP MILL WILL BE BUILT

Weirton Steel Company Adds $5,000,000 to Expansion Program.

Another improvement program calling for the expenditure of $5,000,000 was announced today by officials of the Weirton Steel corporation. This project follows closely upon the $15,000,000 building program launched by the corporation last fall.

The latest plan for the improvement of the corporation holdings at Weirton includes the erection of a new strip mill on the site of the old Weirton baseball park. Construction work will begin between April 15 and 20 and the completed plant will offer employment to 1,500 men. The site selected for the expansion is just south of the present strip mill and measures 400 by 1,500 feet.

The Weirton Steel corporation will manufacture automobile body plating in the new plant, it was announced, this being the first instance where this product has been attempted by the West Virginia company. The general building contract for the project has been let to the United Engineering & Foundry company of Pittsburgh.

With the inauguration of the new improvement program, the Weirton corporation is planning to expend $20,000,000 on new factories along the West Virginia side of the river this year. Officials stated today the entire program should be completed by early winter and would provide employment for more than 10,000 additional employes. More than 1,200 workmen are at present engaged in construction work at Weirton and an additional force will soon be pressed into service on the new strip mill. The program outlined last fall includes the erection of a new sheet mill, a coke plant, a modern river harbor and a number of battleship blast furnaces. The first furnace will be blown in July and the coke plant will be completed by August.

The expensive improvements under way will necessitate many radical changes by the Pennsylvania railroad company in the Weirton yards. Today E. T. Whiter, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad, was in Weirton to confer with officials of the steel corporation relative to their future plans. He announced a satisfactory agreement had been reached whereby the railroad could proceed at once with the changes.

Favorites Survive In Chicago Tourney

CHICAGO, April 1.—Sixteen crack teams, survivors of the first two days' play, were impatiently awaiting the gong today that would open the third round of the national interscholastic basketball tournament at the University of Chicago.

Fitchburg, Mass., and Roswell, N. M., were scheduled to open hostilities at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

The Massachusetts five have displayed some of the best basketball of the tourney. They fought their way into the third round last night by defeating the strong Billings, Montana, quintet, 33 to 20.

In yesterday's play most of the favorites came through. These include Nanticoke, Pa., Elkins, W. Va., Kansas City, Mo., Newton, Kans., Atlanta, Ga., and Wheeler, Miss.

While the playing was not sensational, several games were filled with thrills and kept the large gallery continually on its feet. Next to the Gaylord, Minn.-Memphis, Tenn., game, which the Gophers won by the narrow margin of 25 to 24, the flashiest and hardest fought game on the card was that between Elkins, W. Va., and New Trier, Ill.

The southerners were a little too heavy for Trier, but they were in a fight all the way. Trier led at the first quarter 4 to 3, but at the half Elkins was out in front, 17 to 10. Elkins was held scoreless in the third period while Trier picked up two points, but in the final the southerners pushed ahead and won, 24 to 16.

Kansas Team Wins.

Another eastern entry that gives much promise is Nanticoke, Pa., the miners' flashy victory yesterday over Salt Lake City, 39 to 26, puts them in a class with the tourney's strongest favorites, Kansas City and Newton, Kan. Nanticoke outplayed the Mormons in every department of the game, winning as it pleased.

Kansas City and Newton won their games yesterday, the former defeating Scott County, Miss., 49 to 24, and the latter swamping Lexington, Ky., 36 to 19.

Wheeler, Miss., is another impressive team that gives much promise of reaching the finals. They won with little effort yesterday over Reno, Nev., 46 to 13. Wheeler placed in last year's meet.

Atlanta, Ga., had to extend itself to win from Omaha, Neb., 22 to 16. Other second round results were:

Salem, S. D., 37; Danville, Ky., 11.

Roswell, N. M., 35; Hagerstown, Md., 30.

Fargo, N. D., 28; Oak Ridge, La., 19.

El Reno, Okla., 45; Newton, Ia., 12.

Pine Bluff, Ark., 36; Cheyenne, Wyo., 21.

Pueblo, Colo., 27; Charleston, S. C., 10.

Today's Pairings.

The defeat of the Charleston quintet was something of an upset since they rated as one of the strongest fives entered in the meet. Little was known of the Colorado team, but their impressive showing in the final game last night against the strong Carolina five indicates there is more to be heard from them.

Today's pairings:

1 p. m.—Roswell, N. M., vs Fitchburg, Mass.

2 p. m.—Wheeler, Miss., vs Nanticoke, Pa.

3 p. m.—Atlanta, Ga., vs Gaylord, Minn.

5 p. m.—Fargo, N. D., vs Elkins, W. Va.

6 p. m.—San Antonio, Tex., vs Pine Bluff, Ark.

7 p. m.—Salem, S. D., vs Kansas City, Mo.

8 p. m.—El Reno, Okla., vs Newton, Kan.

9 p. m.—Pueblo, Col., vs Durham, N. C.

O'NEILL PLANS TO 'COME BACK'

Working Out Now With Toronto International Club.

By Norman E. Brown.

Found an old friend working out with the Toronto International league club during my sojourn in the south. Steve O'Neill, for years catching ace of the Cleveland Indians, was the man.

Steve is starting out to do a comeback in the big show and believes he has landed with the proper club for his purpose.

O'Neill was given his unconditional release by the New York Yankees last fall when Huggins decided to get rid of several vets. Steve waited for other big league clubs to pick him up and then signed with the Int team. With Dan Howley's outfit O'Neill will be worked day in and day out—the thing he needs to keep his weight down. Howley assigned him behind the plate the plate the first day out and when I saw the team in action at Asheville, N. C., Steve looked thinner than he has for, lo, these many campaigns.

STEVE O'NEILL

The mystery to me is why three or four of the big league clubs failed to grab O'Neill.

Of course Huggins made a mistake in allowing both O'Neill and Schang to depart. Huggins hasn't a capable all-around catcher on his ball club today.

The Cleveland Indians could have used him one more season, while building up their pitching staff.

The Brooklyn Dodgers could use him.

But O'Neill isn't worrying over spilled milk.

"I figure on being back next year," says Steve. And in the meanwhile Howley is counting on the vet to guide his young pitchers, including Owen Carroll, through to another big year for the Canadian team, which finished second last year in the Int league.

Elmer Myers, curve ball artist, once a member of the Athletics and then the Indians, is expected to bolster the hurling staff of the Baltimore Orioles this season. Myers was one of a trio of players the Mackmen traded to Cleveland one time for Bobby Roth, restless soul of baseball. Larry Gardner, veteran third baseman of the Red Sox machine, was the second man, and Charley Jamieson, pitcher and outfielder, was thrown in. He is the only man involved who is still in the game—and he is still very much in it.

Gene Tunney, it is hinted, may retire after his long awaited battle with Jack Dempsey—if the contest ever takes place. This is interesting. We will be expected to get all steamed up over a bout that will either leave Dempsey the non-fighting champ or replace him with another gentleman who has no idea of keeping the boxing game alive by showing the interest a champ should show.

Fight Results

At Los Angeles—Fidel La Barba, flyweight champion of the world, crushed the title aspiration of a dangerous contender when he won a referee's decision over Clever Sencio, Filipino boxer. La Barba won seven of the ten rounds and had Sencio hanging on at the finish.

At Oakland, Cal.—Roland Todd, British light heavyweight, and Frankie Campbell, hard hitting San Francisco boxer, fought a ten round draw.

Akron, O.—Maxie Holub, Akron, defeated Louis D'Arco, Cleveland, 10 rounds. Tommy Hughes, Cleveland, defeated Andy Tomaskey, McKeesport, eight rounds. Johnny Hannison, Akron, defeated Jimmy Perry, Alliance, six rounds. K. O. Kelley, Akron, knocked out Wildcat Lennings, Cleveland, four rounds. Phil Goldstein, Cleveland, slightly shaded Mickey Satnick, Akron, six rounds.

L. M. Thomas, of this city, and H. G. Posey, of Midland, Pa., will enter the 135 and 148 pound classes, respectively.

Thomas, a former member of the Ohio University wrestling team, has been working out in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium all winter. He has been acting as instructor for a group of men on Tuesday and Friday evenings, following the regular senior men's "gym" class. The instruction is open to all members who wish to participate.

NEW YORK, April 1.—Tex Rickard's "important announcement," to be made today, will concern plans for Jack Dempsey to defend his title at the Yankee stadium in September, according to reports in circulation.

Ted Hunselman Sent To Newell In Trade

Star Backstop is Accompanied by Crawford, Young Outfielder; Both Clubs Add Strength by Transaction.

THE Newell Homer Laughlin and the Trotter clubs of the Industrial Baseball league today announced the consummation of a trade in which Catcher Ted Hunselman and Outfielder Crawford of the local aggregation go to the West Virginians for Outfielder Kent McConnell.

The deal was put through at a conference last night attended by Manager John Fowler and Captain Eddie Bayley of the Trotter combine and Manager Sol McCoy and Joseph Dickey of the Laughlin club.

Crawford, an agile, promising young performer, was recently traded to Trotters by the Hall China club which early this year acquired the franchise of the Babcock & Wilcox team, the East Enders retiring from the circuit.

McConnell is one of the leading players of the league. Although he works usually in the outfield, he possesses the desirable qualifications of being able to fulfill a utility role in any position, including the battery points.

Hunselman ranks as one of the best backstops in the Industrial circuit, experience with the big mitt covering a long period of years.

As a result, both clubs are expected to profit by the trade.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEAMS BATTLE

Park Boulevards will clash with First Presbyterians in a Sunday School league contest tonight on the Y. M. C. A. court, the game starting at 8:15.

The winner of the game will meet the United Presbyterians on the Y. M. C. A. floor.

TRADE RUMOR NAMES TERRY

M'Graw May Part With Him for Left Handed Pitcher.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 1.—There may be a deal consummated within a matter of days whereby the New York Giants will become richer by one first-class left hand pitcher and poorer by one second-class first baseman who happens to be a first-class hitter. The latter is Bill Terry, one of the real die-hards of the 1926 holdout crop, and everything depends on how the young man greets John McGraw when the Giants reach Memphis tonight or tomorrow.

Rumors today linked the names of Johnny Cooney and Wilbur Cooper, prospective Boston and Chicago left hand pitchers, with the prospective trade, although credible details were lacking.

All that the keyhole champions had to go on was the statement that solicitous inquiries regarding Terry had reached McGraw from at least two other National league clubs and the fact that McGraw and Dave Bancroft, of the Braves, met by appointment at Tampa several days ago. It was said at the time that Bancroft wanted to make Terry into an outfielder, so that he, Bancroft, might be able to muster a punch that the Braves now lack.

McGraw's reply to all inquiries was declared to have been a demand for a left hand pitcher and the Braves have only one of any consequences, namely the aforementioned Cooney. This fact alone would have been sufficient to send Bancroft from the Tampa conference with his money sewed in the lining of his vest.

Cubs May Figure.

It is possible he decided he needed Terry less than he needs the only left handed winner of his outfit.

Cooper came into the speculations only by a process of elimination, the Cubs being a club that would esteem Terry for his long distance hitting against Chicago's short distance fences. It was decided, therefore, that the Cubs were the other club that had evinced interest in the player.

The further fact that Cooper was said to be on the market before the Cubs went to Catalina lent color to the Chicago angle. However, the chances of the Cubs and Giants doing business at this time were in proportion to the number of miles separating them, which are plenty.

Still, McGraw has made no attempt to conceal the fact that he is far from pleased with a man who has played two years as a substitute, yet demands a two-year contract at $10,000. There isn't a doubt that he will trade Terry if he can get what he wants for him and that goes regardless of whether the gentleman sings during the Giants' stay in Memphis.

Anyhow, this much can be written down in the book: If Terry does not sign on the occasion in question, it is altogether likely that he will play ball with another National league club this season.

You'd hardly say the telephone girl has either a business or a profession. Just a calling.—Zanesville Signal.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

In applying my "stright line" principle in the swing the player begins the forward swing with a general forward movement of his whole body and by that I mean forward on a straight line, toward the line of flight for the ball.

This movement shifts all the weight over to the left leg. This leg then stiffens and stops the weight movement. The left arm, straight clear down with the swing, then sweeps the clubhead down toward the ball. When the clubhead is near the ball the right hand will go into it instinctively. Just as the clubhead meets the ball—not before that—you shoot the left hip right into it. This gives the swing that "drag down" appearance the clubhead always has when you see good golfers swing. It is a drag down—practically all the way with the left arm pulling. The sense of it, however, is that the body moves forward—not around.

Tiger-Hilltop Nines In Baseball Opener

The Tigers collected five hits and the Hilltops two.

BUFFALO STARS ON A. B. C. ALLEYS

TOLEDO, O., April 1.—Buffalo's best will be on the drives of the A. B. C. tournament here tonight, among them the Weisser Blue Ribbons, last year's international champion five.

Hoefler Ice Cream, captained by Joe West, the human kangaroo of the bowling game and likewise one of the country's best pinsters, and the Liberty Bank, in whose lineup are the Caruana brothers, Frank and Joe, are the leading Bison city fives. There will be 24 outfits from that city in action.

Detroit, St. Louis, Chicago, Monroe, Sherrill, Watertown, Akron, Milwaukee and New York quintets are scheduled also. Prominent among the latter is the inter-city team of New York, led by Alec Dunbar, one of the country's best known bowlers.

Chicago carried away high team honors last night when the L. Redmans totalled 2917. This was well away from the leaders, however. Other good figures were W. P. Ternes, Detroit, 2889; Wreckers, Detroit, 2829; Navarre Hotel, Toledo, 2844.

The Paige Dairys and Toledo Steel Products, Toledo's leading star teams, failed to hit out of the 2700 class.

It was the afternoon work of Detroit bowlers that was the big feature, Harry Gerloski of the Michigan metropolis hammering his way into first place in the all events with a nine-game total of 1981.

Ted Hunselman Sent To Newell In Trade

Star Backstop is Accompanied by Crawford, Young Outfielder; Both Clubs Add Strength by Transaction.

THE Newell Homer Laughlin and the Trotter clubs of the Industrial Baseball league today announced the consummation of a trade in which Catcher Ted Hunselman and Outfielder Crawford of the local aggregation go to the West Virginians for Outfielder Kent McConnell.

The deal was put through at a conference last night attended by Manager John Fowler and Captain Eddie Bayley of the Trotter combine and Manager Sol McCoy and Joseph Dickey of the Laughlin club.

Crawford, an agile, promising young performer, was recently traded to Trotters by the Hall China club which early this year acquired the franchise of the Babcock & Wilcox team, the East Enders retiring from the circuit.

McConnell is one of the leading players of the league. Although he works usually in the outfield, he possesses the desirable qualifications of being able to fulfill a utility role in any position, including the battery points.

Hunselman ranks as one of the best backstops in the Industrial circuit experience with the big mitt co[illegible] a long period of years.

As a result, both clubs are expected to profit by the trade.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEAMS BATTLE

Park Boulevards will clash with First Presbyterians in a Sunday School league contest tonight on the Y. M. C. A. court, the game starting at 8:15.

The winner of the game will meet the United Presbyterians on the Y. M. C. A. floor.

MY SWEETHEART!

Trotters Obtain McConnell In Deal With Homer Laughli

Favorites Survive In Chicago Tourney

CHICAGO, April 1.—Sixteen crack teams, survivors of the first two days' play, were impatiently awaiting the gong today that would open the third round of the national interscholastic basketball tournament at the University of Chicago.

Fitchburg, Mass., and Roswell, N. M., were scheduled to open hostilities at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

The Massachusetts five have displayed some of the best basketball of the tourney. They fought their way into the third round last night by defeating the strong Billings, Montana, quintet, 33 to 20.

In yesterday's play most of the favorites came through. These include Nanticoke, Pa., Elkins, W. Va., Kansas City, Mo., Newton, Kans., Atlanta, Ga., and Wheeler, Miss.

While the playing was not sensational, several games were filled with thrills and kept the large gallery continually on its feet. Next to the Gaylord, Minn.-Memphis, Tenn., game, which the Gophers won by the narrow margin of 25 to 24, the flashiest and hardest fought game on the card was that between Elkins, W. Va., and New Trier, Ill.

The southerners were a little too heavy for Trier, but they were in a fight all the way. Trier led at the first quarter 4 to 3, but at the half Elkins was out in front, 17 to 10. Elkins was held scoreless in the third period while Trier picked up two points, but in the final the southerners pushed ahead and won, 24 to 16.

Kansas Team Wins.

Another eastern entry that gives much promise is Nanticoke, Pa., the miners' flashy victory yesterday over Salt Lake City, 39 to 26, puts them in a class with the tourney's strongest favorites, Kansas City and Newton, Kan. Nanticoke outplayed the Mormons in every department of the game, winning as it pleased.

Kansas City and Newton won their games yesterday, the former defeating Scott County, Miss., 49 to 24, and the latter swamping Lexington, Ky., 36 to 19.

Wheeler, Miss., is another impressive team that gives much promise of reaching the finals. They won with little effort yesterday over Reno, Nev., 46 to 13. Wheeler placed in last year's meet.

Atlanta, Ga., had to extend itself to win from Omaha, Neb., 22 to 16. Other second round results were:

Salem, S. D., 37; Danville, Ky., 11.

Roswell, N. M., 35; Hagerstown, Md., 30.

Fargo, N. D., 28; Oak Ridge, La., 19.

El Reno, Okla., 45; Newton, Ia., 12.

Pine Bluff, Ark., 36; Cheyenne, Wyo., 21.

Pueblo, Colo., 27; Charleston, S. C., 10.

Today's Pairings.

The defeat of the Charleston quintet was something of an upset since they rated as one of the strongest fives entered in the meet. Little was known of the Colorado team, but their impressive showing in the final game last night against the strong Carolina five indicates there is more to be heard from them.

Today's pairings:

1 p. m.—Roswell, N. M., vs Fitchburg, Mass.

2 p. m.—Wheeler, Miss., vs Nanticoke, Pa.

3 p. m.—Atlanta, Ga., vs Gaylord, Minn.

5 p. m.—Fargo, N. D., vs Elkins, W. Va.

6 p. m.—San Antonio, Tex., vs Pine Bluff, Ark.

7 p. m.—Salem, S. D., vs Kansas City, Mo.

8 p. m.—El Reno, Okla., vs Newton, Kan.

9 p. m.—Pueblo, Col., vs Durham, N. C.

O'NEILL PLANS TO 'COME BACK'

Working Out Now With Toronto International Club.

By Norman E. Brown.

Found an old friend working out with the Toronto International league club during my sojourn in the south. Steve O'Neill, for years catching ace of the Cleveland Indians, was the man.

Steve is starting out to do a comeback in the big show and believes he has landed with the proper club for his purpose.

O'Neill was given his unconditional release by the New York Yankees last fall when Huggins decided to get rid of several vets. Steve waited for other big league clubs to pick him up and then signed with the Int team. With Dan Howley's outfit O'Neill will be worked day in and day out—the thing he needs to keep his weight down. Howley assigned him behind the plate the plate the first day out and when I saw the team in action at Asheville, N. C., Steve looked thinner than he has for, lo, these many campaigns.

STEVE O'NEILL

The mystery to me is why three or four of the big league clubs failed to grab O'Neill.

Of course Huggins made a mistake in allowing both O'Neill and Schang to depart. Huggins hasn't a capable all-around catcher on his ball club today.

The Cleveland Indians could have used him one more season, while building up their pitching staff.

The Brooklyn Dodgers could use him.

But O'Neill isn't worrying over spilled milk.

"I figure on being back next year," says Steve. And in the meanwhile Howley is counting on the vet to guide his young pitchers, including Owen Carroll, through to another big year for the Canadian team, which finished second last year in the Int league.

Elmer Myers, curve ball artist, once a member of the Athletics and then the Indians, is expected to bolster the hurling staff of the Baltimore Orioles this season. Myers was one of a trio of players the Mackmen traded to Cleveland one time for Bobby Roth, restless soul of baseball. Larry Gardner, veteran third baseman of the Red Sox machine, was the second man, and Charley Jamieson, pitcher and outfielder, was thrown in. He is the only man involved who is still in the game—and he is still very much in it.

Gene Tunney, it is hinted, may retire after his long awaited battle with Jack Dempsey—if the contest ever takes place. This is interesting. We will be expected to get all steamed up over a bout that will either leave Dempsey the non-fighting champ or replace him with another gentleman who has no idea of keeping the boxing game alive by showing the interest a champ should show.

TRADE RUMOR NAMES TERRY

M'Graw May Part With Him for Left Handed Pitcher.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 1.—There may be a deal consummated within a matter of days whereby the New York Giants will become richer by one first-class left hand pitcher and poorer by one second-class first baseman who happens to be a first-class hitter. The latter is Bill Terry, one of the real die-hards of the 1926 holdout crop, and everything depends on how the young man greets John McGraw when the Giants reach Memphis tonight or tomorrow.

Rumors today linked the names of Johnny Cooney and Wilbur Cooper, prospective Boston and Chicago left hand pitchers, with the prospective trade, although credible details were lacking.

All that the keyhole champions had to go on was the statement that solicitous inquiries regarding Terry had reached McGraw from at least two other National league clubs and the fact that McGraw and Dave Bancroft, of the Braves, met by appointment at Tampa several days ago. It was said at the time that Bancroft wanted to make Terry into an outfielder, so that he, Bancroft, might be able to muster a punch that the Braves now lack.

McGraw's reply to all inquiries was declared to have been a demand for a left hand pitcher and the Braves have only one of any consequences, namely the aforementioned Cooney. This fact alone would have been sufficient to send Bancroft from the Tampa conference with his money sewed in the lining of his vest.

Cubs May Figure.

It is possible he decided he needed Terry less than he needs the only left handed winner of his outfit.

Cooper came into the speculations only by a process of elimination, the Cubs being a club that would esteem Terry for his long distance hitting against Chicago's short distance fences. It was decided, therefore, that the Cubs were the other club that had evinced interest in the player.

The further fact that Cooper was said to be on the market before the Cubs went to Catalina lent color to the Chicago angle. However, the chances of the Cubs and Giants doing business at this time were in proportion to the number of miles separating them, which are plenty.

Still, McGraw has made no attempt to conceal the fact that he is far from pleased with a man who has played two years as a substitute, yet demands a two-year contract at $10,000. There isn't a doubt that he will trade Terry if he can get what he wants for him and that goes regardless of whether the gentleman sings during the Giants' stay in Memphis.

Anyhow, this much can be written down in the book: If Terry does not sign on the occasion in question, it is altogether likely that he will play ball with another National league club this season.

You'd hardly say the telephone girl has either a business or a profession. Just a calling.—Zanesville Signal.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

In applying my "stright line" principle in the swing the player begins the forward swing with a general forward movement of his whole body and by that I mean forward on a straight line, toward the line of flight for the ball.

This movement shifts all the weight over to the left leg. This leg then stiffens and stops the weight movement. The left arm, straight clear down with the swing, then sweeps the clubhead down toward the ball. When the clubhead is near the ball the right hand will go into it instinctively. Just as the clubhead meets the ball—not before that—you shoot the left hip right into it. This gives the swing that "drag down" appearance the clubhead always has when you see good golfers swing. It is a drag down—practically all the way with the left arm pulling. The sense of it, however, is that the body moves forward—not around.

Tiger-Hilltop Nines In Baseball Opener

The Tigers collected five hits and the Hilltops two.

BUFFALO STARS ON A. B. C. ALLEYS

TOLEDO, O., April 1.—Buffalo's best will be on the drives of the A. B. C. tournament here tonight, among them the Weisser Blue Ribbons, last year's international champion five.

Hoefler Ice Cream, captained by Joe West, the human kangaroo of the bowling game and likewise one of the country's best pinsters, and the Liberty Bank, in whose lineup are the Caruana brothers, Frank and Joe, are the leading Bison city fives. There will be 24 outfits from that city in action.

Detroit, St. Louis, Chicago, Monroe, Sherrill, Watertown, Akron, Milwaukee and New York quintets are scheduled also. Prominent among the latter is the inter-city team of New York, led by Alec Dunbar, one of the country's best known bowlers.

Chicago carried away high team honors last night when the L. Reimans totalled 2917. This was well away from the leaders, however. Other good figures were W. P. Ternes, Detroit, 2889; Wreckers, Detroit, 2829; Navarre Hotel, Toledo, 2844.

The Paige Dairys and Toledo Steel Products, Toledo's leading star teams, failed to hit out of the 2700 class.

It was the afternoon work of Detroit bowlers that was the big feature, Harry Gerloski of the Michigan metropolis hammering his way into first place in the all events with a nine-game total of 1981.

CANTON NOAKERS NOW SUGARDALES

The Canton Noakers, as a road club, have passed into history.

During the past two years the club represented New Philadelphia in the Eastern Ohio league. Prior to the transfer to New Philadelphia the Noakers represented Canton in the league. At the recent winter meeting of the circuit, the franchise was sold.

And now, headed by Ed Jacobs, veteran Canton manager, the Noakers will be known as the Sugardales, assuming the road schedule of the Noakers, as well as Canton engagements, assuring them of better than 50 games for the season.

CANTON NOAKERS NOW SUGARDALES

The Canton Noakers, as a road club, have passed into history.

During the past two years the club represented New Philadelphia in the Eastern Ohio league. Prior to the transfer to New Philadelphia the Noakers represented Canton in the league. At the recent winter meeting of the circuit, the franchise was sold.

And now, headed by Ed Jacobs, veteran Canton manager, the Noakers will be known as the Sugardales, assuming the road schedule of the Noakers, as well as Canton engagements, assuring them of better than 50 games for the season.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Old Folks Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83.

Most men and women past fifty must give to the bowels some occasional help else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to weak bowels.

Is you present laxative, in whatever form, promoting natural bowel "regularity"—or must you purge and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, colds, or sour, gassy stomach?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural, regular bowel movement even for those chronically constipated. It never gripes, sickens or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine nad just see for yourself.

48 States Have 48 Kinds Of Laws About Divorces

Nation Bill is Urged by Miss Martha R. Hicks, Chicago Clubwoman.

CHICAGO — If you want a divorce, don't go to South Carolina. If you must have a divorce in a hurry, go to Nevada, Texas or Idaho, but stay away from Connecticut.

This advice was given by Miss Martha R. Hicks, Chicago club woman, in an address here. "Divorce laws in the 48 states diverge more than any other set of statutes," said Miss Hicks. "The result is that people divorced in one state sometimes remain husband and wife under the laws of another state.

"No divorce action of any kind is possible in South Carolina. Divorce on grounds of desertion is possible in North Carolina only after the deserter has been gone for ten years. In New York adultery is the only cause for divorce. In 12 other states, adultery alone is no cause at all.

"Length of residence necessary for divorce action varies from six months in Nevada, Idaho and Texas to three years in Connecticut, while the necessary lapse of time to constitute desertion varies from one to ten years."

Many plans, all tending to do away with this confusion, have been proposed. A national divorce law or modification of existing state laws to make them uniform, Miss Hicks said, is being more widely and insistently advocated.

Rents likewise have been greatly reduced.

This Nurse Just Couldn't Stop Coughing

Specialists Didn't Help

It takes more than ordinary sweet, syrup cough mixtures to stop a stubborn cough that persists in hanging on.

For slight ordinary coughs almost any decent cough syrup will do, but if you have one of those tough ones that won't yield to common remedies and often keeps you awake at night then your best bet is Bronchuline.

Often one-half bottle forces the most stubborn cough to yield and you are better almost before you know it.

There is no sugar, chloroform or dope in Bronchuline; it's a wonderful medicine for people who are getting over a heavy cold or an attack of Flu.

A New York nurse just couldn't stop coughing even after consulting specialists, yet one-half bottle of Bronchuline did stop it—completely.

Ask Carnahan's Drug Store, Jesse D. Holloway or any good dealer for a bottle—often three or four doses will stop an ordinary cough.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Old Folks Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83.

Most men and women past fifty must give to the bowels some occasional help else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to weak bowels.

Is you present laxative, in whatever form, promoting natural bowel "regularity"—or must you purge and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, colds, or sour, gassy stomach?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural, regular bowel movement even for those chronically constipated. It never gripes, sickens or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine nad just see for yourself.

You can convert your present ice box into a Frigidaire easily and inexpensively. The Frigidaire frost coil is placed in the compartment that now holds ice. The compressor is placed in the basement or other convenient location. Small copper tubes connect the frost coil and compressor, and a connection is made to your electric wiring.

That's all. You immediately have Frigidaire electric refrigeration.

Frigidaire in any form will bring new delight to housekeeping. It means better refrigeration, purer, more delicious foods, freedom from the possible annoyance of outside ice supply and very probably a saving compared to what you now pay for ice.

Come in and learn more about Frigidaire.

In flake or bar form for quick washing

—and it includes a TONIC for hands

Do you know that this pure neutral soap includes what beauty specialists say is one of nature's great tonics for the hands?

That is why women who wash three times a day—1,000 times a year—still have attractive hands.

And how perfectly it cleanses clothes.

Those sheery stockings, fragile undergarments, soft baby things, gay sweaters, coarse woolens—all seem brighter, fresher, cleaner when you use this unusual soap.

You don't rub—those thorough suds simply whisk dirt away. You merely rinse.

With clothes and furnishings always rising in price, isn't it wise to use this better soap that adds whole months of extra life to them?

Better ask your grocer today for Kirk's Flake White Soap.

1/5 of your income goes for clothes

OHIO TEACHER IS MISSING

Nation-wide Search Made for Jackson B. McKinney.

NEW YORK.—A nation-wide appeal for information concerning the whereabouts of Jackson B. McKinney, instructor, of Marietta, Ohio, who disappeared mysteriously last February 11 from New Haven, Conn., where he planned to enroll in the graduate school of Yale university, was broadcast by the Missing Persons bureau of the New York police department.

Relatives of the missing instructor can offer no logical explanation for his disappearance, describing McKinney as quiet, studious and fond of the theatre. He had been an instructor in various colleges for the past twelve or fifteen years with the exception of the time he spent in war service. McKinney occasionally talked of getting a job in the dramatic department of a New York or Chicago newspaper.

The missing instructor is a brother of Frank B. McKinney, president, and W. P. McKinney, secretary-treasurer, of the Marietta Times, Marietta, Ohio.

The description of the missing Jackson B. McKinney follows:

"Age, 39 years. Height, about five feet nine inches; weight about 140 pounds. Complexion, dark; thin face; gray eyes; brown, rather thin hair; heavy eyebrows; with hands and forearms somewhat hairy. Five or six teeth missing in back of mouth.

"Wore tan suit of pinch-back model, black overcoat of medium weight, slate-colored soft hat. Overcoat and hat had been worn for some time. Carried black traveling bag with single handle. Carried open-faced Waltham watch with slight dent in back of case."

McKinney's trunk was checked from New Haven to New York on a passenger ticket on February 11, and is lying unclaimed in the Grand Central terminal.

Shortage of houses and high living costs in Spain are forcing people to live in smaller quarters.

PESTS FORCE U. S. TO BAR FOREIGN NARCISSUS; BOOSTS HOME PRODUCT

Assistant Federal Director in Charge of Test Farm Believes it Possible to Market Greater Quantities.

WILMINGTON, N. C.—As a result of the embargo which the United States placed against foreign bulbs to keep out pests, 80,000,000 narcissus bulbs must be produced annually in America to supply the demand, and the coastal section of North Carolina will raise one-eighth of this amount.

Charles T. Dearing, assistant director in charge of the test farm of the state department of agriculture located at Williard, is the authority for this statement. He believes that it will be possible to market even greater quantities in years to come. The demand for bulbs has been increasing steadily for years, he said.

SPEND MORE FOR GUM AND CANDY THAN FOR RELIGION AND EDUCATION

ST. LOUIS—More money is spent for ridiculous things than is spent for education and religion, acording to Charles A. Lee, state superintendent of schools.

"For every $100 spent last year," he said, "$8.25 was for prosecution of criminals, $22 on luxury, $11 on investments, $14.50 wasted, $24 on living, $13.50 miscellaneous and $4.50 on government.

"The people last year spent less than half as much for education as for automobiles and tobacco. They spent less for education than they did for soft drinks, ice cream, chewing gum and candy."

CHILDREN hate to be dosed with medicine. Vicks VapoRub relieves colds, without dosing, in two ways at once. When rubbed over throat and chest at bedtime:—

(2) At the same time it acts through the skin like an old-fashioned poultice, "drawing out" the pain, tightness and soreness.

Of course Vicks is just as good for the cold troubles of adults.

Only a Buick Could Stand this Test!

Buick has the only chassis built today that can take a "shower bath" while the engine is running and driving the wheels.

Only Buick provides the design which can undergo such punishment. Of all cars built today, Buick alone has the complete protection of the "Sealed Chassis" and "Triple-Sealed Engine."

Every Buick operating part is "sealed" inside a dirt-tight, oil-tight, water-tight iron or steel housing. The "Triple Seal" (air cleaner, gasoline filter, oil-filter) keeps dirt, grit and moisture out of the engine.

Road slush and grit cannot reach Buick vital parts. Rain and moisture cannot cause short circuits in the Buick electrical system. Even the spark plugs are protected!

Come in and see, with your own eyes, why Buick motor cars are more dependable. Only a Buick could stand the "shower bath" test!

A REAL RIDE WITH A REAL DRIVER

You step into his car. It is clean and comfortable. He gives the self-starter a single touch and instantly picks up the spin of the engine with the accelerator. He quietly engages the clutch and releases a flow of great power so even, so smooth, that you can't detect the beginning of movement. Immediately the speed doubles, trebles, quadruples, without jerk or splutter. Now you are sweeping along—swiftly, steadily, silently. You can't help but ask—

"What makes this car run so beautifully?"

Says the owner: "It's taken me three cars and nine years to learn that there isn't much difference between taking good care of a horse and taking care of an automobile. I ruined my first car my feeding it a low grade of gasoline and oil. Thought that I was saving money. I can still hear that rattle and knock. I can still see myself pumping the choke and pedaling the accellerator to make her start. My next car I 'blasted' to pieces with doped gasoline—which I don't entirely blame myself. I believed all 'they' told me and couldn't see what was going on under the hood. I got speed, the kind of speed you'd get from a horse that has been doped.

"But my second car arrived at the junk pile three years too soon. THIS is my third car. Nothing but Marathon Gasoline ever has been in the tank.

"Moreover, I get more miles per gallon than the factory told me I'd get. And the inside of the engine is as free from carbon as a gasoline engine possibly can be.

"So I'm going to keep on buying Marathon Gasoline and Marathon Oil, just as my grandfather always bought the choicest hay and oats for his favorite horses. 'The cheapest expense of keeping a horse,' he'd say.

"Horse-traders used to smile at the way the old man took care of his pets, but they all agree that he certainly could make them travel fast and far, and that he always got a fancy price in a trade."

Exploded! The Old Theory of Low-Cost Design

In developing and introducing the new Pontiac Six General Motors has completely shattered the theory that high quality could not be achieved in a low-cost Six.

From the day of its public presentation, the Pontiac Six has been making giant strides toward leadership in its field—because it is the living expression of quality in every aspect of motor car value.

With the Pontiac Six priced at $825, it is no longer necessary to accept the limitations of high-priced fours nor those that have hitherto characterized low-priced sixes.

In breath-taking performance, in striking beauty, in luxurious comfort, in staunch construction, the Pontiac Six is the vital embodiment of quality—yet it sells for a price so low that only General Motors could possibly achieve it.

PESTS FORCE U. S. TO BAR FOREIGN NARCISSUS; BOOSTS HOME PRODUCT

Assistant Federal Director in Charge of Test Farm Believes it Possible to Market Greater Quantities.

WILMINGTON, N. C.—As a result of the embargo which the United States placed against foreign bulbs to keep out pests, 80,000,000 narcissus bulbs must be produced annually in America to supply the demand, and the coastal section of North Carolina will raise one-eighth of this amount.

Charles T. Dearing, assistant director in charge of the test farm of the state department of agriculture located at Williard, is the authority for this statement. He believes that it will be possible to market even greater quantities in years to come. The demand for bulbs has been increasing steadily for years, he said.

SPEND MORE FOR GUM AND CANDY THAN FOR RELIGION AND EDUCATION

ST. LOUIS—More money is spent for ridiculous things than is spent for education and religion, acording to Charles A. Lee, state superintendent of schools.

"For every $100 spent last year," he said, "$8.25 was for prosecution of criminals, $22 on luxury, $11 on investments, $14.50 wasted, $24 on living, $13.50 miscellaneous and $4.50 on government.

"The people last year spent less than half as much for education as for automobiles and tobacco. They spent less for education than they did for soft drinks, ice cream, chewing gum and candy."

CHILDREN hate to be dosed with medicine. Vicks VapoRub relieves colds, without dosing, in two ways at once. When rubbed over throat and chest at bedtime:—

(1) It is vaporized by the body heat and inhaled right to the inflamed air passages and lungs;

(2) At the same time it acts through the skin like an old-fashioned poultice, "drawing out" the pain, tightness and soreness.

Of course Vicks is just as good for the cold troubles of adults.

Only a Buick Could Stand this Test!

Buick has the only chassis built today that can take a "shower bath" while the engine is running and driving the wheels.

Only Buick provides the design which can undergo such punishment. Of all cars built today, Buick alone has the complete protection of the "Sealed Chassis" and "Triple-Sealed Engine."

Every Buick operating part is "sealed" inside a dirt-tight, oil-tight, water-tight iron or steel housing. The "Triple Seal" (air cleaner, gasoline filter, oil-filter) keeps dirt, grit and moisture out of the engine.

Road slush and grit cannot reach Buick vital parts. Rain and moisture cannot cause short circuits in the Buick electrical system. Even the spark plugs are protected!

Come in and see, with your own eyes, why Buick motor cars are more dependable. Only a Buick could stand the "shower bath" test!

A REAL RIDE WITH A REAL DRIVER

You step into his car. It is clean and comfortable. He gives the self-starter a single touch and instantly picks up the spin of the engine with the accelerator. He quietly engages the clutch and releases a flow of great power so even, so smooth, that you can't detect the beginning of movement. Immediately the speed doubles, trebles, quadruples, without jerk or splutter. Now you are sweeping along—swiftly, steadily, silently. You can't help but ask—

"What makes this car run so beautifully?"

Says the owner: "It's taken me three cars and nine years to learn that there isn't much difference between taking good care of a horse and taking care of an automobile. I ruined my first car my feeding it a low grade of gasoline and oil. Thought that I was saving money. I can still hear that rattle and knock. I can still see myself pumping the choke and pedaling the accellerator to make her start. My next car I 'blasted' to pieces with doped gasoline—which I don't entirely blame myself. I believed all 'they' told me and couldn't see what was going on under the hood. I got speed, the kind of speed you'd get from a horse that has been doped.

"But my second car arrived at the junk pile three years too soon. THIS is my third car. Nothing but Marathon Gasoline ever has been in the tank.

"Moreover, I get more miles per gallon than the factory told me I'd get. And the inside of the engine is as free from carbon as a gasoline engine possibly can be.

"So I'm going to keep on buying Marathon Gasoline and Marathon Oil, just as my grandfather always bought the choicest hay and oats for his favorite horses. 'The cheapest expense of keeping a horse,' he'd say.

"Horse-traders used to smile at the way the old man took care of his pets, but they all agree that he certainly could make them travel fast and far, and that he always got a fancy price in a trade."

Exploded! The Old Theory of Low-Cost Design

In developing and introducing the new Pontiac Six General Motors has completely shattered the theory that high quality could not be achieved in a low-cost Six.

From the day of its public presentation, the Pontiac Six has been making giant strides toward leadership in its field—because it is the living expression of quality in every aspect of motor car value.

With the Pontiac Six priced at $825, it is no longer necessary to accept the limitations of high-priced fours nor those that have hitherto characterized low-priced sixes.

In breath-taking performance, in striking beauty, in luxurious comfort, in staunch construction, the Pontiac Six is the vital embodiment of quality—yet it sells for a price so low that only General Motors could possibly achieve it.

EVE'S TWO LOVERS

by EDGAR POE NORRIS

© 1926 CENTRAL PRESS ASS'N

THIRTY-SIX.

By walking carefully, Eve managed to get alongside Mary Sullivan before the latter suspected her presence. When she, disregarding the fact that Mary had the phone receiver to her ear, said: "I suppose you're being kept awfully busy keeping track of things," the subject of her attentions looked around startled, and put up the receiver, thus subconsciously proclaiming her guilt. At least, to Eve it was a proclamation of guilt.

"I don't understand," Mary responded, confused. "I was talking on the telephone."

"Oh, excuse me! I didn't know you were TALKING," Eve replied maliciously, seating herself by Mary's side easily, I suppose you are being kept very busy keeping track of things?"

"Yes, yes." Daggers in her eyes. If looks could kill!

Eve arose again. "Tell the girls I'll be around again tomorrow morning.' She exulted in the puzzled glance Mary gave toward the direction of John Ingate's office, as she walked away. She paused at the desk of Opal Riley on her way out to say familiarly to this best friend of hers (in the office): "I know that Mary has been having a grand time." Opal's smile was confirmation.

Walking through Central Square, Evee was struck with the idea of visiting the real estate offices which were congregated on one side of the square, in search of a place to live. The lists she found in two of them seemed laden with possibilities, especially since she now felt justified in spending a little more in rent than they had planned. With both of them working, they need not worry if the rent was a little too high.

The saleman who was commissioned to take her on the tour of inspection bore, she realized the moment, she saw him, a striking resemblance to John Ingate. They were much of the same build, with physiognomies that had much in common, but one was blonde and the other brunette. However, this was less noticeable when the salesman had put on his hat. He may have mistaken for interest her inspection of his features, which continued subsconsciously for several blocks after they lfete the office, for he endeavored to be forward and friendly. By the time they had reached the second house on their list, he was making remarks that could not be interpreted as anything but an effort to strike up a flirtation.

Eve, preoccupied with the merits of the respective houses, was not aware of this attention immediately. An embarrassed feeling grew upon her. But finally there was no mistaking this interest. Abruptly she announced, "I don't believe I care to go further. You have nothing that interests me. Please take me back to the square.

Taken aback somewhat, the salesman turned the car around and moved back toward Main street. He was silent for a time, but was again voluable before they reached the square.

This episode did not assume any importance until that evening. When Clay came home, he found his wife napping in bed. After leaving the salesman's car at the square, she had walked along the shopping district, looking covetously into many windows, and had come home tired and sleepy.

He did not attempt to kiss her, and made no effort to make known his presence immediately. But after a few minutes he seemingly became impatient and began to walk around heavily and make little noises. In a short time this had the desired effect. Eve opened her eyes.

"Hello, dear." She suppressed a yawn.

"Hello." Plainly, he was peeveed about something.

"Is my baby tired?" Another yawn. "A man usually is after a hard day's work.' His tie dropped upon a chair, followed by his shirt.

Eve remained patient. "Aren't you going to kiss me?"

Clay deliberately went over and looked at his face closely in the mirror before turning back to the bed and indifferently pressing his lips to hers.

She raised herself up in bed. "What's the matter, honey? Aren't you feeling very well?"

"Oh, my health is all right."

Never before had she seen him as gruff as this.

"Did they make you work awfully hard?"

"Nobody who works for John Ingate—outside of certain members of his office staff, perhaps—gets paid for doing nothing."

Eve subsided into silence She must expect this often, she supposed. She laid back down upon the bed.

"I should think John Ingate would like to be seen driving you around in public!"

For a moment Eve was not sure she had understood. Then she slowly raised herself up.

"What are you talking about ——."

"Aw, you know what ——."

It came to her all at once. At the lunch hour, probably, he had seen her with the real estate salesman.

Se laughed. "Why, that wasn't John. That was ——."

"Now don't try to spring anything on me. I SAW who it was." He seemed suddenly to grow very angry. "I didn't expect you to lie about it."

Eve's cheeks flamed.

THIRTY-SIX.

By walking carefully, Eve managed to get alongside Mary Sullivan before the latter suspected her presence. When she, disregarding the fact that Mary had the phone receiver to her ear, said: "I suppose you're being kept awfully busy keeping track of things," the subject of her attentions looked around startled, and put up the receiver, thus subconsciously proclaiming her guilt. At least, to Eve it was a proclamation of guilt.

"I don't understand," Mary responded, confused. "I was talking on the telephone."

"Oh, excuse me! I didn't know you were TALKING," Eve replied maliciously, seating herself by Mary's side easily, I suppose you are being kept very busy keeping track of things?"

"Yes, yes." Daggers in her eyes, if looks could kill!

Eve arose again. "Tell the girls I'll be around again tomorrow morning.' She exulted in the puzzled glance Mary gave toward the direction of John Ingate's office, as she walked away. She paused at the desk of Opal Riley on her way out to say familiarly to this best friend of hers (in the office): "I know that Mary has been having a grand time." Opal's smile was confirmation.

Walking through Central Square, Evee was struck with the idea of visiting the real estate offices which were congregated on one side of the square, in search of a place to live. The lists she found in two of them seemed laden with possibilities, especially since she now felt justified in spending a little more in rent than they had planned. With both of them working, they need not worry if the rent was a little too high.

The saleman who was commissioned to take her on the tour of inspection bore, she realized the moment, she saw him, a striking resemblance to John Ingate. They were much of the same build, with physiognomies that had much in common, but one was blonde and the other brunette. However, this was less noticeable when the salesman had put on his hat. He may have mistaken for interest her inspection of his features, which continued subsconsciously for several blocks after they lfete the office, for he endeavored to be forward and friendly. By the time they had reached the second house on their list, he was making remarks that could not be interpreted as anything but an effort to strike up a flirtation.

Eve, preoccupied with the merits of the respective houses, was not aware of this attention immediately. An embarrassed feeling grew upon her. But finally there was no mistaking this interest. Abruptly she announced, "I don't believe I care to go further. You have nothing that interests me. Please take me back to the square.

Taken aback somewhat, the salesman turned the car around and moved back toward Main street. He was silent for a time, but was again voluable before they reached the square.

This episode did not assume any importance until that evening. When Clay came home, he found his wife napping in bed. After leaving the salesman's car at the square, she had walked along the shopping district, looking covetously into many windows, and had come home tired and sleepy.

He did not attempt to kiss her, and made no effort to make known his presence immediately. But after a few minutes he seemingly became impatient and began to walk around heavily and make little noises. In a short time this had the desired effect. Eve opened her eyes.

"Hello, dear." She suppressed a yawn.

"Hello." Plainly, he was peeveed about something.

"Is my baby tired?" Another yawn. "A man usually is after a hard day's work.' His tie dropped upon a chair, followed by his shirt.

Eve remained patient. "Aren't you going to kiss me?"

Clay deliberately went over and looked at his face closely in the mirror before turning back to the bed and indifferently pressing his lips to hers.

She raised herself up in bed. "What's the matter, honey? Aren't you feeling very well?"

"Oh, my health is all right."

Never before had she seen him as gruff as this.

"Did they make you work awfully hard?"

"Nobody who works for John Ingate—outside of certain members of his office staff, perhaps—gets paid for doing nothing."

Eve subsided into silence She must expect this often, she supposed. She laid back down upon the bed.

"I should think John Ingate would like to be seen driving you around in public!"

For a moment Eve was not sure she had understood. Then she slowly raised herself up.

"What are you talking about ——."

"Aw, you know what ——."

It came to her all at once. At the lunch hour, probably, he had seen her with the real estate salesman.

Se laughed. "Why, that wasn't John. That was ——."

"Now don't try to spring anything on me. I SAW who it was." He seemed suddenly to grow very angry. "I didn't expect you to lie about it."

Eve's cheeks flamed.

MILTON SILLS AT AMERICAN

He's Big Hearted Cop in "Making of O'Malley"

"The Making of O'Malley," now showing at the American theatre, proved the re-making of Milton Sills.

With his elevation to stardom by First National recently, Sills was given a new test of his versatility.

Although still the "he-man," Sills' role in his first starring vehicle, is a departure from the society roles and woman-hating characterizations of his last successes.

It is the agreed belief of Sills, Hudson and other First National officials that the public generally prefers the star in roles whose virility is tempered with close-to-the-heart drama. His plays in the future, therefore, will give him less the aspect of the stern, forbidding man and more of the warmth and geniality of the man who loves humanity.

"The Making of O'Malley" is the first of this type. "The Comeback," from M. D. C. Crawford's novel, which will follow his current production, is another, and this will be followed by a drama of the steel mills, "Men of Steel."

"The Making of O'Malley" is an adaptation of a short story of the same name by Gerald Beaumont. Sills has the role of a New York policeman.

While swinging his fists as fast and crushingly as ever, Sills, as Officer O'Malley, is a different personality than any he has yet assumed for the screen. O'Malley is a slow-minded, awkward son of the "ould sod" who walks his beat with a stiffness of spine and austerity in discipline which makes him a trial even for his superior officers. But behind his slow-thinking mind is a sense of humor and a heart as tender as it is rugged.

This hulk of a man the author has decided must fall in love, and O'Malley's struggles between his duties and compassion.

Dorothy Mackaill is Sills' leading love re-make Milton Sills from the silent, hating man to a man of tender woman in this drama.

"Holy week represents new civilization and newly dawning spiritual power of man's christianity. Christian principles have always been back of all the good in man. That Christ's spiritual kingdom must be in the soul of man to bring out the good in the soul. He said that there were three great principles in christianity which he enumerated as: First, that with spiritual understanding it brought spiritual and material success; second, that the family was the seat of christianity as the family life in the home of Christ which was a model home; third, that christianity has reorganized society. He stated that the sacrifice begun on Christmas day culminated on Good Friday by the crucifixion and that by carrying out the three great virtues, faith ,hope and charity, we bind ourselves to God, love begets service and service is the keynote of Holy Week. We must cast away the sordid things of life and put in better things of life, he asserted. He closed his address by stating: "To live we must die as Christ died on the cross to live again so we must die to live again. We can't have resurrection without calvary, and we can't have that crown without the cross. Christianity calls on man to do heroic things that begets the true Christian character." "Holy week represents new civilization and newly dawning spiritual power of man's christianity. Christian principles have always been back of all the good in man. That Christ's spiritual kingdom must be in the soul of man to bring out the good in the soul. He said that there were three great principles in christianity which he enumerated as: First, that with spiritual understanding it brought spiritual and material success; second, that the family was the seat of christianity as the family life in the home of Christ which was a model home; third, that christianity has reorganized society. He stated that the sacrifice begun on Christmas day culminated on Good Friday by the crucifixion and that by carrying out the three great virtues, faith ,hope and charity, we bind ourselves to God, love begets service and service is the keynote of Holy Week. We must cast away the sordid things of life and put in better things of life, he asserted. He closed his address by stating: "To live we must die as Christ died on the cross to live again so we must die to live again. We can't have resurrection without calvary, and we can't have that crown without the cross. Christianity calls on man to do heroic things that begets the true Christian character." He closed with a poem by Wadsworth, "A Happy Warrior," who had exemplified all these things.

Home of John Adams Was in Somersetshire New Records Disclose

LONDON—Documents recently discovered suggest that the Sulgrave Institute have made a mistake in buying a house in Northamptonshire said to be the ancestral home of John Adams, second president of the United States. It is now thought that President Adams' home was in Somersetshire.

The documents are said to be of great historical value, and to definitely establish the genealogical tree of the Adams family. They were found at Wells cathedral, Somersetshire, and have been investigated by Colonel C. H. Banks, the American genealogist.

According to Colonel Banks, it is now proved that the family of Adams lived in the little parish of Barton David, near Wells, for three generations before their emigration to the United States.

SPARKS CIRCUS HERE MAY 13

Henry L. Massie, Contracting Agent, Visits City.

Henry L. Massie, one of the contracting agents for Sparks circus, made preliminary arrangements yesterday for the exhibition of the big show here on Thursday, May 13. He is only the van-guard of a small army of men who will follow to pave the way for the coming of this famous circus, the largest in the world still giving a street parade. Next will come the advance advertising car with 30 billposters, banner men and lithographers; then will follow the No. 2 brigade with more billposters, and the programmers, and the day before the show the twenty-four hour man will arrive.

Massie, besides contracting for the lot on which the show will exhibit, arranged for all supplies needed by the circus during its 24-hour stay here. These will be furnished by local dealers and as the circus carries 800 people, 500 horses, three herds of elephants and camels, besides hundreds of caged wild animals, it means that quite a large sum is to be spent by the show in the city.

Home of John Adams Was in Somersetshire New Records Disclose

LONDON—Documents recently discovered suggest that the Sulgrave Institute have made a mistake in buying a house in Northamptonshire said to be the ancestral home of John Adams, second president of the United States. It is now thought that President Adams' home was in Somersetshire.

The documents are said to be of great historical value, and to definitely establish the genealogical tree of the Adams family. They were found at Wells cathedral, Somersetshire, and have been investigated by Colonel C. H. Banks, the American genealogist.

According to Colonel Banks, it is now proved that the family of Adams lived in the little parish of Barton David, near Wells, for three generations before their emigration to the United States.

APPEARING for Archbishop Curley of Baltimore and stating that he represented 20,000,000 Catholics, Charles W. Garr, with Morgan J. O'Brien, of the Catholic club of New York city; the Rev. Michael J. Little, national director of the Holy Name society; Sister Margaret Semple, mother superior, and many others well known appeared before the house foreign affairs committee yesterday. They urged that the United States break with Mexico.

The government of Mexico seems little influenced by United States protests, concerning religious matters, retroactive land laws and Japanese colonization. President Calles, who announces his determination to run Mexico and let Calvin Coolidge run the United States, has promulgated, without any change, the land laws to which United States interests have objected seriously.

IT WAS decided to put a "Sports Bay," a beautiful window of colored glass, in the $25,000,000 Protestant Episcopal Cathedral of St. John the Divine, in New York.

As originally planned, the "sports window" for the cathedral included a picture of live birds released from a trap and shot dead for the amusement of "sport."

That has been eliminated at the request of the Audubon society, which seems reasonable, as trap shooting in the state of New York is a crime.

If, however, a modern Christian cathedral really needs a sports window, why not have a nice stained glass picture of Jack Dempsey knocking out Mr. Wills, the colored man? That, at least, is legal in the state.

LED by Elihu Root, formerly in Theodore Roosevelt's cabinet, the Republican party of New York demands of the legislature a "wet referendum" to let the people say what they think about light wine and beer. This will complicate President Coolidge's political problems and cheer Governor Al Smith, wet candidate of the Democratic party.

Deal for Four-Story Business Block Negotiated.

PLAN NO CHANGES

Present Tenants Retain Places Under Old Leases.

As a result of a $165,000 deal negotiated here today, Attorney George D. Ingram, of Wellsville, became owner of the W. Smith Fowler business building in the Diamond.

Ingram, who several weeks ago obtained a lease on the four-story structure, which houses three business establishments, the Buckeye club, Knights of Columbus home, another lodge hall and apartments, took possession at 10 o'clock this morning.

Owned Property 40 Years.

All present tenants, including the Hub clothing store, Potters' Novelty store and Bulger's pharmacy, on the first floor, and Knights of Columbus and Buckeye club, will remain in the building. The Buckeye club and Fowler, the former owner, who occupies an apartment on the second floor, have five-year leases, while other tenants have three-year agreements.

According to announcement at noon, no changes in the structure are contemplated by Ingram.

Fowler has owned the property for 40 years. In 1905, the present building was erected after the original structure was destroyed by a fire which swept a section of the Diamond and Fifth street.

British Tanker, Shirvan, Rescues Beleaguered Crew as Freighter Lelaham Fills With Water.

NEW YORK, April 1.—Fleetest of all greyhounds of the sea, the Cunarder Mauretania, was beaten early today in a race to save the 28 members of the foundering British freighter, Lelaham.

A wireless to the Cunard line officers here stated that the Mauretania, after racing at top speed to the aid of the Lelaham, had resumed her course on being informed that the British tanker, Shirvan, had taken the beleaguered crew aboard. The Shirvan proceeded on its way to Falmouth, England.

In command of the Mauretania was Captain Arthur Henry Rostron, who was captain of the Carpathia, when she picked up 705 passengers after the sinking of the Titanic in 1912.

Earlier radio advices had stated that the Lelaham was rapidly filling with water, her life boats gone, and the vessel itself on "beam end" with fires in momentary danger of being extinguished by a sea which had crushed her bulkhead and swamped her bilges.

One Killed, Another Wounded in Duel Over Woman's Love

LOS ANGELES, April 1.—One man was killed, and another probably fatally wounded in a love duel fought with a high-powered rifle and a shotgun in Topango canyon, near here, today.

The dead man is Robert Winsolle and R. A. Roselle, neighbor of Winsolle, the dying duelist.

According to deputy sheriffs, the men had quarreled over Mrs. Winsolle. The officers said Roselle met Winsolle in the road today and after exchanging a few words the pair paced off for a duel and began shooting.

Parsons, his mother, is ... on the verge of a nervous collapse over the continued absence of her son. She fears he has met with foul play.

The boy left his home with a check for $4.50 and about a dollar in cash in his possession. Since then all trace of him has been lost.

Young Parsons wore a gray sweater and long trousers when he was last seen. It is not believed that he had a cap when he left the house.

The lad has an uncle in Akron, but he has not been seen there. Inquiries in other cities have failed to shed any light on the mystery.

East Liverpool District Telephone and Power Service Hit as March Roars Its Exit on Crest of 35-mile-an-hour Gale—Streets Ice-coated, Handicap Traffic.

FLEET OF SNOW PLOWS IS USED TO CLEAR CLEVELAND CAR TRACKS

Columbus, Zanesville, Newark, Akron, Kenton, Mansfield, Dayton, Canton and Other Cities Report High Winds Which Move Parked Machines and Cause Damage to Buildings.

Telephone and electric light and power service in the East Liverpool district suffered interruptions as a 35-mile gale, sweeping from the southwest, lashed Ohio last night and today.

Due to a snowfall, which accompanied the blizzard, ... streets were ice-coated, and automotive ... ing to schedules, under difficulties. Street cars operated ...

Officials of the Ohio ... company reported that ... 10 toll lines ... local lines were out of service, due to ... high wind. Electric light and power service was interrupted at intervals yesterday afternoon and evening, due to wire trouble at Beech Bottom, W. Va.

While Cleveland, Columbus, Canton, Mansfield, Dayton, Lima, Zanesville, Newark and other cities reported damage, hills, protecting this district, broke the force of the gale.

Below freezing temperatures prevailed here this morning.

Many Traffic Accidents.

CLEVELAND, April 1. — Leaden skies, a fine snow whipped by a high wind, and freezing temperatures prevailed over most of Ohio today as the big southwestern storm gripped the state.

Reports from over the state this morning indicated that in some parts the storm was a genuine March blizzard during the night and that many highways were badly drifted over with snow. At some points the high wind did damage to trees, wires and roofs.

In Cleveland thousands of office workers slipped and skidded around in trying to board ice-incrusted street cars in the face of a 45-miles-an-hour gale. Scores of automobiles that had slid into curbstones or posts with disastrous effects, dotted the streets. Traffic accidents were numerous.

The snow began to drift in Cleveland early in the night and the Cleveland Street Railway company put a fleet of snow plows in action.

The scrape of snow shovels was heard throughout the city this morning as hundreds cleared their walks of snow.

Silos Destroyed.

COLUMBUS, April 1. — Unroofed barns, wrecked autos, uprooted trees and destroyed silos constitute mute reminders today of the fact that the old March lion roared its exit from this vicinity on the crest of a 35-mile-an-hour gale.

The rain which preceded the windstorm was followed by sleet and then snow. Pedestrians had to fight their way along the streets against the streets against the strong wind.

Two autos were damaged when hit by a falling tree here.

There were no reports of serious injury. Property damage was deemed relatively minor.

The mercury fell to about 30 degrees.

Local United States weather bureau officials expected cold and fair weather with slightly rising temperature until Easter Sunday.

Muskingum Valley Swept.

ZANESVILLE, April 1.—The worst blizzard of the winter and one of the worst in recent years, swept the full length of the Muskingum Valley throughout the night and is still raging today, accompanied by a sharp drop in temperature. Snow on the country roads has drifted deep and many rural mail carriers were not able to cover their routes today.

NEWARK, April 1.—Newark was visited by a high wind and rain and snow yesterday and last night. This morning a coating of snow covered the city, although the thermometer did not register very low. At 7:30 it showed 30 degrees.

Old Man Winter Stages April Fool Joke on Canton

CANTON, April 1. — Old man winter, whom everyone believed had become a back number, showed that he could stage a comeback when he stepped on the heels of gentle spring this morning and chased the lamb to the fireside to warm its toes. He played a fine April fool joke on the people in this part of the country and is still "roaring" about it.

He sent a fine fall of snow and a strong wind that has wrecked a few chimneys, slatted garage doors off their hinges and blown down a few signs, telephone and telegraph wires, ripped shingles off roofs and doing other minor damage. No serious damage of any kind has occurred around this section, however, and everybody is hoping that winter's come-back will be short lived.

Two hundred and thirty dollars in cash prizes will be offered winners in the competitions which will be held afternoon and evening during the first five days of next week, while the respective victors will appear at the matinee and evening performances on the sixth day.

The children's contest, which will follow the 2:30 p. m. show, will be open to youngsters between 3 and 16 years of age. The winner at each matinee will be given a cash prize of $5, and will compete in the finals at the Saturday matinee for three grand prizes, $15, $10 and $5.

Adults, with the minimum age 16, will enter the evening contests which will be held at 7:30 and 9:30 o'clock. The winner at each evening show will be given $10. The dancers selected on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings will compete for grand prizes of $50, $25 and $10 on Friday evening.

The audience will be the judge in the contest each day as well as in the final competitions Saturday afternoon and night. The extent of the applause, it was announced will govern the awarding of the prizes.

The management of the contest directs attention to the fact that each afternoon and at each show in the evening winners will be selected and prizes awarded.

The contests, both for children and adults, will be open to all residents of Columbiana and Jefferson counties, Ohio; Beaver county, Pennsylvania, and Hancock and Brooke counties, West Virginia.

Ogilvie's Store News

EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO, THURSDAY, APRIL 1, 1926.

THE CORRECT ACCESSORY

At last Dame Fashion has made up her mind as to what we shall wear and here you have the result of months of planning and buying. Trifles so breathlessly lovely as they are joyous in color—the little important things that make the mode.

With simplicity the rule, the mode depends more and more upon the smart accessories one chooses to wear. Ours are not only the last word in smartness, but correct and pleasingly priced. The important trifles that distinguish you as being well dressed — here in profusion and priced to permit you to buy them with pleasure.

The popularity of the scarf continues undaunted and it is amazing what a difference a bright scarf, worn about the neck, can make.

Many new styles of scarfs for Spring. Foremost are the small, swagger Charleston scarfs that tie about the neck with a knot at one side. Painted designs on each end. Priced at $2.00. All colors.

Printed georgettes, crepe de chines, chiffons and radiums. Also the new Mallinson prints. Single and double width. Scarfs for every type of costume. Priced from $3.00 to $11.50.

The boyish frock finds its most congenial companion in the plain linen collar and cuff sets in white and colors. Plain or with lace edging or embroidered motifs. A smart addition to the trim school or business costume. Priced from 50c to $1.50.

Vestees are again in vogue for wear with tailored suits. In new versions. Fashioned of satins, white and colored linens and lace. Priced from $1.00 to $3.75.

Lace collar and cuff sets, also in high or low neck models.

The flower accessory works magic on wardrobes. Different flowers worn with the same outfit make several costumes out of one. A flower on your jacket or coat lapel, your coat collar or sleeve adds brightness to your costume. A flower on the shoulder of your evening or afternoon frock will give it a Paris air.

The boutonniere on the coat, frock or suit may contrast or blend with your hat and scarf.

Priced from 50c to $5.00.

To be smart, one must be colorful, says Paris, and this new silken hosiery comes in Paris approved shades to harmonize with every costume. Among the new shades you will find mauve, mauve taupe, English grey, national grey, moonlight, coffee, atmosphere, wild aster, orchid, star-dust, Rochelle, flesh, tortoise shell, rose grey, rose beige, Sudan, Zinc, French nude, almond, grain, peach, gravel, Newport, Sparkle, breeze, Miami, Shadow, Ecstacy, toast, gun metal, fawn, Formosa, blush and others. Also every evening shade. In sheer chiffon and heavy silks.

Fashion extends a gloved hand and if yours is not also smartly gloved, you are not completely costumed, according to the dictates of the mode. Gloves accompany your Spring costume and we have a style for each type of outfit.

Attractive Kid gloves with straight or turn-down cuff. Embroidered, scalloped and appliqued cuffs in color on tan, grey, black and white gloves.

Silk gloves with lovely cuffs in turn-down and straight models. A wonderful selection of shades. Kid and silk gloves, priced from $1.50 to $5.75.

Many other accessories that are necessary are to be found in various sections of the store.

Purses in envelope, pouch and square shapes. Leather, silk and bead. All colors.

The daintiest hankies you ever saw are here for your selection. Exquisite new styles in filmy or serviceable materials.

Beads, bracelets, brooches, hat pins and many other jewelry conceits are on display in the newest versions.

Compacts—toilet accessories and ever so many other things—come in and see for yourself.

POWERS, STAGS CLASH TONIGHT

Muskingum College Players in Action at High Gym.

Basketball fans of the city will have an opportunity tonight to see Clifford Orr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Orr, of Broadway, member of the Muskingum college basketball squad this season, and probably two other players of the New Concord five, in action against the strong Power class team, of East Liverpool, at the high school gymnasum.

Orr and his college teammates, Bain and Clark, are coming with the Muskingum Stag club for the final game on the Power passers' schedule.

The Powers are ending their season with one of the best records in the district. They have won 27 games and lost five, scoring 1,205 points to their opponents' 682, their latest conquest being recorded Tuesday night at the expense of the M. E. Seniors.

The Powers will have two Wellsville boys, Harold Dickey and Scholl, on their roster. Dickey is a forward and Scholl a guard. Other members of the squad include: Cunningham, Mensforth and Ashbaugh; Jester, center, and Paul English, Earl Cochran and E. Rockhold, guards.

M. E. girls and Glenmoor maids will clash in the preliminary, starting at 7:30.

AWAIT REPORT ON ROAD FUND BILL

Good roads boosters throughout the district from East Liverpool to Wheeling are interested in the report on the Dowell bill, authorizing $75,000,000 of federal aid for highways, which is expected to be presented for vote in the house the latter part of the week.

Ohio, according to officials of the Ohio Good Roads federation, would receive something like $2,770,000 from the fund.

Work is now proceeding on the Ohio river road between Toronto and Wellsville and county authorities hope that the major construction can be at least started in 1927. Three miles of the road have been graded 30 feet wide during the winter months at a total cost of $2,500 and a steam shovel is now in the "Narrows."

Brazil And The League

It is agreed that the laurel wreath for breaking up that last league of nations meeting, disappointing most of the nations of the world and disturbing world business and finance and postponing prospects of peace, goes to Brazil.

Probably Brazil feels ashamed of herself by this time. If so, she may proceed sooner or later to undo the worst piece of international work she ever put over. When New World nations participate in Old World affairs, it should be to help, not hinder. Leave it to European schemers to do the international dirty work, or pull each other's chestnuts out of the fire.

Brazil will have another chance next September.

If she continues mussing up European affairs, there is a simple remedy available before long. Brazil is a "temporary" member of the league council now, abusing her brief authority by refusing to let Germany in unless Brazil also is made a permanent member. The league, when Brazil's present term expires, can drop her from the council altogether. That would be a fitting penalty, unless she repents.

Health and Fashion

School children and their parents have become familiar in recent years with health fairies, milk fairies and a whole train of relatives of these, by means of school plays and health crusades. A Philadelphia organization tried something different in the way of health education.

It gave a fashion show. The so-called French designer was actually a member of the dairy council staff and the mannequins were local high school girls. The designer explained the fashion show as follows:

"We are beginning to realize what an important part health plays in this fashion show we call Life. On the crowded avenue you meet someone who particularly catches your eye. 'Ah! that lady is beautifully dressed,' you will say—but is it the dress alone that strikes your fancy? No. On second thought you will find that this lady is clothed in something more than style—she wears a robe of health—a clear skin, bright eyes, grace, poise and a subtle effluence of happiness. And these are the things I want all of you to incorporate into your gowns. Look to Heathland for your inspiration—then, if you wish, turn to Paris for the necessary frills and ruffles.

Then the attractive young girls in the pretty dresses moved across the stage, and in every case the "designer" made it clear that good health habits gave the gowns their appropriate setting and that without health the gowns could not have looked so well.

There is much inspiration in this for the growing girl, and even for her mother who could take a few hints about the place of health in stylishness.

Thanksgiving For Trees

Arbor Days are at hand, public ones to be observed with exercises in schools and private ones to be observed by the planting of trees around homes and by rejoicing over the return of blossoms and foliage to the deciduous trees.

In some states a Bird Day has been added to the calendar of special days. These two might very well be observed simultaneously. We couldn't keep our lovely song birds if we didn't have our trees, and we couldn't keep our trees if we didn't have the birds to devour insect pests and to carry seeds and make themselves generally useful as well as delightful.

Arbor Day, with its emphasis on tree cultivation and conservation, has played a useful part in developing the national interest in forestation. But there is still need of watchfulness and of wiser policies in the manufacture of wood products if the trees now planted are to hold their own in the coming years. Even if there were no such need, Arbor Day would remain an excellent special occasion for being glad that the old Earth is blessed with trees.

Silly Chain Letters

Along with the flu this spring, there seems to be another epidemic of "chain letters." In many communities the mails are clogged with them.

Some of them are particularly unnecessary and silly. One which is widely circulated enjoins every recipient to write to nine other persons, under penalty of "bad luck" if he neglects to do so, passing on this burning message:

"With success to you, let us go sailing through 1926."

In all probability, life would go on just as well without this childish game. Better, in fact; for busy people would not have their attention distracted from what they are doing, and important business communications would not be delayed by chain-letter jams.

There is a law against such foolishness, which ought to be enforced by the authorities and reinforced by public common sense.

The only trouble with Florida is, it's hard to raise fruit and real estate at the same time.

"Congress Hopes to Quit by June." 'Sall right with us.

Now they've found a tomb 2,000 years older than King Tut's, but tut-tut! We're getting fed up on tombs.

Aunt Eppie Hogg, The Fattest Woman in 3 Counties— By F. Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 1.—The daring of New York's banditry is seen in the armored cars that transport big payrolls through the streets. Many of the big manufacturing plants are like armed camps on pay day. Plain clothes men trussed with automatics patrol entrances and hallways.

In bank foyers paymasters deposit their withdrawals in heavy satchels and flanked on either side by armed men, scurry out to motor-racing taxis at the curb. They rarely go over the same route or land at the same entrance.

In most big plants, to prevent leakage of any sort, the paymasters are the only persons who know what hour they will leave for the banks. These hours vary weekly. Some weeks even the pay day is changed to aid in the confusion.

Police say the payroll bandits are invariably cowards. They lack the courage of the safeblower or lone footpad. They travel in packs and always outnumber their victims two to one. As a rule they are primed with drugs and kill without mercy.

In the past year three grayhaired and feeble subway ticket sellers have been shot down in cold blood after passing out the contents of their tills with trembling hands without resistance. The thugs would not take a sporting chance of an almost certain getaway.

Payroll bandits do not make their forays in a blind fashion. They lay their groundwork long before the actual hold-up. As a rule a "stool pigeon" manages to find a job in the counting room of a plant to be robbed. It is his job to get "the lay of the land."

All the vulnerable points for an attack are in hands of the enemy. A hand on a window pane may be the tip-off to waiting sentries outside that the paymaster is on the way to the bank. The "stool pigeon" usually vanishes when the job is done.

Time is money in the metropolis more than in most cities. Somebody has estimated that from Columbus Circle to 34th street in midtown there are two public clocks to a block. Yet I have never seen a New Yorker watchless. Aside from this, a New Yorker, by calling Canal 2020, will be immediately told the exact time without asking. The Western Union provides this service.

The Times Square section has almost as many watch repairing shops as hideaway speakeasies. One on Seventh Avenue advertises: "Fifty dollars reward for any watch I cannot repair."

A new handy service has also blossomed for New Yorkers. It is called the Ship Arrival Service, Inc. For $1 an obliging voice will inform you that the liner in which you are expecting friends or relatives has left quarantine and that it is time for you to go to the pier. To those who know the tedium of waiting a ship's arrival the service will probably be welcomed. The Western Union will notify you by wire or telephone for the same price.

There is the breath of old New York—the days of prancing bays, crinoline skirts and stocks—in a weekly event in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf. It is the Monday Morning Musicale, started 35 years ago by Albert Bagby and continued by him today. It shuns all publicity and only the socially unassailable are welcomed. Some of the members, wearing black rustling silks, come in carriages, and it is said that for many it is the only venture out of doors for the week. There are 1700 subscribers.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

What Do Women Want?

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 1. — With congressional and state elections impending and with the quadrennial contest for the Presidency next in order there are no questions so much discussed in Washington by politicians of male persuasion as those pertaining to the political ideas, ideals, and aspirations of women.

It is, of course, well known that there is one organization of women that is primarily interested in the fight to secure equality before or in the law for women. It is equally well known that there is a group of women, or a group of their organizations, seeking many other things and opposing the equality idea. But where and for what do women as a sex stand, or do they stand as a sex?

Are they for protection, or do they favor a tariff for revenue only?

Do they want the United States to join the League of Nations or participate in the World Court?

Are they dry or wet?

And when it comes to the question of prohibition, do or do they not favor a modification of the Volstead law?

What do women think about the immigration problem? Have they been aroused by the late fiasco at the port of New York anent the barring of a woman alien on the grounds of moral turpitude?

How about Blue Laws? How do women want Sunday observed—with or without automobile drives, movies, theatres, golf, baseball, etcetera?

What about taxation? Do women want Uncle Sam to get out of debt at the earliest possible date, with Federal taxes adjusted to that policy, or would they make a wide spread of the national debt and let future generations share the burdens that have grown out of events of the last decade?

What is the feminine viewpoint on national defense and the recogintion that should be accorded aviation?

And, by no means last or least important of the questions that are troubling men politicians, what do women think of the way men have been conducting governmental affairs and are they inclined to the opinion that they could do better—or could not do worse?

It is gradually dawning on citizens of the masculine persuasion that the time is at hand when they will no longer have a monopoly of office-holding. Women are cutting in on the erstwhile prerogative of the sterner sex at a rate that occasions serious consideration. They first went after positions in the party organizations and speedily attained recognition as vice-chairmen of national committees, national committeemen, state committeemen, and the like, and in no time at all they began asking for important elective positions, to say nothing of the good jobs that are passed out by executive favor.

Two women have been elected to the highest office in a State—that of Governor. There are three women now serving in the National House of Representatives, and a woman has been United States Senator from her State long enough to get her name on the official record. Those are the high spots that women have hit, politically while they have attained no end of minor elective jobs ranging from municipal offices to secondary state positions. Women judges are frequently confronted by those who have occasion to greet interpreters and enforcers of the law, and those who get themselves prosecuted often find that it is a woman who is doing the prosecuting.

Most cities, it is also to be noted, have their women members of their police forces, so that it is quite possible for a malefactor to be arrested by a woman, prosecuted by a woman assistant district attorney, tried before a jury composed wholly or in part by women, and sentenced of a woman judge. Men might complain of that were it not for the fact that it has not been many years since women were on the outside looking in when it came to matters of that sort, and for the further fact that however loudly they might complain it would do them no good.

Nor is it to be forgotten that there are numerous political offices that are essentially "soft snaps," and that women can hold them just as efficiently as men, for the very good reason that no efficiency is required—except in subordinates who do all the work. In studying their political primers women have been quick to learn about such sinecures, and it is observed that they are displaying no hesitation in going after them.

Since they are possessed of the ladder of suffrage there is no reason why women should not go after the choice plums that hang highest on the tree of politics. Hence the question as to when they will seek the Presidency and Vice Presidency.

Most men party leaders insist that that is a foolish question, but some of them are not so certain about it. A few of the more cautious say that one thing will be more likely to set women's minds on seeing one of their sex in the White House than for men to keep insisting that it is a foolish idea.

Women leaders as a rule do not care to discuss the question, holding that the time is not yet ripe for its consideration seriously. However, one of the surest ways of starting an argument is to tell a group of women politicians that no woman would be competent to fill the office of chief executive, for most of them are decidedly of the opinion that a woman can do anything in an office-filling line that a man can do.

Numerically women are on practically even terms with men and there is no reason to doubt their being able to get almost anything they make a real fight for. Nor since their responsibilities as citizens are as great as those of men is it reasonable to expect that they will always be content with the minor rewards of politics.

In all probability, according to the political prophets, women will make their bid for presidential honors by first taking a whirl at the office of Vice President. They will advance the argument that if they are willing to concede the Presidency to the men they should be accorded second place, and men will find that argument difficult to combat when women present it determinedly.

It may not happen in one of the big national conventions of 1928, but one of these days in such a gathering a woman's name will be presented and voted for, and when that has happened it will not be many campaigns before the men wake up to find that they have nominated a woman.

And women are in training for important executive positions, it is to be noted. One of them has just been made president of a big insurance company in Brooklyn, while another has been placed at the head of a great industrial corporation with which she has been identified for twenty years.

Chilean Government To Place Orders for Two New Cruisers

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE—The Chilean government is about to order in Great Britain two cruisers of about 10,000 tons displacement. There is keen competition from the United States, but British shipbuilders declare themselves confident of receiving the order.

The vessels are most likely to go to the Tyne and Barrow, as these centers have built ships in the past which have been appreciated by the Navy department of Chile.

They will resemble, in displacement, gun-power and defense, the cruisers recently ordered on the Clyde and Tyne for the British navy. This additional work will give a distinct fillip to British shipbuilding.

CHAPMAN ASKS NEW TRIAL IN DEATH FIGHT

Attorneys Make Last Move to Save Bandit.

HE IS GLOOMY

Slayer is to Hang in Connecticut Next Monday.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 1.—Rebuffed at every turn, attorneys for Gerald Chapman, the notorious bandit, today planned to make at least one more desperate effort to save him from the gallows.

They advised Chapman, who sits moodily in his cell at Whethersfield prison, that they will apply to State Superior Court Judge Marvin for a new trial.

They will submit four affidavits to the court and, if the judge thinks necessary, will offer the four affiants in person for examination. It is on the evidence of these witnesses that Chapman's lawyers think the bandit should be given another trial.

Chapman is to hang next Monday night, shortly after midnight, and the present outlook is that there is little likelihood of official or judicial intervention.

The once widely-heralded "superbandit" realizes that he is nearing the end of his rope.

As the clock ticks off the minutes to the hour of his doom, he grimly paces his cell or sits in silence and has very little to say to any one, save his lawyers. The spark of hope burns in Chapman's heart, albeit faintly.

Scores of newspapermen are arriving in jail and at the hanging. Officials at the attorney's office were confident nothing would take place that will prevent the execution at the scheduled time.

It had seemed to all except Chapman's lawyers that the bandit's last hope flickered out last night when Governor John H. Trumbull refused to reprieve Chapman. He had signed three reprieves for Chapman and he told the bandit's chief counsel, Frederick J. Groehl, that he would not sign another. Groehl left the governor's office, apparently disheartened, but still determined to leave no stone unturned to save Chapman's life.

The appeal to Judge Marvin probably will be made some time today, as the time for the hanging is rapidly approaching, and there are but two court days left—today and Monday. Friday and Saturday are court holidays.

AVIATION engineers in Berlin plan a 10-hour flying service between Hamburg and New York, a thing that will be a commonplace of transportation within a generation.

The German plan includes a suggestion printed several times in this column, namely, establishment of an air route six or seven miles up in the air where there are no vertical squalls, fogs, blizzards, hurricanes, cyclones or high winds of any kind.

LATER, enormous lighter-than-air machines will travel in those high regions, coming down at long intervals, only for repairs. They will drop passengers, in smaller airships, at London, Paris, Peking, etc., as the big steamers used to drop passengers for Liverpool on little tugs in the Mersey.

AFTER her husband had confessed to various crimes, including murder, his wife told the New York detectives, "my husband always gave me plenty of money, but I didn't know he was a criminal. I thought he made his money running in whisky from Canada.

That shows that bootlegging, encouraged by the "better element," is not considered seriously in certain circles.

Lions' club. He pointed out that school principals had been entertained in an effort to obtain their co-operation in the campaign. City officials were guests at another meeting at which traffic law enforcement was discussed. The last move was to enroll other clubs in a city-wide movement to make the streets and highways safer for the pedestrian and automobile driver.

Superintendent Wills of the traction company outlined a safety campaign plan used at Wheeling a few years ago. As a result of this drive, he declared, accidents had been reduced. He suggested newspaper and billboard advertising, safety buttons for school children, stickers for automobile windshields and a parade in which business men and manufacturers would be asked to provide floats. He said that the street car company would provide a flat car to display wrecked automobile, due to "someone's carelessness."

Chief of Police McDermott declared that the public failed to observe the traffic signs and urged that all violators be reported. He charged that "jay-walking" was responsible for many accidents and recommended that liability insurance should be made a requirement of all automobile owners to protect the pedestrian in case of accident. Plans are being worked out, he declared, for a "stop" at the corner of Jackson and Fifth street.

McLain condemned the practice of "jay-walking." Emmett Mylar, president of the Lion's club, said that the license numbers and names of violators should be reported to the police.

Director Moore declared that many automobile owners violated speed regulations at cross streets. The city ordinance fixes the speed rate at crossings at 1 5miles an hour, Moore said.

Municipal Judge Hanley pointed out the need for cable fences along Pennsylvania avenue, River road and Lisbon street hill. The county, he declared, maintains strong guard rails along the county roads and the city should do likewise along dangerous thoroughfares within the corporation. All violators who have been brought before him, have been fined, he said.

"Think safety" was the suggestion of Prof. Rist. "If we can get the people to think along this line we will accomplish considerable," he said.

Although he was prevented from attending the meeting because of a conflicting engagement, Secretary Diehl, of the automobile club, forwarded suggestions which the committee probably will use. He urged that slides be used in theatres and that Boy Scouts do traffic duty. He offered the use of a motion picture.

Frank Sawney pointed out that violators should be fined for their first offense.

R. J. McElravy suggested a mass meeting to hear the organization committee's report at a later date.

N. P. Kerr, president of council, declared that the pedestrian was as much to blame for accidents as the automobile driver. He said that an educational campaign is necessary.

T. V. Milligan asserted that the fining of first offenders would have a better effect than if they were discharged with a warning. A. E. Harris opposed the plan of putting "stop" regulations in effect at the foot of the Lisbon street hill. He suggested that West Eighth street should be lined and west bound cars for Wellsville compelled to make a stop in an effort to relieve the hazards existing at the junction of Lisbon and West Eighth streets.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 1.—Stocks of the oil and motor companies forged ahead in early trading today, in continuance of Wednesday's closing rally.

Comparisons of prices of leading stocks today with Tuesday's low levels reveals numerous gains of five to 10 points, while the general market average has risen about four points. The turn in the market has been due largely to the lifting of selling pressure against the speculative stock leaders, which in a comparatively short time forced an enormous amount of liquidation of long stocks by the general public. It is too early to say whether the end of the decline has been reached or not.

FUNNY HOW MAN WAITS UNTIL HE IS 40 TO MAKE FOOL OF SELF," SAYS PRISONER

W. H. Clark, 43, of Merrick, N. Y., Arrested for Theft of Old Automobile and Held Under $5,000 Bond.

DAYTON, O., April 1.—"It's funny how a man waits until he is 40 to make a fool of himself."

Such was the observation of Wilbur H. Clark, 43, alias Fred I. Otten, of Merrick, N. Y., who found himself today in custody of police charged with the theft of a dilapidated automobile and held under $5,000 bond.

Clark was accompanied by a 17-year-old girl, who, he said, is the daughter of the woman he loved and lost.

"I loved her mother when I was young," Clark told police. "I left home when I was 18 and when I returned she had married another man. She had two children, one of them the girl who has lived with me for the past three years. I fell in love with her, too."

Clark says he was treasurer of the school board of Merrick, N. Y., for several years and is wanted in that place for absconding with $1,200 of the boards funds. He had eluded capture for three years until he unfortunately attempted to make his getaway with the ancient auto.

"As treasurer of the Merrick school board I was entrusted with about $145,000" Clark said, "and I have been sufficiently respected by the citizens of the city to be re-elected to the post time and again. Here I am in jail, charged with the theft of an automobile worth less than $50."

Blizzard Lashes State

AKRON, April 1.—The western blizzard reached Akron about 5 o'clock last night and today the air was filled with driving particles of sleet and snow, resembling a January storm. One inch of snow fell during the night, and the wind drifted it in some places to a depth of four to eight inches. No damage has been reported as a result of the near gale which ushered in the snowfall.

KENTON, April 1.—A raging wind and snowstorm that struck Hardin county early last night was continuing today. Slight damage was done to trees and signs and no serious losses have been reported.

Wind's Velocity Hits 50 Miles.

MANSFIELD, April 1—The blizzard which swept the middle west Wednesday night left Mansfield and Richmond county covered with a coating of ice and snow today. Drifts several feet deep were reported, although the snowfall was comparatively light. Damage was slight, although several trees were blown down in the residential sections of the city and the ice-covered streets caused many minor accidents. The temperature this morning was 33 degrees.

DAYTON, April 1.—Nothing indicative of the presence of spring was seen in the weather here during the last 24 hours. Following a heavy downpour of rain yesterday morning the mercury began to drop and this morning stood at 22 degrees, accompanied by high winds and intermittent snow. Many telephone and telegraph poles were blown over and roofs torn from their moorings.

The wind reached a velocity of 50 miles an hour here and at Brandt, north of Dayton, the wind was strong enough to move parked automobiles and did some damage to buildings in and around that village.

Another Storm in the West.

CHICAGO, April 1.—On the heels of clear skies in the mid-west that had promised early relief from the record blizzard of the last few days, Kansas and western Missouri were staggered again today by a second snowstorm of blizzard proportions.

Reports from Topeka and Kansas City said there were no signs of its abating.

The storm hit Kansas at dawn and moving eastward was raging in western Missouri at 9 o'clock. It came out of the northwest.

Drifts again were piling high and traffic, which had begun to recover, was again tied up.

Illinois and Iowa had not yet been touched by the new snow menace.

Weather forecasts over the entire mid-west were for more snow late today and tonight.

LABOR LEADERS SPEAK AT MEET

Unions Justifiable, Workers are Told at Rally.

A plea for organized labor was voiced by Charles J. Case, Cincinnati, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio State Building Trades Council, and Arnold Bill, Cleveland, third vice president of the Ohio Federation of Labor, at a labor rally in the high school auditorium last night under auspices of Trades and Labor council.

Pointing out that labor unions are justifiable organizations, the speakers appealed to unorganized trades and crafts to take advantage of the benefits derived from being unionized. Doctors, lawyers, dentists and manufacturers have organizations for the protection of their business, they said, and the same right is extended the working man.

Charles J. Higgins, president of Trades and Labor council, was chairman of the meeting. Piano solos were rendered by Miss Lucile Orin. Miss Mildred Weaver, soprano, sang two numbers, "As I Pass By Your Window" and "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise." Albert Manton, student director of the Ohio Wesleyan Glee club, who is spending the spring vacation here, rendered "Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride" and "A Rose in the Bud." Miss Orin was the accompanist.

Stork Outdistances Death Angel Here During Past Month

The stork outdistanced the death angel in East Liverpool during March, according to the report of Mrs. Alice M. Davidson, deputy registrar of vital statistics, submitted to the board of health last evening.

The births totalled 53, of which 28 were males and 30 females. There were 35 deaths, of which 19 were males and 16 females.

Health Commissioner John Fraser reported 16 new cases admitted to the clinic, making a total of 894 since the place opened. During the month 109 male and 48 female treatments were given. There were 11 cases of scarlet fever, one of diphtheria, one of smallpox, three of measles and one occupational disease.

The board discussed the need of a sanitary sewer along Daisy alley and ordered a cleanup of the private property adjacent to a run which empties into a sewer near the head of the alley.

MINERS' LEADER CONDEMNS USE OF INJUNCTION

Van A. Bittner Speaks at Mass Meeting in Fairmont.

UNDER SENTENCE

Union Men Observe Anniversary of Eight-hour Work Day.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Apr. 1.—"Some day the courts will learn that the conduct of human beings and their institutions cannot be regulated by injunction, Van A. Bittner, of Pittsburgh, chief organizer of the United Mine Workers in northern West Virginia, declared here today.

Bittner addressed a mass meeting of union miners who assembled here to celebrate the twenty-ninth anniversary of the eight-hour working day. He recently was sentenced to serve six months in jail and pay a $500 fine for contempt of court in connection with his union activities.

The union organizer is to appear before Judge Grant Lazelle, in Morgantown, on April 8, to begin serving his sentence, which was upheld by the state supreme court.

"Injunctions issued in violation of the law are unconstitutional," Bittner continued. "It shall ever be the purpose of the United Mine Workers to fight injunctions of this type.

"The mere fact that a man must serve terms in prison for alleged violation of these injunctions is only a passing event and the great principle of American freedom is bound to prevail.

"The right of miners to organize and bargain collectively is recognized everywhere in the United States. The United Mine Workers of America is a trade union that is recognized in every state as the only institution of its kind that can and has protected miners and their families.

"Miners of northern West Virginia will no more desert the United Mine Workers than will West Virginia leave the United States and form a separate government of her own.

"Coal operators in northern West Virginia will admit that if all coal operators paid the union wage scale it would tend toward real economic stabilization of the coal mining industry.

"The United Mine workers will ultimately be successful in organizing all miners in northern West Virginia. This is inevitable. When our task is accomplished the miner will receive a decent wage and the operator will make a fair profit."

YOU FOLKS WITH ACHES AND PAINS CAN GET QUICK RELIEF

Nationally Known Baseball Trainer Says It Does Not Matter Whether It Is Lumbago, Sciatica, Neuralgia or Neuritis

LINIMENT HE USES ON BIG LEAGUE BALL PLAYERS STOPS PAIN QUICK

Tells How to Stop Pains, Aches, Lame Back Quickly

READ WHAT THIS EXPERT SAYS BELOW

For 25 years I have studied how to keep men in perfect physical condition and my experience makes me certain I can take a person no matter how much they ache and hurt from rheumatism, lame back, neuritis, lumbago, or neuralgia and quickly have them feeling like running a foot race or a home run.

Ball players after getting up a sweat often play an inning or two in the rain and them damp, cold and chilled to the bone, catch trains, with result that next day they show up at the ball park so crippled with rheumatism, lameness and stiff joints that they can hardly walk. An ordinary liniment would never fix them up quickly, but the liniment we use does the trick, declares Mike Martin, general trainer of the Washington baseball club.

FANS KNOW MIKE

So many people with rheumatism, lame backs, neuritis and neuralgia have wanted this liniment which we use at the ball park that bottles are mailed all over the country and now it can be obtained at Carnahan Drug Co., or any good drug store, in small bottles for a few cents. Just ask for Mike Martin's Liniment. It is guaranteed to be the finest, speediest liniment made and will bring complete relief to user or money refunded. Folder enclosed with each bottle tells how to use this liniment. If people out of town cannot get Mike Martin's liniment they should send a dollar for large family size bottle to Mike Martin, Trainer, Washington, D. C. It is a wonderful liniment. No man or woman with aches or pains should do without it.

NEW STRIP MILL WILL BE BUILT

Weirton Steel Company Adds $5,000,000 to Expansion Program.

Another improvement program calling for the expenditure of $5,000,000 was announced today by officials of the Weirton Steel corporation. This project follows closely upon the $15,000,000 building program launched by the corporation last fall.

The latest plan for the improvement of the corporation holdings at Weirton includes the erection of a new strip mill on the site of the old Weirton baseball park. Construction work will begin between April 15 and 20 and the completed plant will offer employment to 1,500 men. The site selected for the expansion is just south of the present strip mill and measures 400 by 1,500 feet.

The Weirton Steel corporation will manufacture automobile body plating in the new plant, it was announced, this being the first instance where this product has been attempted by the West Virginia company. The general building contract for the project has been let to the United Engineering & Foundry company of Pittsburgh.

With the inauguration of the new improvement program, the Weirton corporation is planning to expend $20,000,000 on new factories along the West Virginia side of the river this year. Officials stated today the entire program should be completed by early winter and would provide employment for more than 10,000 additional employes. More than 1,100 workmen are at present engaged in construction work at Weirton and an additional force will soon be pressed into service on the new strip mill. The program outlined last fall includes the erection of a new sheet mill, a coke plant, a modern river harbor and a number of battleship blast furnaces. The first furnace will be blown in July and the coke plant will be completed by August.

The expensive improvements under way will necessitate many radical changes by the Pennsylvania railroad company in the Weirton yards. Today E. T. Whiter, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad, was in Weirton to confer with officials of the steel corporation relative to their future plans. He announced a satisfactory agreement had been reached whereby the railroad could proceed at once with the changes.

Real soap means real lather

The kind of purity you want in soap is more than freedom from injurious ingredients. You want pure, rich soap that can make a good, creamy lather in any water—it's far better than thin, half-way lather to take dirt out of the pores. Only the finest, select materials can make a soap with such lathering power as Sweetheart has. And it's kindly to the most delicate skin. A fine soap low priced in a plain box.

Christmas Has Become Tragedy, Declares Dr. John B. Koehne

Rich and Poor Should be Taught to Bring Their Gifts to Needy as Wise Men Did to Bethlehem Babe, he Says.

Christmas has become a tragedy, an idolatry and the saddest time of the year, declared Dr. John B. Koehne, Congregational minister of London, N. H., in mid-week discussion of Bible themes at the First Presbyterian church last evening. "The rich, having plenty," he said, "know not what to give their children and the poor, lacking enough, can not obtain that which they want for their descendants. Until all are taught to bring their gifts to the needy as the wise men did to the Bethlehem babe whose birth they are vainly trying to celebrate happiness will not return in the observance of this super-natal day."

With beautiful imagery and compelling word pictures that were buttwarked by bristling facts which dovetailed in his conclusion of Jesus Christ being superior to all known great men and therefore more than man, Dr. Koehne brilliantly developed to a logical end his evening subject: "Christ Contrasted With Great Men." He was given rapt attention throughout by his tri-church audience.

Announcement was made of tonight's theme, "The Great Miracle Problem,' by Rev. L. C. Davidson, who made the invocation and finally offered the benediction. In this evening's discourse Dr. Koehne will show the reasonableness of miracles as declared in the Scriptures.

A song service, directed by Oliver Johnson, again preceded the service in which he sang one of the late W. L. Thompson's hymns, "Better Home Sweet Home."

"There are two creeds regarding Jesus Christ," the speaker averred, "that enunciated by John the Baptist when he said of Him: 'Behold the Lamb of Bod!' and the ejaculation of Pontius Pilate: 'Behold the Man!' The skeptics and modernists, which mean the same thing, subscribe to the latter.

"You can not contract different personalities or things, but you may compare the same as mountain with mountain, city with city and man with man. But I am contrasting Christ with the world's great men.

"You have heard it said that Daniel Webster had the 'eyes of a volcano;' Milton the 'wings of an eagle' and that Clemenceau was the 'Tiger of France.' That is simply rhetoric. Yet, to none of these or any other man, was ever a hymn written, all hymns are to Christ.

"Of no great man can it be or was it ever said, 'He was the Bread of Life,' 'water that will end thirst' and the 'light of the world.' No great man ever prophesied. No great man was great as a babe as was Christ. No man yet was greater than his own race. Christ belongs now to all races. He died when a great man is at but the outset of his career."

That great men were always educated was the affirmation of Dr. Koehne. "Where did Christ get his education? he queried. Not from his mother; he had no books; nor did he have contact with great minds. Neither did he brood, as some contend, upon the great problems of the soul. At that his knowledge was so outstanding that he left no problems to be solved. He solved all that other religions left unsolved.

"It is the mark of a scholar to say 'I don't know.' Thus he said about the day of judgment. He ever replied instantly to questions of family, society the world and the future and these stand until now. The scholars of twenty centuries have not been able to impeach this sayings.

"His influence has steadly became wider and wider. He has become the fulfillment of the dream when men and women shall be clothed with righteousness.

"Who else could say: 'If I be lifted up I will draw all men to me.' Even President Coolidge does not say 'I' but the 'administration.' Who could assert: 'Heaven and earth shall pass away but my words will endure forever. Roosevelt wanted Taft to carry on 'my policies;" Wilson had 'my 14 points;' but where are they now?

A traveling man, angered, burnt one of the Gideon Bibles in his room. The next morning, in raking up the embers he picked up a piece of paper that had not been destroyed. On it were the words "Heaven and earth will pass away, but mine will endure for ever." He accepted Christianity as a result."

Dr. Koehne went into detail as to Christ coming in the "fullness of time." He explained how the world hed exhaused by then every knowieldge of God. It was at a crisis, hitherto unprecedented, the Jews encompassed in robes of beautiful prophesy; Athens in the wiles of skepticism; Egypt in sphinxlike darkness; China asleep and Rome, slipping in its armored security. "No great man came in the fullness of time." He said "Christ came in the saddest hour of the world. He arrived amidst universal moral lethargy and international skepticism. He has timed it, gradually but no less surely, by means of rough fishermen to whom He intrusted His teachings. Through these and their followers righteousness will enthrall the world."

Favorites Survive In Chicago Tourney

CHICAGO, April 1.—Sixteen crack teams, survivors of the first two days' play, were impatiently awaiting the gong today that would open the third round of the national interscholastic basketball tournament at the University of Chicago.

Fitchburg, Mass., and Roswell, N. M., were scheduled to open hostilities at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

The Massachusetts five have displayed some of the best basketball of the tourney. They fought their way into the third round last night by defeating the strong Billings, Montana, quintet, 33 to 20.

In yesterday's play most of the favorites came through. These include Nanticoke, Pa., Elkins, W. Va., Kansas City, Mo., Newton, Kans., Atlanta, Ga., and Wheeler, Miss.

While the playing was not sensational, several games were filled with thrills and kept the large gallery continually on its feet. Next to the Gaylord, Minn.-Memphis, Tenn., game, which the Gophers won by the narrow margin of 25 to 24, the flashiest and hardest fought game on the card was that between Elkins, W. Va., and New Trier, Ill.

The southerners were a little too heavy for Trier, but they were in a fight all the way. Trier led at the first quarter 4 to 3, but at the half Elkins was out in front, 17 to 10. Elkins was held scoreless in the third period while Trier picked up two points, but in the final the southerners pushed ahead and won, 24 to 16.

Kansas Team Wins.

Another eastern entry that gives much promise is Nanticoke, Pa., the miners' flashy victory yesterday over Salt Lake City, 39 to 26, puts them in a class with the tourney's strongest favorites, Kansas City and Newton, Kan. Nanticoke outplayed the Mormons in every department of the game, winning as it pleased.

Kansas City and Newton won their games yesterday, the former defeating Scott County, Miss., 49 to 24, and the latter swamping Lexington, Ky., 36 to 19.

Wheeler, Miss., is another impressive team that gives much promise of reaching the finals. They won with little effort yesterday over Reno, Nev., 46 to 13. Wheeler placed in last year's meet.

Atlanta, Ga., had to extend itself to win from Omaha, Neb., 22 to 16. Other second round results were:

Salem, S. D., 37; Danville, Ky., 11.

Roswell, N. M., 35; Hagerstown, Md., 30.

Fargo, N. D., 28; Oak Ridge, La., 19.

El Reno, Okla., 45; Newton, Ia., 12.

Pine Bluff, Ark., 36; Cheyenne, Wyo., 21.

Pueblo, Colo., 27; Charleston, S. C., 10.

Today's Pairings.

The defeat of the Charleston quintet was something of an upset since they rated as one of the strongest fives entered in the meet. Little was known of the Colorado team, but their impressive showing in the final game last night against the strong Carolina five indicates there is more to be heard from them.

Today's pairings:

1 p. m.—Roswell, N. M., vs Fitchburg, Mass.

2 p. m.—Wheeler, Miss., vs Nanticoke, Pa.

3 p. m.—Atlanta, Ga., vs Gaylord, Minn.

5 p. m.—Fargo, N. D., vs Elkins, W. Va.

6 p. m.—San Antonio, Tex., vs Pine Bluff, Ark.

7 p. m.—Salem, S. D., vs Kansas City, Mo.

8 p. m.—El Reno, Okla., vs Newton, Kan.

9 p. m.—Pueblo, Col., vs Durham, N. C.

TRADE RUMOR NAMES TERRY

M'Graw May Part With Him for Left Handed Pitcher.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 1.—There may be a deal consummated within a matter of days whereby the New York Giants will become richer by one first-class left hand pitcher and poorer by one second-class first baseman who happens to be a first-class hitter. The latter is Bill Terry, one of the real die-hards of the 1926 holdout crop, and everything depends on how the young man greets John McGraw when the Giants reach Memphis tonight or tomorrow.

Rumors today linked the names of Johnny Cooney and Wilbur Cooper, prospective Boston and Chicago left hand pitchers, with the prospective trade, although credible details were lacking.

All that the keyhole champions had to go on was the statement that solicitous inquiries regarding Terry had reached McGraw from at least two other National league clubs and the fact that McGraw and Dave Bancroft, of the Braves, met by appointment at Tampa several days ago. It was said at the time that Bancroft wanted to make Terry into an outfielder, so that he, Bancroft, might be able to muster a punch that the Braves now lack.

McGraw's reply to all inquiries was declared to have been a demand for a left hand pitcher and the Braves have only one of any consequences, namely the aforementioned Cooney. This fact alone would have been sufficient to send Bancroft from the Tampa conference with his money sewed in the lining of his vest.

Cubs May Figure.

It is possible he decided he needed Terry less than he needs the only left handed winner of his outfit.

Cooper came into the speculations only by a process of elimination, the Cubs being a club that would esteem Terry for his long distance hitting against Chicago's short distance fences. It was decided, therefore, that the Cubs were the other club that had evinced interest in the player.

The further fact that Cooper was said to be on the market before the Cubs went to Catalina lent color to the Chicago angle. However, the chances of the Cubs and Giants doing business at this time were in proportion to the number of miles separating them, which are plenty.

Still, McGraw has made no attempt to conceal the fact that he is far from pleased with a man who has played two years as a substitute, yet demands a two-year contract at $10,000. There isn't a doubt that he will trade Terry if he can get what he wants for him and that goes regardless of whether the gentleman sings during the Giants' stay in Memphis.

Anyhow, this much can be written down in the book: If Terry does not sign on the occasion in question, it is altogether likely that he will play ball with another National league club this season.

You'd hardly say the telephone girl has either a business or a profession. Just a calling.—Zanesville Signal.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

In applying my "stright line" principle in the swing the player begins the forward swing with a general forward movement of his whole body and by that I mean forward on a straight line, toward the line of flight for the ball.

This movement shifts all the weight over to the left leg. This leg then stiffens and stops the weight movement. The left arm, straight clear down with the swing, then sweeps the clubhead down toward the ball. When the clubhead is near the ball the right hand will go into it instinctively. Just as the clubhead meets the ball—not before that—you shoot the left hip right into it. This gives the swing that "drag down" appearance the clubhead always has when you see good golfers swing. It is a drag down—practically all the way with the left arm pulling. The sense of it, however, is that the body moves forward—not around.

MY SWEETHEART!

O'NEILL PLANS TO 'COME BACK'

Working Out Now With Toronto International Club.

By Norman E. Brown.

Found an old friend working out with the Toronto International league club during my sojourn in the south. Steve O'Neill, for years catching ace of the Cleveland Indians, was the man.

Steve is starting out to do a comeback in the big show and believes he has landed with the proper club for his purpose.

O'Neill was given his unconditional release by the New York Yankees last fall when Huggins decided to get rid of several vets. Steve waited for other big league clubs to pick him up and then signed with the Int team. With Dan Howley's outfit O'Neill will be worked day in and day out—the thing he needs to keep his weight down. Howley assigned him behind the plate the plate the first day out and when I saw the team in action at Asheville. N. C., Steve looked thinner than he has for, lo, these many campaigns.

STEVE O'NEILL

The mystery to me is why three or four of the big league clubs failed to grab O'Neill.

Of course Huggins made a mistake in allowing both O'Neill and Schang to depart. Huggins hasn't a capable all-around catcher on his ball club today.

The Cleveland Indians could have used him one more season, while building up their pitching staff.

The Brooklyn Dodgers could use him.

But O'Neill isn't worrying over spilled milk.

"I figure on being back next year," says Steve. And in the meanwhile Howley is counting on the vet to guide his young pitchers, including Owen Carroll, through to another big year for the Canadian team, which finished second last year in the Int league.

Elmer Myers, curve ball artist, once a member of the Athletics and then the Indians, is expected to bolster the hurling staff of the Baltimore Orioles this season. Myers was one of a trio of players the Mackmen traded to Cleveland one time for Bobby Roth, restless soul of baseball. Larry Gardner, veteran third baseman of the Red Sox machine, was the second man, and Charley Jamieson, pitcher and outfielder, was thrown in. He is the only man involved who is still in the game—and he is still very much in it.

Gene Tunney, it is hinted, may retire after his long awaited battle with Jack Dempsey—if the contest ever takes place. This is interesting. We will be expected to get all steamed up over a bout that will either leave Dempsey the non-fighting champ or replace him with another gentleman who has no idea of keeping the boxing game alive by showing the interest a champ should show.

BUFFALO STARS ON A. B. C. ALLEYS

TOLEDO, O., April 1.—Buffalo's best will be on the drives of the A. B. C. tournament here tonight, among them the Weisser Blue Ribbons, last year's international champion five.

Hoefler Ice Cream, captained by Joe West, the human kangaroo of the bowling game and likewise one of the country's best pinsters, and the Liberty Bank, in whose lineup are the Caruana brothers, Frank and Joe, are the leading Bison city fives. There will be 24 outfits from that city in action.

Detroit, St. Louis, Chicago, Monroe, Sherrill, Watertown, Akron, Milwaukee and New York quintets are scheduled also. Prominent among the latter is the inter-city team of New York, led by Alec Dunbar, one of the country's best known bowlers.

Chicago carried away high team honors last night when the L. Redmans totalled 2917. This was well away from the leaders, however. Other good figures were W. P. Ternes, Detroit, 2889; Wreckers, Detroit, 2829; Navarre Hotel, Toledo, 2844.

The Paige Dairys and Toledo Steel Products, Toledo's leading star teams, failed to hit out of the 2700 class.

It was the afternoon work of Detroit bowlers that was the big feature, Harry Gerloski of the Michigan metropolis hammering his way into first place in the all events with a nine-game total of 1981.

At Oakland, Cal.—Roland Todd, British light heavyweight, and Frankie Campbell, hard hitting San Francisco boxer, fought a ten round draw.

Akron, O.—Maxie Holub, Akron, defeated Louis D'Arco, Cleveland, 10 rounds. Tommy Hughes, Cleveland, defeated Andy Tomaskey, McKeesport, eight rounds. Johnny Hannison, Akron, defeated Jimmy Perry, Alliance, six rounds. K. O. Kelley, Akron, knocked out Wildcat Lennings, Cleveland, four rounds. Phil Goldstein, Cleveland, slightly shaded Mickey Satnick, Akron, six rounds.

Thomas, a former member of the Ohio University wrestling team, has been working out in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium all winter. He has been acting as instructor for a group of men on Tuesday and Friday evenings, following the regular senior men's "gym" class. The instruction is open to all members who wish to participate.

NEW YORK, April 1.—Tex Rickard's "important announcement," to be made today, will concern plans for Jack Dempsey to defend his title at the Yankee stadium in September, according to reports in circulation.

Ted Hunselman Sent To Newell In Trade

Star Backstop is Accompanied by Crawford, Young Outfielder; Both Clubs Add Strength by Transaction.

THE Newell Homer Laughlin and the Trotter clubs of the Industrial Baseball league today announced the consummation of a trade in which Catcher Ted Hunselman and Outfielder Crawford of the local aggregation go to the West Virginians for Outfielder Kent McConnell.

The deal was put through at a conference last night attended by Manager John Fowler and Captain Eddie Bayley of the Trotter combine and Manager Sol McCoy and Joseph Dickey of the Laughlin club.

Crawford, an agile, promising young performer, was recently traded to Trotters by the Hall China club which early this year acquired the franchise of the Babcock & Wilcox team, the East Enders retiring from the circuit.

McConnell is one of the leading players of the league. Although he works usually in the outfield, he possesses the desirable qualifications of being able to fulfill a utility role in any position, including the battery points.

Hunselman ranks as one of the best backstops in the Industrial circuit experience with the big mitt covering a long period of years.

As a result, both clubs are expected to profit by the trade.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEAMS BATTLE

Park Boulevards will clash with First Presbyterians in a Sunday School league contest tonight on the Y. M. C. A. court, the game starting at 8:15.

The winner of the game will meet the United Presbyterians on the Y. M. C. A. floor.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Old Folks Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83.

Most men and women past fifty must give to the bowels some occasional help else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to weak bowels.

Is you present laxative, in whatever form, promoting natural bowel "regularity"—or must you purge and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, colds, or sour, gassy stomach?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural, regular bowel movement even for those chronically constipated. It never gripes, sickens or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine nad just see for yourself.

48 States Have 48 Kinds Of Laws About Divorces

Nation Bill is Urged by Miss Martha R. Hicks, Chicago Clubwoman.

CHICAGO — If you want a divorce, don't go to South Carolina. If you must have a divorce in a hurry, go to Nevada, Texas or Idaho, but stay away from Connecticut.

This advice was given by Miss Martha R. Hicks, Chicago club woman, in an address here. "Divorce laws in the 48 states diverge more than any other set of statutes," said Miss Hicks. "The result is that people divorced in one state sometimes remain husband and wife under the laws of another state.

"No divorce action of any kind is possible in South Carolina. Divorce on grounds of desertion is possible in North Carolina only after the deserter has been gone for ten years. In New York adultery is the only cause for divorce. In 12 other states, adultery alone is no cause at all.

"Length of residence necessary for divorce action varies from six months in Nevada, Idaho and Texas to three years in Connecticut, while the necessary lapse of time to constitute desertion varies from one to ten years."

Many plans, all tending to do away with this confusion, have been proposed. A national divorce law or modification of existing state laws to make them uniform, Miss Hicks said, is being more widely and insistently advocated.

Rents likewise have been greatly reduced.

This Nurse Just Couldn't Stop Coughing

Specialists Didn't Help

It takes more than ordinary sweet, syrup cough mixtures to stop a stubborn cough that persists in hanging on.

For slight ordinary coughs almost any decent cough syrup will do, but if you have one of those tough ones that won't yield to common remedies and often keeps you awake at night then your best bet is Bronchuline.

Often one-half bottle forces the most stubborn cough to yield and you are better almost before you know it.

There is no sugar, chloroform or dope in Bronchuline; it's a wonderful medicine for people who are getting over a heavy cold or an attack of Flu.

A New York nurse just couldn't stop coughing even after consulting specialists, yet one-half bottle of Bronchuline did stop it—completely.

Ask Carnahan's Drug Store, Jesse D. Holloway or any good dealer for a bottle—often three or four doses will stop an ordinary cough.

Q. How long have eggs been associated with Easter? E. V. B.

A. The use of eggs at Easter time is the result of a custom of greatest antiquity, the egg having been considered in widely separated pre-Christian mythologies as the symbol of resurrection. It is probable that the Christian church adopted and consecrated an earlier custom. The egg is generally regarded as the symbol of spring, life, and fecundity of nature.

In flake or bar form for quick washing

—and it includes a TONIC for hands

Do you know that this pure neutral soap includes what beauty specialists say is one of nature's great tonics for the hands?

That is why women who wash three times a day—1,000 times a year—still have attractive hands.

And how perfectly it cleanses clothes.

Those sheery stockings, fragile undergarments, soft baby things, gay sweaters, coarse woolens—all seem brighter, fresher, cleaner when you use this unusual soap.

You don't rub—those thorough suds simply whisk dirt away. You merely rinse.

With clothes and furnishings always rising in price, isn't it wise to use this better soap that adds whole months of extra life to them?

Better ask your grocer today for Kirk's Flake White Soap.

1/5 of your income goes for clothes

One-fifth of your income goes for clothes; and when you figure in bed linen, curtains, blankets, etc., it's really more than that. Use this soap to protect them.

OHIO TEACHER IS MISSING

Nation-wide Search Made for Jackson B. McKinney.

NEW YORK.—A nation-wide appeal for information concerning the whereabouts of Jackson B. McKinney, instructor, of Marietta, Ohio, who disappeared mysteriously last February 11 from New Haven, Conn., where he planned to enroll in the graduate school of Yale university, was broadcast by the Missing Persons bureau of the New York police department.

Relatives of the missing instructor can offer no logical explanation for his disappearance, describing McKinney as quiet, studious and fond of the theatre. He had been an instructor in various colleges for the past twelve or fifteen years with the exception of the time he spent in war service. McKinney occasionally talked of getting a job in the dramatic department of a New York or Chicago newspaper.

The missing instructor is a brother of Frank B. McKinney, president, and W. P. McKinney, secretary-treasurer, of the Marietta Times, Marietta, Ohio.

The description of the missing Jackson B. McKinney follows:

"Age, 39 years. Height, about five feet nine inches; weight about 140 pounds. Complexion, dark; thin face; gray eyes; brown, rather thin hair; heavy eyebrows; with hands and forearms somewhat hairy. Five or six teeth missing in back of mouth.

"Wore tan suit of pinch-back model, black overcoat of medium weight, slate-colored soft hat. Overcoat and hat had been worn for some time. Carried black traveling bag with single handle. Carried open-faced Waltham watch with slight dent in back of case."

McKinney's trunk was checked from New Haven to New York on a passenger ticket on February 11, and is lying unclaimed in the Grand Central terminal.

PESTS FORCE U. S. TO BAR FOREIGN NARCISSUS; BOOSTS HOME PRODUCT

Assistant Federal Director in Charge of Test Farm Believes it Possible to Market Greater Quantities.

WILMINGTON, N. C.—As a result of the embargo which the United States placed against foreign bulbs to keep out pests, 80,000,000 narcissus bulbs must be produced annually in America to supply the demand, and the coastal section of North Carolina will raise one-eighth of this amount.

Charles T. Dearing, assistant director in charge of the test farm of the state department of agriculture located at Willard, is the authority for this statement. He believes that it will be possible to market even greater quantities in years to come. The demand for bulbs has been increasing steadily for years, he said.

SPEND MORE FOR GUM AND CANDY THAN FOR RELIGION AND EDUCATION

ST. LOUIS—More money is spent for ridiculous things than is spent for education and religion, acording to Charles A. Lee, state superintendent of schools.

"For every $100 spent last year," he said, "$8.25 was for prosecution of criminals, $22 on luxury, $11 on investments, $14.50 wasted, $24 on living, $13.50 miscellaneous and $4.50 on government.

"The people last year spent less than half as much for education as for automobiles and tobacco. They spent less for education than they did for soft drinks, ice cream, chewing gum and candy."

Don't dose a Child's Cold

CHILDREN hate to be dosed with medicine. Vicks VapoRub relieves colds, without dosing, in two ways at once. When rubbed over throat and chest at bedtime:—

(1) It is vaporized by the body heat and inhaled right to the inflamed air passages and lungs;

(2) At the same time it acts through the skin like an old-fashioned poultice, "drawing out" the pain, tightness and soreness.

Of course Vicks is just as good for the cold troubles of adults.

Only a Buick Could Stand this Test!

Buick has the only chassis built today that can take a "shower bath" while the engine is running and driving the wheels.

Only Buick provides the design which can undergo such punishment. Of all cars built today, Buick alone has the complete protection of the "Sealed Chassis" and "Triple-Sealed Engine."

Every Buick operating part is "sealed" inside a dirt-tight, oil-tight, water-tight iron or steel housing. The "Triple Seal" (air cleaner, gasoline filter, oil-filter) keeps dirt, grit and moisture out of the engine.

Road slush and grit cannot reach Buick vital parts. Rain and moisture cannot cause short circuits in the Buick electrical system. Even the spark plugs are protected!

Come in and see, with your own eyes, why Buick motor cars are more dependable. Only a Buick could stand the "shower bath" test!

A REAL RIDE WITH A REAL DRIVER

You step into his car. It is clean and comfortable. He gives the self-starter a single touch and instantly picks up the spin of the engine with the accelerator. He quietly engages the clutch and releases a flow of great power so even, so smooth, that you can't detect the beginning of movement. Immediately the speed doubles, trebles, quadruples, without jerk or splutter. Now you are sweeping along—swiftly, steadily, silently. You can't help but ask—

"What makes this car run so beautifully?"

Says the owner: "It's taken me three cars and nine years to learn that there isn't much difference between taking good care of a horse and taking care of an automobile. I ruined my first car my feeding it a low grade of gasoline and oil. Thought that I was saving money. I can still hear that rattle and knock. I can still see myself pumping the choke and pedaling the accellerator to make her start. My next car I 'blasted' to pieces with doped gasoline—which I don't entirely blame myself. I believed all 'they' told me and couldn't see what was going on under the hood. I got speed, the kind of speed you'd get from a horse that has been doped.

"But my second car arrived at the junk pile three years too soon. THIS is my third car. Nothing but Marathon Gasoline ever has been in the tank.

"Moreover, I get more miles per gallon than the factory told me I'd get. And the inside of the engine is as free from carbon as a gasoline engine possibly can be.

"So I'm going to keep on buying Marathon Gasoline and Marathon Oil, just as my grandfather always bought the choicest hay and oats for his favorite horses. 'The cheapest expense of keeping a horse,' he'd say.

"Horse-traders used to smile at the way the old man took care of his pets, but they all agree that he certainly could make them travel fast and far, and that he always got a fancy price in a trade."

Exploded! The Old Theory of Low-Cost Design

In developing and introducing the new Pontiac Six General Motors has completely shattered the theory that high quality could not be achieved in a low-cost Six.

From the day of its public presentation, the Pontiac Six has been making giant strides toward leadership in its field—because it is the living expression of quality in every aspect of motor car value.

With the Pontiac Six priced at $825, it is no longer necessary to accept the limitations of high-priced fours nor those that have hitherto characterized low-priced sixes.

In breath-taking performance, in striking beauty, in luxurious comfort, in staunch construction, the Pontiac Six is the vital embodiment of quality—yet it sells for a price so low that only General Motors could possibly achieve it.

EVE'S TWO LOVERS

By EDGAR POE NORRIS

THIRTY-SIX.

By walking carefully, Eve managed to get alongside Mary Sullivan before the latter suspected her presence. When she, disregarding the fact that Mary had the phone receiver to her ear, said: "I suppose you're being kept awfully busy keeping track of things," the subject of her attentions looked around startled, and put up the receiver, thus subconsciously proclaiming her guilt. At least, to Eve it was a proclamation of guilt.

"I don't understand," Mary responded, confused. "I was talking on the telephone."

"Oh, excuse me! I didn't know you were TALKING," Eve replied maliciously, seating herself by Mary's side easily, I suppose you are being kept very busy keeping track of things?"

"Yes, yes." Daggers in her eyes, if looks could kill!

Eve arose again. "Tell the girls I'll be around again tomorrow morning.' She exulted in the puzzled glance Mary gave toward the direction of John Ingate's office, as she walked away. She paused at the desk of Opal Riley on her way out to say familiarly to this best friend of hers (in the office): "I know that Mary has been having a grand time." Opal's smile was confirmation.

Walking through Central Square, Evee was struck with the idea of visiting the real estate offices which were congregated on one side of the square, in search of a place to live. The lists she found in two of them seemed laden with possibilities, especially since she now felt justified in spending a little more in rent than they had planned. With both of them working, they need not worry if the rent was a little too high.

The saleman who was commissioned to take her on the tour of inspection bore, she realized the moment, she saw him, a striking resemblance to John Ingate. They were much of the same build, with physiognomies that had much in common, but one was blonde and the other brunette. However, this was less noticeable when the salesman had put on his hat. He may have mistaken for interest her inspection of his features, which continued subsconsciously for several blocks after they lfete the office, for he endeavored to be forward and friendly. By the time they had reached the second house on their list, he was making remarks that could not be interpreted as anything but an effort to strike up a flirtation.

Eve, preoccupied with the merits of the respective houses, was not aware of this attention immediately. An embarrassed feeling grew upon her. But finally there was no mistaking this interest. Abruptly she announced, "I don't believe I care to go further. You have nothing that interests me. Please take me back to the square.

Taken aback somewhat, the salesman turned the car around and moved back toward Main street. He was silent for a time, but was again voluable before they reached the square.

This episode did not assume any importance until that evening. When Clay came home, he found his wife napping in bed. After leaving the salesman's car at the square, she had walked along the shopping district, looking covetously into many windows, and had come home tired and sleepy.

He did not attempt to kiss her, and made no effort to make known his presence immediately. But after a few minutes he seemingly became impatient and began to walk around heavily and make little noises. In a short time this had the desired effect. Eve opened her eyes.

"Hello, dear." She suppressed a yawn.

"Hello." Plainly, he was peeveed about something.

"Is my baby tired?" Another yawn.

"A man usually is after a hard day's work.' His tie dropped upon a chair, followed by his shirt.

Eve remained patient. "Aren't you going to kiss me?"

Clay deliberately went over and looked at his face closely in the mirror before turning back to the bed and indifferently pressing his lips to hers.

She raised herself up in bed. "What's the matter, honey? Aren't you feeling very well?"

"Oh, my health is all right."

Never before had she seen him as gruff as this.

"Did they make you work awfully hard?"

"Nobody who works for John Ingate—outside of certain members of his office staff, perhaps—gets paid for doing nothing."

Eve subsided into silence She must expect this often, she supposed. She laid back down upon the bed.

"I should think John Ingate would like to be seen driving you around in public!"

For a moment Eve was not sure she had understood. Then she slowly raised herself up.

"What are you talking about ——."

"Aw, you know what ——."

It came to her all at once. At the lunch hour, probably, he had seen her with the real estate salesman.

Se laughed. "Why, that wasn't John. That was ——."

"Now don't try to spring anything on me. I SAW who it was." He seemed suddenly to grow very angry. "I didn't expect you to lie about it."

Eve's cheeks flamed.

MILTON SILLS AT AMERICAN

He's Big Hearted Cop in "Making of O'Malley"

"The Making of O'Malley," now showing at the American theatre, proved the re-making of Milton Sills.

With his elevation to stardom by First National recently, Sills was given a new test of his versatility.

Although still the "he-man," Sills' role in his first starring vehicle, is a departure from the society roles and woman-hating characterizations of his last successes.

It is the agreed belief of Sills, Hudson and other First National officials that the public generally prefers the star in roles whose virility is tempered with close-to-the-heart drama. His plays in the future, therefore, will give him less the aspect of the stern, forbidding man and more of the warmth and geniality of the man who loves humanity.

"The Making of O'Malley" is the first of this type. "The Comeback," from M. D. C. Crawford's novel, which will follow his current production, is another, and this will be followed by a drama of the steel mills, "Men of Steel."

"The Making of O'Malley" is an adaptation of a short story of the same name by Gerald Beaumont. Sills has the role of a New York policeman.

While swinging his fists as fast and crushingly as ever, Sills, as Officer O'Malley, is a different personality than any he has yet assumed for the screen. O'Malley is a slow-minded, awkward son of the "ould sod" who walks his beat with a stiffness of spine and austerity in discipline which makes him a trial even for his superior officers. But behind his slow-thinking mind is a sense of humor and a heart as tender as it is rugged.

This hulk of a man the author has decided must fall in love, and O'Malley's struggles between his duties and compassion, love re-make Milton Sills from the silent, hating man to a man of tender Dorothy Mackaill is Sills' leading woman in this drama.

Rev. Richard Gibbons, rector of St. Patrick's Catholic church, was the principal speaker. His talk was along the lines of Holy Week and in part he spoke as follows:

"Holy week represents new civilization and newly dawning spiritual power of man's christianity. Christian principles have always been back of all the good in man. That Christ's spiritual kingdom must be in the soul of man to bring out the good in the soul. He said that there were three great principles in christianity which he enumerated as: First, that with spiritual understanding it brought spiritual and material success; second, that the family was the seat of christianity as the family life in the home of Christ which was a model home; third, that christianity has reorganized society. He stated that the sacrifice begun on Christmas day culminated on Good Friday by the crucifixion and that by carrying out the three great virtues, faith ,hope and charity, we bind ourselves to God, love begets service and service is the keynote of Holy Week. We must cast away the sordid things of life and put in better things of life, he asserted. He closed his address by stating: "To live we must die as Christ died on the cross to live again so we must die to live again. We can't have resurrection without calvary, and we can't have that crown without the cross. Christianity calls on man to do heroic things that begets the true Christian character." He closed with a poem by Wadsworth, "A Happy Warrior," who had exemplified all these things.

SPARKS CIRCUS HERE MAY 13

Henry L. Massie, Contracting Agent, Visits City.

Henry L. Massie, one of the contracting agents for Sparks circus, made preliminary arrangements yesterday for the exhibition of the big show here on Thursday, May 13. He is only the van guard of a small army of men who will follow to pave the way for the coming of this famous circus, the largest in the world still giving a street parade. Next will come the advance advertising car with 30 billposters, banner men and lithographers; then will follow the No. 2 brigade with more billposters, and the programmers, and the day before the show the twenty-four hour man will arrive.

Massie, besides contracting for the lot on which the show will exhibit, arranged for all supplies needed by the circus during its 24-hour stay here. These will be furnished by local dealers and as the circus carries 800 people, 500 horses, three herds of elephants and camels, besides hundreds of caged wild animals, it means that quite a large sum is to be spent by the show in the city.

Home of John Adams Was in Somersetshire New Records Disclose

LONDON—Documents recently discovered suggest that the Sulgrave Institute have made a mistake in buying a house in Northamptonshire said to be the ancestral home of John Adams, second president of the United States. It is now thought that President Adams' home was in Somersetshire.

The documents are said to be of great historical value, and to definitely establish the genealogical tree of the Adams family. They were found at Wells cathedral, Somersetshire, and have been investigated by Colonel C. H. Banks, the American genealogist.

According to Colonel Banks, it is now proved that the family of Adams lived in the little parish of Barton David, near Wells, for three generations before their emigration to the United States.

Best On Earth

"I had an ulcer on my ankle—had it 30 years and could not get it healed. For the last six years I had several doctors. I got one box of Peterson's Ointment and it almost healed it and it was entirely healed before I had used the second one. I don't think there is a better remedy on earth." Mrs. J. C.
